

OXFORD

American English File

5

Third Edition

WORKBOOK

Christina Latham-Koenig
Clive Oxenden
Jerry Lambert

American English File⁵

Third Edition

WORKBOOK

Christina Latham-Koenig
Clive Oxenden
Jerry Lambert

Paul Seligson and Clive Oxenden are the original co-authors of English File 1 and English File 2

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

1

4 A Self-portrait

7 B Nice work!

10 Colloquial English 1 Work and family

2

11 A Changing language

14 B Do you remember...?

3

17 A Don't get mad, get even

20 B History in the making

23 Colloquial English 2&3 History

4

24 A Sounds interesting

27 B From cover to cover?

5

30 A One thing at a time

33 B A material world

36 Colloquial English 4&5 Stress and relaxation

6

37 A Change your life!

40 B Can't give it up

7

43 A Quite interesting

46 B A beautiful idea

49 Colloquial English 6&7 Illustration

8

50 A Doctor's orders

53 B Traveler or tourist?

9

56 A Animal planet

59 B How to eat out...and in

62 Colloquial English 8&9 Insects and animals

10

63 A Where do I belong?

66 B A good sport

69 Listening

How to use your Workbook and Online Practice

American English File Third Edition

Student Book

Use your Student Book in class with your teacher.

ACTIVITIES AUDIO VIDEO RESOURCES

ONLINE

Go to americanenglishfileonline.com and use the code on your Access Card to log into the Online Practice.

Workbook

Practice Grammar, Vocabulary, and Pronunciation for every lesson.

Practice Reading and Listening for every lesson.

Practice Colloquial English.

Online Practice

- ← Look again at the Grammar, Vocabulary, and Pronunciation from the Student Book before you do the Workbook exercises.
- Listen to the audio for the Pronunciation and Listening exercises.
- Use the Sound Bank video to practice English sounds.
- Practice Reading, Listening, Speaking, and Writing.
- ← Watch the Colloquial English video before you do the exercises.
- Use the interactive video for more Colloquial English practice.

G have: auxiliary or main verb? V personality P using a dictionary

1 GRAMMAR have: auxiliary or main verb?

a Circle the correct words or phrases. In some sentences two answers are correct.

- Some friends of ours had / had gotten / have had a nasty car accident last night.
- He can't call his wife because he doesn't have / hasn't / hasn't got his cell phone.
- Did you have* / Had you / Have you got a good time at your nephew's wedding?
- Why are you going to be late? Have you / Do you have / Have you got to go to the doctor?
- We had / had gotten / have gotten our TV repaired last week, but it still doesn't work.
- If she had / have / had had a coffee, she wouldn't have fallen asleep in the meeting!
- I didn't have to / hadn't gotten to / hadn't to wear a uniform when I went to school.
- The boss didn't have / hadn't / won't have heard the news yet because he's been on vacation.

b Complete the sentences with the correct form of have. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.

- They couldn't go to the concert because they didn't have tickets.
- Amal doesn't need a company car because she _____ travel for her job.
- This is a great car, Alex. How long _____ you _____ it?
- Let's take a taxi. We _____ time to walk.
- I can't lend you my bike. I _____ it repaired this week.
- Ben doesn't know everyone yet. He _____ working in our office for very long.
- Welcome to the US. _____ you _____ a good flight?
- I'll drive you. What time _____ you _____ to be at the airport?

2 VOCABULARY personality

a Circle the correct word.

- Emily doesn't need any help—she's very conscientious / gentle / self-sufficient.
- I don't like my boss much. He can be very bright / sarcastic / steady.
- She's a really conscientious / spontaneous / sympathetic student, so she attends all her lectures.
- My father is great at household repairs because he's very resourceful / sarcastic / straightforward.
- The doctor was very self-sufficient / spontaneous / thorough and examined the patient carefully.
- I had a terrible day at work, but my husband wasn't very determined / steady / sympathetic.
- My grandmother was a bright / gentle / thorough woman who was kind to everyone.
- My best friend is very determined / resourceful / straightforward; there's nothing complicated about her.

b Complete the verbs in the sentences.

- Ann's very indecisive. She's always changing her mind.
- On the surface, she s_____ not to care, but deep down I'm sure she's terribly upset.
- He's so innocent, he often gets t_____ advantage of.
- She's very spontaneous, but her brother t_____ to plan ahead.
- We agreed to some of their demands, but they still r_____ to compromise.
- I'm not adventurous, so I don't t_____ risks.

c Replace the words in bold with a personality idiom using the word in parentheses.

- My aunt can be kind of impatient, but she has a very kind personality. (heart) a heart of gold
- That customer is really annoying—he's always calling to complain. (neck) _____
- My friend's dad gets angry very easily, so we try to keep out of his way. (short) _____
- Our new neighbor is very reserved and unfriendly. (fish) _____
- My parents are very sensible and practical. They're full of good advice. (earth) _____
- My brother is very easily persuaded. I can get him to do whatever I want. (soft) _____

3 PRONUNCIATION using a dictionary

a Underline the stressed syllable in the words below.

- | | |
|----------------------|-------------------|
| 1 straight for ward | 7 stea dy |
| 2 con sci en tious | 8 re source ful |
| 3 cur i ous | 9 sar ca stic |
| 4 de ter mined | 10 spon ta ne ous |
| 5 gen tle | 11 sym pa the tic |
| 6 self- su ffi cient | 12 thor ough |

b 1.1 Listen and check. Practice saying the words.

4 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

What's your personality?

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.8. Then complete the sentences.

- We followed your directions to the letter, so we didn't get lost.
- Maria got st_____ on a question, so she couldn't finish her homework.
- It's best to put t_____ a list of points for discussion before you hold a meeting.
- The jacket in the window caught my e_____, so I went into the store to try it on.
- It wasn't easy to go a_____ the exhibition because there were so many people.
- I had a g_____ feeling that Ellie wasn't coming to my party.
- A good manager faces problems h_____ on in order to solve them as quickly as possible.
- My roommate always puts o_____ doing the dishes until there aren't any clean plates left.
- I didn't want to hurt my sister's feelings, so I told her a wh_____ lie about her new dress.

5 LISTENING

- a 1.2 Listen to four people comparing having brothers and sisters and being an only child. Do they mention more advantages or disadvantages of having siblings?
- b Listen again. Which speaker mentions these advantages of having brothers and sisters?
- A learning to interact with other children
 - B not being spoiled
 - C not being the sole center of your parents' expectations
 - D being able to share the responsibility of caring for elderly parents
- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.69 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

6 READING

a Read the article once and choose the sentence that best describes Ang Lee.

- 1 He is more content now than he was as a child.
- 2 He is as content now as he was as a child.
- 3 He was more content as a child than he is now.

b Read the text again and choose a, b, c, or d.

- 1 How did Ang Lee regard his father as a child?
 - a He admired him.
 - b He was fond of him.
 - c He felt inferior to him.
 - d He hated him.
- 2 What is Ang Lee's greatest criticism of his father?
 - a He had too many children.
 - b He was too serious.
 - c He forced his children to study art.
 - d He never took them to the movie theater.
- 3 What was Sheng Lee's opinion of his son's choice of career?
 - a He had no faith in Ang's ability to make movies.
 - b He hoped that Ang would be successful.
 - c He regarded it as a respectable profession.
 - d He didn't think it was a proper job.
- 4 What does Ang Lee say about his mother?
 - a She brought up her children well.
 - b She was a soft touch.
 - c She should have been more rebellious.
 - d She stood out from all his friends' mothers.
- 5 Why didn't Ang Lee do very well at school?
 - a Because he wasn't very bright.
 - b Because he never did his homework.
 - c Because he didn't focus on what he had to study.
 - d Because he often skipped school.
- 6 Why were the first years of Ang Lee's marriage difficult?
 - a Because his wife didn't approve of his career choice.
 - b Because he didn't have any paid employment.
 - c Because he had been brought up in a different way from his wife.
 - d Because his children needed special attention.

c Look at the highlighted adjectives. What do you think they mean? Check in your dictionary.

Glossary

headmaster a person in charge of a private school, the principal tiger mother a demanding mother who pushes her children to high levels of achievement

Ang Lee: my family values

The film director on moving out of his father's shadow and being determined to make life fun for his own children.

My late father, Sheng Lee, was a traditional Chinese authority figure. He represented the traditional Chinese patriarchal society. I was always living in his shadow; that was my big thing. I was shy and docile and never rebellious. But he taught me how to survive and how to be useful. He was a very pragmatic man, the headmaster of a high school—I don't know if that was a good or a bad thing.

When I was growing up [as one of four children] he made me study all the time; studying was all that was important to him. He was not much fun and he was kind of disappointed with me in some ways. Artistically, I was very repressed. I never really got to express myself and wasn't exposed to much art other than watching movies once a week.

My father wanted me to have a respectable profession. Teaching was respectable to him. He said, "Get a degree and teach in university." When I wasn't working he would say, "What are you going to do? Are you going to set an example for your kids?" But I just wanted to make movies, so I never fulfilled the hopes he had for me. Even when I was successful, he would say, "Now it's time to do something real."

My mother, Se-Tsung, was very submissive with my father and obedient. I don't have many issues with her: she was a very good mother to me and my siblings. When I was growing up, women didn't matter as much. It was patriarchal, all about the father. Everyone tried to please my father.

As a kid I could not really concentrate on books or homework. I did OK to poorly at school because I would fantasize all the time, having a lot of fun in my head because I didn't have a lot of fun. It took 35 years to release all that energy. I was repressed and then that repression was released when I became a filmmaker.

When I had my own family I was different because I didn't want to do that to my own kids, so I am fun. My wife [Jane Lin, a microbiologist] is the tiger mother in the home, the wise one in the family. I am like the third kid at home. She makes all the rules. We [our two sons, Mason, an actor, and Haan, an artist] obey. Before I got work as a director, my wife worked. I was lucky, my wife provided for the family herself and never asked me to find a job. I was picking up the kids from school and doing the cooking and writing. Most of the time I didn't do anything—there was a lot of anxiety because I couldn't invest in anything apart from filmmaking.

1 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

What I'm really thinking

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.10. Then complete the expressions.

- I wouldn't worry about the interview—it's not a matter of life or death.
- Thanks to years of practice, I was able to h_____ my own on the tennis court.
- If you paid attention, you might be able to k_____ up with the lesson.
- If you think I agree with Carlos, then you've m_____ the point of my argument.
- My mind's gone bl_____. I can't remember my own phone number!
- If you didn't like the results of the project, fair e_____, but you shouldn't have walked out of the meeting.
- It breaks my h_____ when I see pictures of malnourished children on the TV.

2 VOCABULARY work

a Circle the correct word.

- My company offers considerable benefits to the colleagues / co-workers / staff.
- It's so repetitive / challenging / rewarding when you see your students really start to improve.
- My sister's job is very rewarding / demanding / tedious, so she gets very stressed.
- I'm hoping to get hired / promoted / raised to department manager by the end of the year.
- He wants to quit / employ / resign a new assistant to deal with his mail.
- Over 2,000 workers will be fired / downsized / sacked when the car factory closes down.
- Working on a production line can be challenging / motivating / monotonous because you do the same thing all day every day.
- My husband is clocked out / out of work / laid off right now because the company he worked for closed down.
- I'm really jealous of my sister because she gets so many skills / qualifications / perks in her job.
- We're looking to hire / fire / lay off somebody with a positive, can-do attitude.

b Match the words in A to the words in B and complete the sentences below.

A academic apply for career clocking events full job permanent work

B ~~experience~~ hunting job ladder management out a position qualifications time

- The company is offering work experience to students in their final year of school.
- Looking after small children is a _____-_____ job.
- I've spent six months _____-_____, but I'm still out of work.
- She didn't go to college so she doesn't have many _____.
- He's very ambitious, so he's hoping to climb the _____ as quickly as possible.
- If you're good at organizing parties, you could work in _____.
- I'm hoping they'll give me a _____ when I finish my three-month trial period.
- She cleared her desk and locked the drawers before _____.
- I'm going to _____ as a sales assistant at the new shopping mall.

3 GRAMMAR discourse markers (1): linkers a Cross out the linker that is NOT possible in the sentences.

- We set off at dawn ~~owing to~~ / in order to / so as to avoid the rush-hour traffic.
- Laila's mother-in-law was a very difficult woman. ~~However~~ / Nevertheless / Consequently Laila couldn't help liking her.
- ~~In spite of~~ / Even though / Despite being the better player, Ahmet lost the match.
- Sales figures have fallen drastically ~~due to~~ / because / owing to the recession.
- The workers covered the furniture with sheets so as not to / not to / in order not to splash it with paint.
- After his accident, my brother sold his car ~~as~~ / since / due to he couldn't afford the insurance.
- We accept full responsibility for the error and ~~nevertheless~~ / consequently / therefore wish to offer you a full refund.
- I agreed to help ~~although~~ / in case / even though I didn't feel like it.

b Rewrite the sentences using the word(s) in parentheses.

- We have not received payment for your last bill. Consequently, you are being sent a reminder. (since)
You are being sent a reminder since we have not received payment for your last bill.
- She wrote down the appointment so that she wouldn't forget the time. (so as)
She wrote down the appointment _____.
- The road is being resurfaced so it will be closed until further notice. (result)
The road is being resurfaced, and _____.
- The flight is delayed because the incoming plane arrived late. (due)
The flight is delayed _____.
- He decided to apply for the job although he didn't meet all the requirements. (despite)
He decided to apply for the job _____.
- They went to bed early in order to be ready for the exam the next day. (so that) They went to bed early _____.
- She was offered a job even though she wasn't able to go to the interview. (spite)
She was offered the job _____.
- He was unable to attend the conference because he was sick. (owing)
He was unable to attend the conference _____.

4 LEXIS IN CONTEXT Skyscanner

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.13. Then complete the sentences.

- When you live near an airport, the noise of the planes eventually becomes the norm.
- Her sickness was just a pl _____ so she could stay at home.
- Please don't let the fact that I got the promotion over you become an i _____ between us.
- He wanted a job that was tr _____ f _____, so he became a flight attendant.
- I can handle a fairly heavy w _____. I'm used to doing lots of things at once.
- How do we t _____ the problem of unemployment?

5 PRONUNCIATION word stress

a Underline the stressed syllable in the words below.

- | | |
|--------------------|-----------------------|
| 1 re war ding | 7 per ma nent |
| 2 free lance | 8 mo ti va ting |
| 3 tem po rar y | 9 mo no to nous |
| 4 vo lun teer | 10 a ca de mic |
| 5 com pa ssio nate | 11 ma nage ment |
| 6 ma ter ni ty | 12 qua li fi ca tions |

b 1.3 Listen and check. Practice saying the words.

c circle the word with a different sound.

1	 tree	tedious colleague event
2	 bike	quit resign fire
3	 ear	career perks experience
4	 fish	repetitive demanding benefits

d 1.4 Listen and check. Practice saying the words.

6 READING

- a Read the article once. How would the writer answer the question in the title?

"BEST JOB IN THE WORLD": FACT OR FICTION?

Who wouldn't jump at the chance of "working" for six months as the caretaker of an idyllic holiday island off the coast of Queensland, Australia? For Ben Southall, winner of the "Best Job in the World" contest, the prospect seemed like a dream come true. The 34-year-old former charity worker, from Petersfield, UK, beat 34,000 other competitors for the job, which also came with a £2.5 million beachside mansion boasting magnificent ocean views. ¹ _____

Alas, at the end of his posting, Mr. Southall admitted that being a tourist ambassador for paradise was not all plain sailing. In fact, there was very little time for sailing at all—or sunbathing, or simply relaxing and enjoying those fine ocean views.

² _____ "It has been very busy, busier than most people would have imagined, and certainly busier than I had imagined," Mr. Southall told the press, adding that he had been "too busy" to sit back and reflect on it all very much. ³ _____

True, somewhere along the line he did also learn to sail, play golf, and kayak. But even those activities were limited by the need to keep a running web commentary about what he was up to. He posted more than 75,000 words in 60 separate blogs—the equivalent of a small novel—uploaded more than 2,000 photos, and "tweeted more than 730 times," according to Peter Lawlor, Queensland's Tourism Minister.

⁴ _____ Readers of the website complained that the jam-packed itineraries organized by Tourism Queensland left Mr. Southall no time to explore the reef privately and deliver detailed accounts of his experiences. They also said that the blogs were too sanitized and promotional, without any critical or personal angle.

⁵ _____ Nevertheless, in what is perhaps the ultimate proof of his new skills as a PR man, he still insists he enjoyed himself thoroughly. And his demanding taskmasters at Tourism Queensland are also pleased, so much so that they have offered him a new 18-month, six-figure contract to promote their state worldwide.

In his spare time, if he gets any, he will also start on a book about his experiences over the last six months. Whether it will prove a best-selling beachside read is another matter.

- b Five sentences and paragraphs have been removed from the article. Read it again and match A–F to the blanks 1–5. There is one sentence or paragraph you do not need to use.

- A Indeed, in the view of his online audience, he spent so much time blogging about having a good time that he didn't really have much of a time at all.
- B Instead, he found himself working seven days a week, slave to a grueling schedule of promotional events, press conferences, and administration.
- C Soon after he started, Ben had a brush with death after being stung by a jellyfish. The incident did not deter him, however, and he got on with his job.
- D Either way, Mr. Southall admits that he is now tired out—and in need of a holiday. "It was a job that needed 18 to 19 hours' work every day," he said. "Not just the interviews and the social side of it, but also blogging and uploading pictures—it's very time consuming."
- E Other perks in the contest included a £74,000 salary, a private pool, and a courtesy golf buggy.
- F A snapshot of just how demanding the Best Job in the World could be is provided by Tourism Queensland's official report on Mr. Southall's posting. It announced that he had visited 90 "exotic locations," made 47 video diaries, and given more than 250 media interviews.

- c Look at the highlighted idioms and match them to the definitions.

- 1 very full _____
- 2 at some point during an activity _____
- 3 simple and free from trouble _____
- 4 was doing _____
- 5 is very different _____
- 6 accept an opportunity with enthusiasm _____

7 LISTENING

- a 1.5 Listen to a man talking about a kind of job he would love to do and one he would hate. What are the jobs?

- b Listen again. Answer the questions.

- 1 Why does the man think he would be good at the first job?
- 2 What does he think might be the downside?
- 3 Why does he think he would hate the second job?
- 4 Has he done this kind of work? If so, did he like it?

- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.69 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

1

Colloquial English Work and family

1 LOOKING AT LANGUAGE

discourse markers

Complete the sentences with a discourse marker from the list.

anyway	apparently	as to	basically
I mean	in a way	of course	really

- My sister gets lonely in the evenings. Of course her husband's around, but he's always falling asleep in front of the TV.
- I can't remember much about my childhood. _____, I spent most of the time running around with the other kids in my neighborhood. That's what my mom tells me, anyway.
- My nephew's such a sweet boy. But _____ what he wants to do in the future, he doesn't have a clue.
- We've had a great vacation but _____, I'm glad to be going home. I've missed the cat!
- If I have to take my daughter to work, I _____ do the same as I would on a normal day.
- That woman isn't _____ her mother; she's her stepmother.
- I'm hoping to move out soon. _____, I love my parents, but I'd like a place of my own.
- I'm not going to apply for that job. It's too far away and _____, the pay is too low.

2 READING

- a Read the article. Five sentences have been removed from it. Match the sentences A–F to the blanks 1–5. There is one sentence you do not need to use.

- A This gives them the chance to learn from each others' experiences, and also to reflect more profoundly on their own.
- B The idea is that all daughters and sons should be able to participate.
- C Each year, a theme is chosen for the event, and a new logo is designed for the T-shirts worn by participants.
- D The success of the event is reflected in the well over twenty years in which it has been running.
- E After that, they should spend the rest of the day shadowing their mother or father in all that they do.
- F Too often, this led to them dropping out of school early.

- b Underline five words or phrases you don't know. Use your dictionary to look up their meaning and pronunciation.

Take Our Daughters and Sons to Work Day

Many parents would probably agree that work and family life are not always easy to balance. Not so the 37 million US employees who take part each year in the Take Our Daughters and Sons to Work Day. On this day, the fourth Thursday in April, parents in over 3.5 million companies take their children into work to give them a taste of just what it is their parents do all day long.

¹ Today, it is now regarded as a kind of national institution.

The program has not always catered for both boys and girls. It was originally conceived in 1993 by the non-profit organization Ms. Foundation for Women as the Take Our Daughters to Work Day. In the early 1990s, research had revealed that schoolgirls were often lacking the confidence they needed to succeed. ² It was hoped that the event would show them the importance of finishing their education and what they could achieve if they did so. By 2003, it had become apparent that boys were suffering a similar lack of self-esteem, and so they were also incorporated into the program, which changed its name accordingly.

The Take Our Daughters and Sons to Work Day takes place on a school day, because it is a valuable educational experience. In class the next day, students are expected to share news from their day at the office with their classmates. ³ Older students taking part in the program, aimed primarily at eight- to 18-year-olds, can get a good idea of the attitude and behavior common to the workplace, which helps prepare them for any part-time jobs they might do in the future.

Parents are encouraged to enhance their child's experience by preparing carefully for the day beforehand. The organizers recommend discussing the day before and after the child is brought to work so that they get as much as possible out of their visit. According to employees who have already taken part in the program, children should be introduced to their parent's colleagues to get an insight into how the team works. ⁴ In some cases, companies plan special activities, which make the day more interactive and memorable for the children, and give parents a chance to catch up on any urgent work alone.

It is not only the children of employees that the program is aimed at, hence its name: Take Our Daughters and Sons to Work. ⁵ This means that workers may invite the children of friends, relatives, neighbors, or even children from residential homes to accompany them. The main aim is to expose as many schoolchildren as possible to the world of work in the hope that it will give them a goal in life to work towards and help them land their dream job.

1 LEXIS IN CONTEXT Spell it out

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.16. Then complete the sentences.

- 1 Today there is no stigma attached to speaking with a regional accent.
- 2 Even today, languages are more fl _____ than we suppose.
- 3 Loanwords have played as big a p _____ in English as they have in other European languages.
- 4 Students are sometimes bewildered by the r _____ nature of irregular verbs.
- 5 Most nationalities have an authority they look to for g _____ on correct grammar.

2 PRONUNCIATION

sound-spelling relationships

- a Say the words aloud. Write S if the bold letters are pronounced the same or D if the pronunciation is different.

1	 snake	sympathetic synonym S
2	 bike	despite since D
3	 saw	thaw jaw _____
4	 bird	birth firm _____
5	 witch	whirl whose _____
6	 jazz	jealous journalist _____
7	 house	dishonest inherit _____
8	 chess	chime chorus _____
9	 bird	worm worth _____
10	 phone	lower power _____

- b  2.1 Listen and check. Practice saying the words.

3 GRAMMAR pronouns

- a Right (✓) or wrong (X)? Correct the mistakes in the highlighted phrases.

- 1 One need to listen to both sides of the story in order to find out the truth.
X One needs to listen
- 2 Two of my friends aren't talking to themselves because they've had a big argument. _____
- 3 As soon as he woke up, Brad washed and dressed and left the house. _____
- 4 The receptionist accompanied us to the meeting room and said we should help us to tea and coffee. _____
- 5 When a guest leaves his room, we recommend locking the door. _____
- 6 I much prefer traveling by my own. _____
- 7 She felt dizzy when she looked out of the window and saw the land so far below herself. _____
- 8 This is a delicious cake. Did you make it yourself? _____

- b Complete the mini-dialogues with a suitable pronoun.

- 1 A Who hasn't handed in their homework?
B Me. Sorry. Here it is.
- 2 A What a gorgeous dress! Where did you get it?
B Well, actually, I made it _____.
- 3 A Why isn't Judy with Pete tonight?
B They're not going out with _____ anymore.
- 4 A I think CD players are completely out of date.
B Yes. _____ doesn't see many of them these days.
- 5 A I just got promoted!
B Congratulations! You must be really proud of _____!
- 6 A Why don't you join the army?
B I don't know. _____ say it's really tough.
- 7 A Who's Grace traveling around South America with?
B No one. She's traveling by _____.
- 8 A People say _____ shouldn't sit next to an open window.
B That's silly. There's nothing wrong with fresh air.

c Complete the text with it or there.

1 It takes me a long time to get to work, although 2 there's only a few miles from my house to the office. 3 there isn't too much traffic on the roads when I leave home, but 4 it's impossible to park by the time I reach the city. 5 there are always lots of cars driving around looking for a space and these days 6 there are parking meters, so you have to pay.
 7 it used to be a company bus, but they stopped it because 8 there were only a few of us that used it. 9 it's all right for those people with a motorcycle, but 10 it's really tedious for us car drivers!

4 VOCABULARY learning languages

a Circle the correct word(s).

- 1 You have to say / say / talk / talk a number of languages to be a flight attendant.
- 2 The speaker went too fast, so it was impossible to pass for / pick up / take in all the information.
- 3 Bear in mind that children don't always say / talk / tell the truth.
- 4 Did you manage to brush up / get by / pick up any Korean while you were in Seoul?
- 5 Sorry, I didn't get that. Can you say / speak / tell it again, please?
- 6 How will you pick up / get by / pass for in Kyoto if you don't speak any Japanese?
- 7 He wants to take a few days off, so he needs to say / talk / tell to his boss.
- 8 She needs to brush up / pick up / take in on her French before she starts her new job in Paris.

b Replace the bold words in sentences 1–5 with a more formal word or expression.

- 1 Students will be tested on vocabulary and grammar in this part of the test. lexis
- 2 Candidates are asked to turn off their cell phones before the exam. requested
- 3 A serious mistake has been found in the manuscript. error

- 4 This is an automatically generated email. Please do not attempt to answer it. reply
- 5 Children brought up in a bilingual environment may have more than one native language. languages

c Complete the sentences with an idiom containing the word in brackets.

- 1 She told me her name, but I can't get my tongue around it. (tongue)
- 2 My sister always lets you know what she's really thinking. You can always depend on her to read my mind. (mind)
- 3 Wait, give me a minute. Oh, it's on the tip of my tongue, but I just can't think of the word! (tip)
- 4 I didn't mean that at all – I think we're talking at cross purposes. (cross)
- 5 This instruction manual is so confusing. I can't get my head round it. (head)

5 READING

- a Read the article once. Which three features of a language may cause it to affect our personality?
- b Read the text again and match the missing sentences A–H to the blanks 1–6. There are two sentences you do not need to use.

- A French has an unusually large vocabulary, allowing the speaker to find extremely precise words with specific meanings.
- B In Russian, however, the emphasis is on the shape, not the material, so all of these would merely be "little glasses" or "stakanchiki."
- C Speaking it will force you to think longer and harder, and you may feel like you played a five-set tennis match after a conversation.
- D And yet, his personality seemed to vary.
- E After the first ad, they referred to her with positive words, such as "self-sufficient" and "strong," suggesting that they looked up to her.
- F A comparative analysis between languages shows that languages may well rewire our minds.
- G He and his mentor, Edward Sapir, compared this with English and noticed how the two languages had a completely different system for forming words.
- H He claims that it is thoughts that lead to language, and not the other way round.

c Look at the highlighted words and match them to a neutral equivalent.

- | | | | |
|--------------|-------|------------|-------|
| 1 insulting | _____ | 5 decide | _____ |
| 2 figure out | _____ | 6 spoke to | _____ |
| 3 agree | _____ | 7 showing | _____ |
| 4 against | _____ | | |

New

new personality?

When Jacques was 12 years old, his mother began speaking to him only in French, his father addressed him only in Greek, and he was sent to an English-speaking day school in Paris. Of course, the child was the same person no matter which of the three languages he was using. ¹ "I felt probably ruder and more aggressive in Greek, clear and concise in French, and creative and long-winded in English," he said.

Jacques' experience of languages seems to concur with a theory developed back in 1931 in the linguistics department of Yale University. A student by the name of Benjamin Whorf was carrying out some research into the Algonquian language, Shawnee, which was spoken by only 200 people at the time. ² Their findings led them to develop the "Sapir-Whorf hypothesis" which claims that the language we speak shapes our experience of the world.

But how is it possible for a language to determine our understanding of the world and therefore affect our personality? The answer may lie in the way that different languages are constructed. In Greek, for example, the verb usually comes first, its conjugation revealing the tone and meaning of the rest of the sentence, making it easier for the listener to interrupt. ³ And in English, words tend to be more adaptable and easier to rhyme.

Yet construction of a language is not the only determining factor. A study at Baruch College, New York, suggests that culture may also play a part. Researchers showed a group of bilingual Hispanic-American women the same commercial about a woman doing housework, first in Spanish and then in English. ⁴ But when the women watched the English version, they used the derogatory terms "traditional" and "dependent." Despite the striking contrast between the adjectives, it is not clear whether it was the language itself that influenced the volunteers' choices or the cultural habits associated with that language.

A third determining factor may be the way in which objects are classified in a language. Let's take Russian as an example. A Russian speaker learning English would associate "glass" and "cup" with their translations, "stakan" and "chashka." Yet, in English we call all sorts of things "cups": coffee to-go cups, Styrofoam™ cups, plastic cups, paper cups. ⁵ Therefore, in order for the Russian speaker to correctly learn English (or vice versa), he must pay attention to not just direct translations but also to categorizations, in this case shape versus material.

Although there seems to be a great deal of evidence supporting the argument that language influences personality, there are obviously those who do not agree. One of the greatest opponents is Stephen Pinker of Harvard University. ⁶ Consequently, he believes that as long as we can think about something, then we can formulate a way to say it. And so the debate rages on. But as Jacques himself points out: it makes a big difference which language to choose when it comes to discussing a subject like economics!

6 LISTENING

- a You're going to listen to two people talking about their experiences of being non-native speakers of English. Before you listen, check the meaning of the words in the glossary.

Glossary

RP the abbreviation for "received pronunciation" (the standard form of British pronunciation, based on educated speech in southern England)

Glasgow a large city in Scotland

University of Michigan a university in the mid-west of the USA

The Simpsons a very well-known US cartoon series

- b 2.2 Listen once. What four questions do they answer?

- 1 _____
- 2 _____
- 3 _____
- 4 _____

- c Listen again and mark the sentences W (woman), M (man), or B (both).

- 1 They were able to understand non-native speakers better because of traveling for work. ____
 - 2 They feel comfortable about being corrected. ____
 - 3 They find it interesting that some English words can have more than one accepted spelling. ____
 - 4 They notice a gap in their knowledge of English because they were born elsewhere. ____
 - 5 They could have had an awkward conversation, but, thankfully, it never occurred. ____
 - 6 They need to increase their vocabulary for daily conversations. ____
- d Listen again with the audioscript on p.69 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

G the past: habitual events and specific incidents

V word building: abstract nouns

P word stress with suffixes

1 LEXIS IN CONTEXT Boy

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.20. Then complete the words.

- When I was little, I used to grab my mother's hand if we saw a big dog in the street.
- At lunchtime, everybody would go r_____ to the cafeteria to be first in line.
- Dinner would be b_____ a_____ in a pot on the stove when we used to get home from school.
- "Good game," my father said, as he sl_____ me on the back for scoring the winning goal.
- My mother was always c_____ different kinds of soup out of whatever she could find in the refrigerator.
- I can still p_____ the first teacher I ever had – she seemed ancient to me, but she was extremely kind.
- When the bell rang, we would all l_____ from our seats before the teacher could assign any homework.

2 GRAMMAR the past: habitual events and specific incidents

- a Right (✓) or wrong (X)? Correct any mistakes in the highlighted phrases.

- As a child, Tom was always knocking off my glasses when my parents weren't looking. ✓
- My brother climbed a tree when he slipped and fell. X was climbing
- My mom had been forgetting to turn off the oven, so there was a terrible smell of gas in the kitchen.
- Most days we rode our bikes to school, but sometimes we were catching the bus.
- One day, our car used to break down in the passing lane of the freeway.

- When we were kids, our dad would pack lunch for us and send us out to play for the day.
- Emily's grandparents would live in an old farmhouse about 40 minutes from the nearest town.
- I'd hidden in the bushes for over an hour before I realized that everyone else had gone home.
- When we got home from school that evening, our parents still worked.
- I burst into tears when I saw what my brother had done to my favorite doll.

- b Complete the text with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Use a narrative tense or would / used to.

When I ¹ was (be) little, I ² _____ (share) a bedroom with my sister Catherine. As I was eight years her junior, I obviously ³ _____ (go) to bed earlier than her. As soon as I ⁴ _____ (brush) my teeth, my mom ⁵ _____ (lie) on my sister's bed and sing me nursery rhymes until I ⁶ _____ (fall) asleep.

One night when my mom ⁷ _____ (sing) for about five minutes, she suddenly ⁸ _____ (stop) and ⁹ _____ (stand) up. I ¹⁰ _____ (look) over at her and saw that she ¹¹ _____ (stare) at something on the wall above my head. Without raising her voice, she ¹² _____ (tell) me to go downstairs where my dad ¹³ _____ (watch) TV. Later she told me she ¹⁴ _____ (see) a big, hairy spider climb out of the air vent and make its way up the wall. I ¹⁵ _____ (not sleep) much that night, as you can imagine!

3 VOCABULARY

word building: abstract nouns

a Complete the sentences with the abstract nouns of the bold words.

- 1 When my aunt lost her husband, she was driven to despair. She never got over her loss.
- 2 I'm afraid of flying. I've never been abroad because of my _____ of crashing.
- 3 My dad's health has improved a lot. We've noticed a great _____.
- 4 We hated our physics teacher with a vengeance. I'm fairly sure our _____ was returned as well.
- 5 The dead statesman was buried immediately. The whole country mourned his _____.
- 6 For medicine to work, you have to believe in it. It is often this _____ that makes you well again.
- 7 Rosie was so ashamed of her behavior that her face burned with _____.

b Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in parentheses.

- 1 I am truly grateful to my cousin for her friendship during these difficult times. (friend)
- 2 In some societies, the _____ of the older generation must never be questioned. (wise)
- 3 Despite a very traumatic _____, Adam grew up to be quite a sensible young man. (child)
- 4 Nadia tried to hide the _____ in her eyes as she left the house forever. (sad)
- 5 We had a big family _____ for my dad's 80th birthday. (celebrate)
- 6 I remembered to renew my _____ at the golf club before the tournament started. (member)
- 7 My grandmother will be staying in a nursing home until she has fully recovered from her _____. (sick)
- 8 We dread our history lectures because every week we nearly die of _____. (bored)

4 PRONUNCIATION

word stress with suffixes

a Look at the word pairs. Circle the abstract nouns where the stress is different.

- 1 compete competition
- 2 neighbor neighborhood
- 3 partner partnership
- 4 happy happiness
- 5 celebrate celebration
- 6 relation relationship
- 7 imagine imagination
- 8 believe belief
- 9 curious curiosity

b 2.3 Listen and check. Practice saying the words.

5 LISTENING

a 2.4 Listen to five people talking about their earliest memories. Which speaker doubts whether they can actually remember experiencing the incident?

b Listen again and answer the questions with speakers 1–5. Use each speaker twice. Who talks about...?

- A a significant day in many people's lives
- B an everyday occurrence
- C a moment just before or after a flight
- D some dramatic weather
- E finding something beautiful
- F something that others may find boring
- G receiving advice from a parent
- H seeing a photo of themselves
- I damage to a property
- J feeling anxious on this day

c Listen again with the audioscript on p.70 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

6 READING

- a Read the article once. What year do childhood memories need to survive until to stand a chance of making it into adulthood?

When childhood memories fade

Most adults struggle to recall events from their first few years of life and now scientists have identified exactly when these childhood memories are lost forever. A new study into childhood amnesia – the phenomenon where early memories are forgotten – has found that it tends to take effect around the age of seven.

The researchers found that while most three year olds can recall a lot of what happened to them over a year earlier, these memories can persist while they are five and six, by the time they are over seven these memories decline rapidly.

The psychologists behind the research say this is because at around this age the way we form memories begins to change. Before the age of seven, children tend to have an immature form of recall where they do not have a sense of time or place in their memories. In older children, however, the early events they can recall tend to be more adult-like in their content and the way they are formed. Children also have a far faster rate of forgetting than adults and so the turnover of memories tends to be higher, meaning early memories are less likely to survive.

Professor Patricia Bauer, a psychologist and associate dean for research at Emory College of Art and Science, studied 83 children over several years for the research, which was published in the scientific journal Memory. The youngsters first visited the laboratory at the age of three years old and discussed six unique events from their past, such as family outings, camping holidays, trips to the zoo, first day of school and birthdays. The children then

- b Read the article again and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).

- 1 At the age of five or six, children tend to still remember events that happened when they were two.
- 2 From the age of seven, early memories don't feature key details like location.
- 3 Children recalled six different life events at their later sessions with the psychologist.
- 4 The events discussed with the psychologist included day-to-day school life and the context of lessons.
- 5 By the age of eight or nine, children could only recall approximately a third of their early memories.
- 6 The researchers found out that the kind of details that stayed in the mind didn't alter much over the years.

- c Look at the highlighted verbs and try to figure out their meaning. Check in your dictionary.

returned for a second session at the ages between five years old and nine years old to discuss the same events and were asked to recall details they had previously remembered.

The researchers found that between the ages of five and seven, the amount of memories the children could recall remained between 63 and 72 percent. However, the amount of information the children who were eight and nine years old could remember dropped dramatically to 35 and 36 percent.

When the researchers looked closely at the kind of details the children were and were not able to remember, they found marked age differences. The memories of the younger children tended to lack autobiographical narrative such as place and time. Their memories also had less narrative, which researchers believe may lead to a process known as "retrieval induced forgetting" – where the action of remembering causes other information to be forgotten. As the children got older, however, the memories they recalled from early childhood tended to have these features.

Professor Bauer said, "The fact that the younger children had less complete narratives relative to the older children, likely has consequences for the continued accessibility of early memories beyond the first decade of life. We anticipate that memories that survive into the ninth or tenth year of life, when narrative skills are more developed, would continue to be accessible over time."

1 PRONUNCIATION

words and phrases of French origin a 3.1 Listen and write the French words.

- 1 /kli'ʃeɪ/ cliché
 2 /'rændərvu/ _____
 3 /,fou 'pɑ/ _____
 4 /,deɪʒɑ 'vu/ _____
 5 /,ɑntrəprə'næt/ _____
 6 /bæ'leɪ/ _____
 7 /bu'keɪ/ _____
 8 /,fiɑn'seɪ/ _____
 9 /ku/ _____
 10 /,feɪt ə'kɑm'pli/ _____

b Practice saying the words in a.

2 VOCABULARY phrases with get a Match the sentence halves.

- 1 I'm going to get i
 2 I'll call you back as soon as I get
 3 I wanted to get
 4 I can't get past. Can you get 5 When I went out, I got
 6 The heater isn't working. Can you get 7 Max hit Stevie, but Stevie got 8 My colleagues didn't trust me until they got 9 When I met up with my boss, I got

- a back at Max by kicking him.
 b ahold of someone to fix it?
 c to know me better.
 d out of the way, please?
 e rid of my parents before my brother arrived.
 f the chance.
 g a shock because my car wasn't in the driveway.
 h the impression she was angry with me.
 i into trouble if I'm late again.

b Complete the idioms with these words.

act anywhere house life message ~~nerves~~ on way

- 1 My sister gets on my nerves. She's always borrowing my clothes without asking me.
 2 I bought my brother an electric shaver in the hope that he'll get the _____ about his beard.
 3 Laura's parents don't know how to say no. She always gets her own _____.
 4 I'm not getting _____ with this essay. I don't know where to start.
 5 My roommate needs to get a _____. He doesn't have any friends and he never goes out.
 6 My dad is getting _____ in age now. He's almost 80.
 7 Luckily, my mom and my classmate have gotten along like a _____ on fire since they first met.
 8 I really need to get my _____ together if I'm going to catch the plane. I haven't packed yet!

c Complete the sentences with the missing particle.

- 1 At last, my sister has gotten over her student and she's started going out again.
 2 It's a tiny island so you can use bikes to get _____.
 3 We got _____ with not doing the homework because the teacher forgot to collect it!
 4 They've gotten really _____ with the project so they'll have to work late until they finish it.
 5 Ryan is trying to get _____ of going on vacation with his in-laws by saying he has too much work.
 6 My grandma has stopped watching all the bad news on TV because she says it gets her _____.
 7 Stop watching YouTube videos and get _____ with your homework!
 8 I've tried to explain to my friend how I feel, but I can't get _____ to her.
 9 I can't get _____ on what I earn, so I'm looking for another job.
 10 I got _____ to my friend as soon as I read her text message.

3 LEXIS IN CONTEXT Blind Date

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.28. Then complete the sentences.

- 1 You may as well be honest instead of dressing up the truth.
- 2 You can't r_____ o_____ the possibility that he may be seeing somebody else.
- 3 Pete's sister has such a lovely smile that she can w_____ anybody o_____.
- 4 Thanks for the apology, but who's going to f_____ the b_____ for the damage?
- 5 I only have ten minutes, so let's make this sh_____ and sw_____.
- 6 I'm going to the party because I don't want to m_____ o_____ on all the fun.
- 7 My husband is good at making promises, but he finds it hard to f_____ th_____ on them.
- 8 I can't m_____ u_____ my m_____ if I want to see him again.

4 GRAMMAR get

Rewrite the bold phrases using the correct form of get.

- 1 We arrived at the theater too late to see the show.
got to the theater
- 2 Can you persuade Paul to look at my computer?

- 3 I'll never become accustomed to getting up at 5:30 in the morning.

- 4 The afternoon shadows lengthened as the sun went down.

- 5 We're having our kitchen repainted next month.

- 6 I can't make the kids eat their dinner.

- 7 I hope I'm not sent to Chicago – I want to stay in Los Angeles.

- 8 Public transportation in my town is improving.

- 9 They fired my boss for stealing money.

- 10 Could you possibly ask Mike to pick me up?

5 LISTENING

- a 3.2 Listen to five speakers talking about memorable dates. Which speakers had successful dates? Which dates were unsuccessful?
- b Listen again and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).
 - 1 Speaker 1 agreed to the date right away.
 - 2 Speaker 1 went out with someone who was desperately in love with her.
 - 3 Speaker 2 was the victim of an accident during their memorable date.
 - 4 The incident on Speaker 2's date ruined the relationship.
 - 5 Speaker 3 enjoyed herself tremendously.
 - 6 Speaker 3 decided it was best not to meet up again.
 - 7 Speaker 4 organized the date spontaneously.
 - 8 Speaker 4 and their partner often joke about their date.
 - 9 Speaker 5 didn't have the same sense of humor as the person she went out with.
 - 10 Speaker 5 was upset not to get a marriage proposal.
- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.71 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

6 READING

- a Read the article once. Which act of revenge caused the most damage?
- b Read the article again and match the headings A–H with the stories 1–6. There are two headings you do not need to use.
 - A That's what friends are for
 - B Dedicated to the profession
 - C Welcome home
 - D Kiss and tell
 - E Clean plate
 - F Total shutdown
 - G Silent witnesses
 - H His pride and joy
- c Look at the highlighted phrasal verbs and idioms. What do you think they mean? Check in your dictionary.

Glossary

pint a unit for measuring liquids. 1 pint = 0.568 liters maggot a creature like a short worm that is the young form of a fly

Revenge is sweet

According to writer Claire Gillman, getting even is becoming increasingly popular as life gets more stressful. In her book Revenge is Sweet Claire reveals that men are much more vengeful, except over romantic matters, when it is women who are most likely to take revenge. Here are some of her favorite tales from the book.

1 _____

The wife of a radio DJ saw red when she heard her husband flirting with a glamorous model on the air. She immediately posted an ad for his $50,000 Lotus Esprit Turbo sports car on eBay for 25 cents and sold the car within five minutes. Later, she told journalists that she didn't care about the money. "I just wanted to get even," she admitted.

2 _____

After a long-running dispute between neighbors, one of the families went on vacation for two weeks in the summer. The other neighbor took advantage of their absence to put two pints of maggots through the neighbor's letter slot on the front door. The family returned to a house full of flies.

3 _____

An 80-year-old woman was in front of a judge, charged with shoplifting. The judge asked her what she had stolen. "A can of peaches," replied the woman. "How many peaches were in the can?" asked the judge. She replied that there were six. "Then I'll give you six days in jail," said the judge. Before he had time to continue, the woman's husband added, "She also stole a can of peas."

4 _____

Rude customers tend to drive staff in restaurants crazy. One chef confessed that after a customer had demanded that the sauce be removed from his burger, she licked the sauce off it and then sent it back to the customer with the waiter.

5 _____

A computer technician was angered when his temporary position was terminated so he deliberately brought down five of eight network servers. All the data in the servers was deleted and none was recoverable. As a result, the company was forced to shut its New York office for two days and sustained losses of more than $100,000.

6 _____

A doctor was called out at 2 a.m. one night to visit a patient who lived on the outskirts of town. When he arrived, he discovered that it was not, in fact, an emergency, and the patient could easily have waited until the next day to visit him in his office. Imagine the patient's surprise when the doctor dropped by in the early hours of the following morning to check if he was OK!

1 VOCABULARY conflict and warfare a Complete the crossword.

Clues across →

Clues down ↓

Crossword grid:

Across 2: C A N N O N

Across 4: [] [] [] [] [] [] [] []

Across 5: [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] []

Across 6: [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] []

Down 1: [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] []

Down 3: [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] []

Down 5: [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] []

b Circle the correct word.

- During the coup, the military tried to overthrow / release the government.
- There were very few casualties / wounded from the fighting – only two people were killed.
- The country declared / broke out war on its neighbor because there were troops on the border.
- The city was blown up / shelled all night.
- The two armies agreed to a treaty / ceasefire to give them a chance to tend to the wounded.
- The troops saw they could not win so they held up a white flag indicating that they wanted to capture / surrender.
- The government forces retreated / defeated the rebels during the night.
- During the siege, civilians were shot at by isolated snipers / troops hiding in the hills.
- Soldiers looted / executed stores in their search for food.
- The new ally / commander of the armed forces will be meeting the president later today.

2 PRONUNCIATION stress in word families a Underline the stressed syllable in the following words.

- | | | |
|----------------------|----------------|----------------|
| 1 ca sualties | 5 co mm an der | 9 cap ture |
| 2 ci vil | 6 cease fire | 10 re treat |
| 3 re fu gee | 7 vic to ry | 11 ex e cute |
| 4 sur vi vor | 8 re lease | 12 su rren der |

b 3.3 Listen and check. Practice saying the words.

c Circle the word with a different sound.

1	 bike	ally sniper shield
2	 boot	troops bullet wounded
3	 tree	besiege treaty weapon
4	 horse	war sword declare

d 3.4 Listen and check. Practice saying the words.

3 GRAMMAR discourse markers (2): adverbs and adverbial expressions a Complete the mini-dialogues with a discourse marker.

- 1 A Do you have your tickets for the concert yet?
B Yes, I have. Speaking of the concert, have you heard their new album yet?
- 2 A How did your interview go?
B It was great! In other w_____, I got the job!
- 3 A Could you tell us where we'll be eating?
B As far as meals are c_____, breakfast will be provided by the hotel.
- 4 A Are you going to Jay's party on Saturday?
B No, I'm not. As a m_____ of fact, I haven't been invited.
- 5 A So, let's decide. The beach or the mountains?
B On the wh_____ I'd rather go to the beach, so that we can swim.
- 6 A Thanks for filling me in on what I missed.
B No problem. By the w_____, there's another meeting on Wednesday. Did you know?
- 7 A Can we inform our families of our destination?
B No. This is top secret. That is to s_____, you are not to reveal your whereabouts to anyone.
- 8 A Did you buy anything while you were in town?
B No, I didn't take any money with me. In any c_____, there wasn't anything I liked.
- 9 A How does it feel to be famous at last?
B The attention is incredible. On the other h_____, I miss my privacy.
- 10 A We're going to my parents' house for dinner on Saturday.
B OK. At l_____ we won't have to cook.

b Circle the correct discourse marker.

- 1 In conclusion / As far as, I think the company should invest in new machinery to update the factory.
- 2 Basically / At least, Sam and Ella don't have much money because they're both unemployed.
- 3 Ask your boss if you can take the day off. In other words / I mean, he can't say no.
- 4 I don't feel like cooking tonight. On the whole / Besides, there's nothing in the refrigerator.
- 5 Obviously / Regarding, I'm going to study math because I really enjoy it!
- 6 I've read all the applications and by the way / all in all, I think Adam is the best person for the job.
- 7 You might want to dress up for dinner. After all / To sum up, everyone will be wearing a suit.
- 8 As I was saying / Talking of before I got cut off, we need to make a decision.
- 9 To sum up / As regards, we recommend accepting the pay deal in case management decides to withdraw the offer.
- 10 You'll need a jacket. That is / Otherwise you might get cold.

4 LISTENING

a 3.5 Try to match the historical movies 1–5 with the periods in which they are set a–e. Then listen to five speakers talking about the movies and check your answers.

- | | |
|---------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 Apollo 13 | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 2 Argo | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 3 The Last Emperor | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 4 Invictus | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 5 Agora | <input type="checkbox"/> |

- a early 20th century China
- b US, early 1970s
- c Roman Empire
- d 1979–81 Iran hostage crisis
- e late 20th century South Africa

b Listen again and match the speakers 1–5 to the reasons why these movies are the speakers' favorites A–G. There are two reasons that you do not need.

- | | | |
|-----------|--------------------------|----------------------|
| Speaker 1 | <input type="checkbox"/> | A the acting |
| Speaker 2 | <input type="checkbox"/> | B the director |
| | | C the plot |
| Speaker 3 | <input type="checkbox"/> | D the main character |
| Speaker 4 | <input type="checkbox"/> | E the costumes |
| | | F the ending |
| Speaker 5 | <input type="checkbox"/> | G the photography |

c Listen again with the audioscript on p.71 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

5 READING

a Match the opponents a–e to the battles 1–5, then read the article once to check your answers.

- 1 The Battle of Plataea
- 2 The Battle of Waterloo
- 3 The Battle of Cannae
- 4 The Battle of Thermopylae
- 5 The Battle of Gettysburg

- a Carthage versus Rome
- b Greece versus Persia
- c The Union versus the Confederacy
- d France versus Britain and Prussia
- e Sparta versus Persia

b Read the article again and choose the correct answer from the battles A–E. The battles may be chosen more than once.

In which battle...?

- 1 did reinforcements arrive once the battle had started D
- 2 was one of the armies tiny
- 3 was one of the armies more confident than the other
- 4 did both sides lose almost the same number of soldiers
- 5 did the army catch their enemy by surprise
- 6 did the losing army contain three times as many soldiers as the victors
- 7 was one side defeated through treachery
- 8 had one army previously had to make a perilous journey
- 9 did the commanders' mistakes contribute to their defeat
- 10 did a group of soldiers attack a certain part of the other army c Look at the highlighted words and phrases and match them to the definitions below.

- 1 bad luck noun _____
- 2 rushed forward and attacked verb _____
- 3 strongly influencing the way something develops verb _____
- 4 killed a large number of people violently verb _____
- 5 showing no kindness or pity adverb _____
- 6 the amount of confidence and enthusiasm a person has at a particular time noun _____
- 7 a narrow route through mountains noun _____
- 8 of great importance because other things depend on it adjective _____

Five important battles from history

Every age of human history has experienced battles that have been instrumental in molding the future. Below are five of the bloodiest and most pivotal battles ever fought.

A The Battle of Plataea (479 BCE)

This battle occurred during the Greco-Persian Wars. An army of 40,000 Greek soldiers, of which 10,000 were Spartans, faced the invading force of Persia with 120,000 men. Although outnumbered, the Spartans and Athenians were more tactical, heavily armed and had higher morale. The Persian army had just suffered a previous defeat and some inner conflicts and divisions. The Greeks slaughtered the Persians at Plataea and succeeded in driving them out of Greece.

B The Battle of Waterloo (June 18, 1815)

This battle was fought between the French army, led by Napoleon Bonaparte, and the British and Prussian forces led by Wellington and von Blucher respectively. Napoleon took the initiative during the early part of the battle, but things began to go awry later in the day when the army suffered the effects of bad weather, blunders by some of the generals, ill fate, and the timely arrival of the Prussian forces (50,000 men). After suffering heavy casualties, Napoleon was forced to leave Waterloo and surrender.

C The Battle of Cannae (August 2, 216 BCE)

This battle is regarded as one of the greatest tactical military achievements in war history. The Carthaginian commander Hannibal Barca led a massive troop of soldiers, accompanied by hundreds, or possibly thousands, of war elephants, across the mountainous Alps. He took a backdoor entrance into northern Italy and slaughtered the Romans at Cannae, killing 70,000 of the 87,000 soldiers in the Roman army.

D The Battle of Thermopylae (480 BCE)

This battle occurred on the eve of the Greco-Persian wars when King Leonidas of Sparta faced the invading Persian troops with only 300 Spartan soldiers. The king and his men blocked the only narrow pass through which the Persians could go, killing a total of 20,000 Persians. The Spartans only lost when one of their soldiers betrayed them by showing the Persians a secret passage. Leonidas and his men were all mercilessly slaughtered.

E The Battle of Gettysburg (July 1863)

This battle was fought during the American Civil War between the Confederate troops from the South, led by General Robert E. Lee, and the Union troops, led by General George Meade. One of the most dramatic moments was Pickett's Charge, when 12,500 Confederate infantry charged towards the Union's center formation. In the end, the Union side won, but lost a total of 23,055 soldiers. The defeated Confederate army lost 23,231 soldiers.

1 LOOKING AT LANGUAGE

collocations

Complete the collocations in the sentences.

- The problems we face today are quite different from those that troubled our ancestors.
- We have an a lot of studying to do for our history exam.
- The leader of the opposition seems to be d serious about resigning if his party doesn't win the next election.
- We could talk for hours about the r and wrongs of the political system in ancient Rome.
- Politicians need to concentrate on the big p and not get distracted by small details.
- Manchester Town Hall is a cl example of Gothic revival architecture.
- Freedom of speech and the right to vote are two important c rights.
- In medieval times, life was good for the landowners, but o people had a difficult time.

2 READING

a Read the article. Mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).

- The author of Horrible Histories used to work on the stage.
- Deary's Horrible Histories books are purely fictional.
- Deary began writing the stories in the same year as his country celebrated an important occasion.
- Teachers bought Blitzed Brits to teach their classes about World War II.
- The host of the TV shows is a famous figure from history.
- In many of the comedy sketches, a parallel is drawn between past and present events.
- The author did not expect his concept to be so popular.
- Plans to build a Horrible Histories theme park have been announced.

b Underline five words or phrases you don't know. Use your dictionary to look up their meaning and pronunciation.

Why Horrible Histories is a hit

Getting an audience interested in history can be a daunting task at the best of times, but it's especially difficult when your medium is the written word. Enter Terry Deary, former actor and full-time author of the best-selling series Horrible Histories. Since the publication of Terrible Tudors and Awesome Egyptians in 1993, readers have been hooked on the series, which now consists of over 60 titles. More than 20 million copies have been sold in around 30 different languages. So, just what is the secret behind Deary's success?

The answer lies in the way the subject is presented. For each of his tales, Deary selects an important era from the past and picks out the most unpleasant events: gory killings, juicy scandal, and grim tales of revenge. These lesser-known aspects of history are recounted in comic-book fashion, eliciting disbelief in the reader, although the details are completely accurate. And this is what appeals to children about his books: the fact that by reading them, they learn something unbelievable but true.

As well as Deary's writing style, it was also coincidence that contributed to his rise to fame. Two years after the series began, the 50th anniversary of the end of World War II came along. Deary had conveniently just written Blitzed Brits, a description of events in wartime Britain. Teachers were looking for something on the subject to grab their students' attention in class and Blitzed Brits fitted the bill perfectly. The book shot up the sales charts and made Deary into a bestselling author almost overnight.

Yet Horrible Histories is not confined to books. Deary's gruesome tales have also been adapted for television, providing the material for five whole series. The shows are presented by a talking rat called Rattus Rattus, whose job is to introduce comedy sketches portraying a particular historical event and to verify the facts they contain. The sketches often parody current media stories, and each episode contains a song that imitates a particular pop style, which can be anything from boy bands to hard rock. The outrageous costumes and ridiculous humor of the show appeal to both children and grown-ups alike, and the TV series has won numerous awards at both children's and adult ceremonies.

Not even Terry Deary anticipated the huge success of Horrible Histories, which has joined the ranks of other children's favorites such as Harry Potter and The Hunger Games. Along with reading the books and following the TV series, fans can also purchase magazines, listen along to audio books, play video games, and watch stage productions. There have even been rumors of a theme park. With a range of products that wide, who would dare claim that history is boring?

1 VOCABULARY sounds and the human voice

a Circle the correct word.

- The children ran out of the room because of the large bee hissing / buzzing around the window.
- She was banging / tapping her finger on the table, waiting for her brother to answer his phone.
- There was a loud bang / slam as the fireworks went off.
- I can't stand people who slurp / drip their soup when they eat it.
- I had to get up and lock the door because it was hooting / rattling in the wind.
- The cat arched its back and hissed / whistled at us as we walked in.
- The engine crashed / roared to life when he turned it on.
- Omar has a cold, so he's been snoring / sniffing all day.
- The little girl liked the way the candy splashed / crunched in her mouth.
- It was so quiet in the room that you could hear the ticking / clicking of the clock.
- We heard the screeching / creaking of tires as Becca's boyfriend drove up the driveway.
- After the argument, Carl stormed out of the room and slammed / hummed the door.

b Complete the sentences with the verbs in the list.

giggled	groaned	mumbled	screamed	sighed
sobbed	stuttered	whispered	yelled

- "STOP MAKING SO MUCH NOISE!" the old man yelled from an upstairs window.
- "What did you do this time?" _____ Stephen's mother with resignation.
- "My new doll is broken," _____ the little girl, tears rolling down her cheeks.
- "My ankle hurts," the player _____ as he lay on the ground.
- "There's a spider in the bathtub!" my sister _____ in horror.
- "I didn't have t-t-time to do my h-h-homework," Phil _____ nervously.
- Half way through the exam, David _____ to Alison, "What's the answer to number 5?"
- "Look at her hat!" the students _____. "It looks really funny."
- "Sorry," he _____, but nobody could understand what he said.

2 PRONUNCIATION
consonant clusters

a 4.1 Listen and write the missing words with consonant clusters.

- Some of the pictures on display have been lent by other galleries.
- It's always a good idea to _____ before and after exercise.
- "What a wonderful surprise," she _____.
- My son failed his driving test for the _____ time!
- We're going to IKEA to get some new _____ for my study.
- The best speech was the one given by the _____.
- We _____ out the map on the dining room table, and planned our route.
- The man _____ the burglar in the nose.

b Practice saying the sentences in a.

3 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

I have a phobia of sound

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.36. Then complete the words.

- The passengers wanted to know why the train had stopped so abruptly .
- It can be very tiring being with my brothers because they are c_____ arguing.
- He had been studying for months, so he passed his exams w_____ e_____.
- St_____, I actually like commuting: it gives me some valuable time to myself.
- The area has a number of Italian restaurants i_____ close pr_____ to each other.
- Her s_____ stupid question produced an extremely useful answer.
- I try to avoid giving my neighbor a lift because she chatters i_____ the whole trip.

4 GRAMMAR speculation and deduction

- a Complete the mini-dialogues using must / might / could / may / can't or should and the correct form of the verbs in parentheses.

- 1 A Jessica's looking happy with herself.
B Yes. She must have done well on her job interview. (do)
- 2 A Where's Eve? She said to meet her outside the subway station.
B I guess she _____ at a different entrance. (wait)
- 3 A Carlos left work about an hour ago.
B Yes, he _____ here by now. It only takes 20 minutes. (be)
- 4 A How about this dress for your cousin?
B I don't know. I've never seen her in a dress. She _____ it. (not like)
- 5 A My brother's in his room doing his homework.
B Well, he _____. I can hear him talking on the phone! (study)
- 6 A Jason isn't answering his phone.
B Well, he's gone swimming and _____ it with him to the pool. (not take)
- 7 A My assistant is sick today.
B Well, he _____ anything serious. I just saw him playing tennis. (have)
- 8 A Tony didn't show up at the party. He _____ about it. (forget)
B Yes, he's very absentminded.

- b Complete the second sentence using the bold word so that it means the same as the first.

- 1 I don't think Luke will pass his driver's test. probably Luke probably won't pass his driver's test.
- 2 I'm sure we'll win the game. bound
We _____
- 3 I'm sure you'll enjoy the movie. definitely
You _____
- 4 I don't think it'll rain tonight. likely
It _____
- 5 They probably won't agree to our proposal. unlikely
They _____
- 6 My father is likely to take early retirement. probably
My father _____
- 7 Your parents will almost certainly complain about it. sure
Your parents _____
- 8 The manager is sure not to give us a pay raise. definitely
The manager _____

5 LISTENING

- a 4.2 Listen to someone talking about the percussionist Evelyn Glennie. In what way is she an unusual musician?

- b Listen again and complete the summary.

Evelyn Glennie was born in Aberdeen, Scotland. She studied at the Royal Academy of Music. She has been performing for more than ¹ _____ years, and plays ² _____ different percussion instruments. She not only plays and records classical and pop music, but has also composed several movie ³ _____. Evelyn finds it frustrating that journalists often write about her ⁴ _____ more than her music. She thinks that there is no real difference between hearing and ⁵ _____ a vibration. Evelyn never wears ⁶ _____ when she performs, in order to feel the vibrations of her instruments.

- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.72 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

6 READING

- a Read the article once. What is piped music? According to the writer, in which place might piped music have the most serious consequences?

Silence is golden

You hear it everywhere: in stores, restaurants, and hotels, in the plane, on the train, or on the bus. It comes at you unexpectedly down the phone, and it's even on television ruining perfectly decent shows. This unsolicited noise is, of course, piped music, an incessant jingle that is almost impossible to escape.

Contrary to popular belief, it appears that more people dislike this kind of music than actually appreciate it. In a poll carried out by a British newspaper, piped music came in third on the list of things people most detested about modern life. (The first two most hated things were other forms of noise.) What is more, a recent survey about shopping habits shows that at least 50 percent of customers would walk out of a store that had piped music. With figures like these, there can be no doubt about the widespread aversion to the noise.

It is people with some kind of hearing impairment who suffer most from the din. This group includes the elderly, who often develop an age-related hearing problem called presbycusis. The condition prevents them from distinguishing the individual words of a conversation above the noise of any background music. As time goes by, they find it more and more difficult to interact. In fact, a 2013 survey commissioned by a British bank showed that around 61 percent of older people consider piped music in stores and banks their biggest pet peeve. The reason most of them gave was that it makes them feel alienated.

However, piped music may also be responsible for far more serious health problems. It has long been recognized that unwanted noise produces stress. The listener experiences a rise in blood pressure and a depression of the immune system. A survey of 215 blood donors at Nottingham University Medical School found that playing piped music made donors more nervous before giving blood. They also felt more depressed afterwards. These results suggest that a hospital might not be the right place to play this kind of sound.

Yet a care institution in London has recently announced that it is going to do just that. The hospital plans to introduce piped music into its Emergency Room to "calm distressed patients." The music will be provided by legendary musician Brian Eno, who has been supplying "ambient music" to airports for nearly four decades. The hospital's objective is to make the ER more patient-friendly, but it is likely to have quite the opposite effect.

Fortunately, help is at hand in the form of Pipelown, a campaign for freedom from piped music. The movement is pushing for legislation to ban its use in public places, especially in hospitals and doctors' offices where patients are in no position to argue or go somewhere else. If the campaign is successful, the London hospital will have to drop its plans. But for many, this will not be a bad thing.

- b Read the article again and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).

- 1 According to the writer, the main problem with piped music is you can't get away from it.
- 2 The results of the newspaper poll show that the top three annoyances are all noise-related.
- 3 Piped music encourages the majority of people to shop in a store.
- 4 Elderly people tend to dislike piped music because it's not their kind of music.
- 5 Piped music can help blood donors relax.
- 6 The writer thinks Brian Eno's music probably won't improve the atmosphere of an ER.
- 7 The main aim of the Pipelown campaign is to get rid of piped music in all public places.

- c Find words or phrases in the article that mean:

- 1 piped music

_____ music
_____ music

- 2 a recognizable tune that is easy to remember

- 3 a loud and unpleasant noise

G adding emphasis (1): inversion V describing books and movies P sounds and spelling: /ɔ/

1 VOCABULARY

describing books and movies

Complete the sentences.

- 1 The story was really haunting. I can't stop thinking about it.
- 2 The book was extremely th_____ - pr_____ and it made me think seriously about human rights issues.
- 3 This is the perfect vacation read – a really e_____ book.
- 4 The ending was completely i_____. That would never have happened in real life and it ruined the whole movie for me.
- 5 The plot is i_____. I never know what's going to happen next.
- 6 The book's focus on the cruel and violent events that occur in a war make for a really d_____ read.
- 7 The plot was absolutely gr_____. I couldn't put the book down.
- 8 The writer's style is difficult to read, and there isn't much action. I find his books very s_____ - p_____.
- 9 The final scene was incredibly m_____ – I cried all the way out of the movie theater!
- 10 His new novel is very f_____ - m_____ – so much happens in each short chapter.

2 PRONUNCIATION /ɔ/

a Write the words with the /ɔ/ sound.

- | | |
|----------------------|-----------------|
| 1 /'drɒbæk/ | drawback |
| 2 /wɒk/ | _____ |
| 3 /ɪm'plɔ:zəbl/ | _____ |
| 4 /'hɒntɪŋ/ | _____ |
| 5 /'ɔ:fl/ | _____ |
| 6 /'dɒtər/ | _____ |
| 7 /'θɔ:t-prə'vɒukɪŋ/ | _____ |
| 8 /'ɔ:θər/ | _____ |

b 4.3 Listen and check. Practice saying the words.

c 4.4 Listen and write five sentences.

- 1 _____
- 2 _____
- 3 _____
- 4 _____
- 5 _____

d Practice saying the sentences in c.

3 GRAMMAR adding emphasis (1): inversion

a Complete the sentences with the adverbial expressions in the list. In some sentences more than one answer may be possible.

Hardly	Never	No sooner	Not only
Not until	Only	Rarely	Scarcely

- 1 Hardly _____ had we set off when the engine started rattling.
- 2 _____ the clock struck midnight did the musicians start playing.
- 3 _____ have I heard such a moving speech. The last time was at the funeral of a close relation.
- 4 _____ had we sat down to eat than the doorbell rang.
- 5 _____ when you get on the scales do you realize how much weight you've gained over the holidays.
- 6 _____ had she entered the classroom when the students started to pester her.
- 7 _____ was my father in pain, but his pride had also been hurt.
- 8 _____ had the fans witnessed such a resounding victory in the history of the team.

b Rewrite the sentences to make them more emphatic.

- The exam began when all the papers had been given out.
Only when all the papers had been given out did the exam begin.
- He betrayed my trust and he wrecked my car.
Not only _____
- The sun had only just gone down when the temperature fell dramatically.
Scarcely _____
- I have never seen such a wonderful sight.
Never _____
- As soon as the teacher turned her back, the children started whispering.
No sooner _____
- The woman had just sat down when her baby started crying.
Hardly _____
- You rarely find two people so alike.
Rarely _____
- Classes will not recommence until a replacement teacher has been found.
Not until _____

4 LEXIS IN CONTEXT Translation Diary

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.43. Then complete the words.

- The man turned around and left when nobody answered the door.
- All of the rooms in the hotel were i _____.
- He i _____ the kidnapper not to hurt him.
- The child sat m _____ in the corner of the room.
- His illness has left him completely i _____, and he has to remain in bed.
- Can I borrow that book when you're d _____ w _____ it?
- She said nothing and m _____ smiled in response to his question.
- I tried to give the police an a _____ description of the attacker.
- Beware! Thieves may try to steal your b _____ without you noticing.
- That store sells bags of every c _____ shape and size.

5 LISTENING

a 4.5 Listen to a radio program about movie adaptations of books. According to Lindsey, are these book-to-movie adaptations successful or not?

- The Lord of the Rings* _____
- The Hunger Games* _____

b Listen again and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).

- According to Lindsey, a good movie adaptation is exactly the same as the book.
- A good adaptation has to get the timing right.
- Choosing the right cast can make a big difference to the success of a movie adaptation.
- The main reason for the success of The Lord of the Rings series is its setting.
- Special effects were used extensively in the creation of the character Gollum.
- The main reason why Lindsey doesn't like The Hunger Games movies is the casting.

c Listen again with the audioscript on p.72 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

6 READING

a Read the text once. What advice does the writer give?

b Read the text again and choose the best answer.

- As an adult, the writer regards her childhood ideas about reading as...
 - extremely resourceful
 - quite thorough
 - rather immature
 - very sophisticated
- The writer hates Russell Banks' Book of Jamaica because...
 - she didn't understand the plot
 - she made herself finish it
 - she doesn't think much of the author
 - she had an awful summer job at the time
- The writer's advice to readers who aren't enjoying a particular book is to...
 - find an alternative
 - take a break
 - try a different book by the same author
 - finish it at all costs
- According to the writer, the first 50 pages of a book is...
 - the minimum that her friends suggest reading
 - enough to find out what a book is about
 - what she advises people to read to find out if they will like a book
 - the minimum she needs to read to know if she's going to like a book
- The writer considers that people may end up reading less if...
 - they watch a lot of TV adaptations
 - they think reading is a waste of time
 - they persevere with books they aren't enjoying
 - they are given too many bad books to read

c Look at the highlighted idioms and phrasal verbs in the text. What do you think they mean? Check in your dictionary. Then use them to complete the sentences.

- If the title doesn't _____, the story surely will.
- Whenever I _____ an author, I go on to read all of their books.
- Have you ever read a review that _____ reading a novel?
- If you've read it, _____ don't tell me what happens in the end!
- I watched the movie _____ although I can't say that I really enjoyed it.
- All our proposals were dismissed _____.

Lionel Shriver

On how not to read

The most stupid childhood vow I ever made was to finish every book I started. Maintained well into adulthood, this policy turned reading the first page of any volume into a miniature death sentence. I imagined my compulsive completion to be a sign of adult seriousness. In truth, it was a vanity – a poorly thought-out and typically adolescent whim.

As a consequence of this inane commitment, I reserve a special loathing for many books that I shouldn't have been reading in the first place. I remember working as a summer camp counselor in my 20s and absolutely despising poor Russell Banks' Book of Jamaica. Yet I never allowed myself to read something else because I had already started it. I say "poor" Russell Banks, because I love his other books, and the fact that I forced myself to keep reading a book for which I was not remotely in the mood was not his fault.

I have occasionally heard from a reader who is furious because he or she did not enjoy one of my novels yet still read to its bitter end. I reject this fury out of hand. For pity's sake, if you don't take a shine to a novel, there are loads more in the world; read something else. Continue suffering and it's not the author's fault. It's yours.

Granted, it's a good idea to give some books a chance even if they don't grab you at first, especially if they come recommended by someone you trust. But 50 pages is plenty. With some books I have an allergic reaction after two or three.

Reading time is precious. Don't waste it. Reading bad books, or books that are wrong for a certain time in your life, can dangerously put you off the activity altogether. The sign that I don't like the book I'm reading is finding myself watching reruns of Come Dine With Me.

Glossary

Come Dine With Me a popular British reality TV show that has been running since 2005.

1 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

Multitasking and mindfulness

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.46. Then complete the sentences with the prepositions.

- Please stop interrupting me; I can't concentrate on my work.
- Because of poor sales during the recession, the company was faced _____ closure.
- My grandfather is in a home because he is no longer capable _____ looking after himself.
- While he was walking home, he became aware _____ a figure behind him.
- She works at the front desk, dealing _____ customer questions.
- The documentary focuses _____ climate change around the world.

2 GRAMMAR distancing

a Complete the sentences with the words in the list.

according agreed apparently appears believed expected may seem

- There are believed to be many homeless people living in the streets of the capital.
- It _____ that there is a connection between eating too many carbohydrates and depression.
- The senator is _____ to announce his resignation by the end of the day.
- _____ to local residents, the man had always been a little strange.
- The thieves _____ have been disturbed while they were going through the rooms upstairs.
- It would _____ that there is some confusion about our new dress code. Workers are still turning up in jeans.
- It is _____ that climate change is one of the greatest dangers facing the planet.
- _____, the soccer player was arrested because of an incident at a party last night.

b Complete the second sentence so that you distance yourself from the information. Use the correct form of the verb in parentheses.

- An employee leaked the information to the press. (say)
It is said that an employee leaked the information to the press.
- Politicians have been falsifying their expenses. (appear) _____ politicians have been falsifying their expenses.
- The country's largest bank has gone bankrupt. (announce) _____ the country's largest bank has gone bankrupt.
- The pop star has had another breakdown. (think)
The pop star _____ had another breakdown.
- The accused was under the influence of drugs. (may)
The accused _____ under the influence of drugs.
- The winner had been chosen before voting commenced. (seem) _____ the winner had been chosen before voting commenced.
- The burglars entered through an open window. (might)
The burglars _____ through an open window.
- The economic situation will improve by next year. (hope) _____ the economic situation will improve by next year.

3 VOCABULARY expressions with time a Complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in the list.

give have make run save spare take waste

- I spent all morning cleaning the windows and now it's raining. I shouldn't have wasted my time.
- We _____ a lot of time by getting the express train to New York City instead of changing at Croton-Harmon.
- Alex has basketball practice every day and also on weekends. The sport _____ up all his time.
- Kate has too much to do. She can't even _____ the time to Skype her friends.
- My dad had never been to his team's stadium, but now he's bought a season ticket, to _____ up for lost time.
- Mom _____ me a hard time for failing my exams.

- 7 Jenna's enjoying herself a lot at college. She's _____ the time of her life.
- 8 I only managed to answer half the exam questions before I _____ out of time.

b Complete the sentences with a suitable preposition.

- 1 My manager's been really stressed recently, so she's taking some time off.
- 2 My parents like to go abroad occasionally. _____ time _____ time they visit their friends in Mexico.
- 3 I couldn't answer my phone when you called. I was in a meeting _____ the time.
- 4 Chela is very punctual. She's always _____ time.
- 5 _____ just five days I'll be on a plane to Hawaii for my vacation.
- 6 There was a huge traffic jam and _____ the time we arrived home it was dark.
- 7 You weren't even born when Nirvana was big. They were way _____ your time.
- 8 She can be annoying _____ times, but I still love my sister.

c Complete the time expressions in the mini-dialogues.

- 1 A Where are you going?
B Shopping! I need some me time.
- 2 A Can you come to my presentation later?
B Sorry, I can't. I'm _____ on time today.
- 3 A Was the bride late for the wedding?
B No, she got to the church with time to _____.
- 4 A Why are you so bored these days?
B I have too much time on my _____ now that I'm retired.
- 5 A Are you going to look for a new job?
B No, I'm staying where I am for the time _____.
- 6 A Do you think the business is in trouble?
B Yes, I do. It's just a _____ of time before it closes.
- 7 A Why can't I stay any longer?
B Time's _____. Visitors have to leave at 8 p.m.
- 8 A Why aren't you going to see Andy again?
B Because he spends the _____ time talking about himself!

4 PRONUNCIATION
linking in short phrases

- a Draw a line between the words that are linked.
- 1 Oliver's_asking for some_extra time_off.
- 2 My cousin Nick is never on time.
- 3 I find doing housework takes up a lot of time.
- 4 We walked to town because we had plenty of time.
- 5 We seem to have run out of time.
- 6 It's a matter of time before the sports center opens.

b 5.1 Listen and check. Practice saying the sentences.

c 5.2 Listen and write six sentences.

- 1 _____
- 2 _____
- 3 _____
- 4 _____
- 5 _____
- 6 _____

d Listen again and repeat the sentences in c.

5 LISTENING

- a 5.3 Listen to a radio program about some new research on time. What is the science expert's "good news"?
- b Listen again and complete the summary.

How we perceive time

The brain takes time to process information from the ¹ _____. The ² _____ it takes to process the information, the slower time seems to pass.

How our perception changes with age

Children receive a lot of ³ _____ information that takes a long time to process. For them, time passes ⁴ _____.

Adults receive information that is more ⁵ _____, so it doesn't take long to process. For them, time passes more ⁶ _____.

What can we do to slow down time?

- Keep ⁷ _____.
- Visit ⁸ _____.
- Meet ⁹ _____.
- Be ¹⁰ _____.

- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.73 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

1 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

Do women really want to marry for money?

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.51. Then complete the words.

- You have a very sour face – what's the matter?
- Problems occur when important meetings and children's birthdays c_____.
- Who sh_____ the responsibility of bringing up the kids in your relationship?
- The park was l_____ w_____ plastic cups after the concert.
- Working mothers have to j_____ their jobs with the needs of their children.
- She's a successful businesswoman with a h_____ -fl_____ career.

2 GRAMMAR unreal uses of past tenses a Complete the mini-dialogues with the correct form of the words in parentheses.

- A Your parents will be here in an hour.
B I know. It's time I cleaned up.
(time / I / clean up)
- A I'll call you in the morning.
B _____ in person. (I / rather / you / come for a visit)
- A Our new dishwasher doesn't work very well.
B I know. _____ it. (I / wish / we / not buy)
- A It's a shame we can't meet up more often.
B Yes. _____ closer to each other. (only / we / live)
- A I won't tell your mother you were here.
B Thank you. _____ (I / rather / she / not know)
- A Did you get the grades to go to college?
B No. _____ harder for my exams. (only / I / work)
- A I'm fed up with working all the time.
B _____ a vacation. (time / you / take)
- A We can't afford a vacation this year.
B I know. _____ better off. (I / wish / we / be) b Complete the second sentence so it means the same as the first, using the words in parentheses.

- I should have applied for a grant. (wish)
I wish I had applied for a grant.
- We are unhappy because we owe the bank a lot of money. (if only) _____ the bank so much money.
- Sasha ought to make up her mind about her job. (time) _____ her mind about her job.
- Would you prefer us to take you home now or later? (rather) _____ you home now or later?
- We regret spending all our savings on our honeymoon. (if only) _____ all our savings on our honeymoon.
- Don't you think you ought to apologize to Anna? (time)
Isn't _____ to Anna?
- I would like to be able to see my family more. (wish) _____ my family more.
- We'd prefer that you not bring your dog in here. (rather) _____ bring your dog in here.

3 VOCABULARY money

a Complete the missing words.

- 1 Would you like to pay monthly or in an annual lump sum?
- 2 My uncle works in the st _____ m _____, buying and selling shares all day.
- 3 You can get a better foreign currency e _____ r _____ at some banks than at others.
- 4 If you are i _____ d _____, you owe someone money.
- 5 Despite the recession, many people's st _____ of l _____ has remained high.
- 6 Many people are struggling because wages aren't rising at the same rate as i _____.
- 7 We live in a c _____ s _____ where people are obsessed with money.
- 8 l _____ r _____ have been cut to try and encourage people to borrow more money.
- 9 My sister has managed to get a government g _____ to study abroad for a year.
- 10 I give a d _____ to my favorite animal shelter every year.

b Order the letters to make synonyms of rich or poor. Write R (rich) or P (poor) after each one.

- 1 FLTUFENA affluent R
- 2 ESNILEPNS
- 3 ADEODL
- 4 ADRH PU
- 5 LWEYTAH
- 6 LEWL-FOF
- 7 REBOK

c Complete the second sentence so that it means the same as the first. Use an idiom with the bold words.

- 1 Our friends buy many things they can't afford. means
Our friends are living beyond their means _____.
- 2 We're overdrawn. red
We're _____.
- 3 Don't waste your money. It's hard work to make more. grow Don't waste your money. It _____.
- 4 That yacht must have been really expensive. arm
That yacht must have _____.
- 5 We'll never be able to buy a house unless we start saving. belts
We'll never be able to buy a house unless _____.
- 6 Bill never eats out. He thinks it's too expensive. robbery Bill never eats out. He thinks it's _____.
- 7 My in-laws are extremely cheap. fist
My in-laws are very _____.
- 8 We hardly earn enough to buy what we need. ends
We're struggling to _____.

4 PRONUNCIATION

US and UK accents

Ⓛ 5.4 Can you tell the difference between US and UK accents? Listen and write US (US accent) or UK (UK accent).

- | | |
|-------------|----------|
| 1 US | 6 _____ |
| 2 _____ | 7 _____ |
| 3 _____ | 8 _____ |
| 4 _____ | 9 _____ |
| 5 _____ | 10 _____ |

5 LISTENING

a Ⓛ 5.5 Listen to a radio call-in program about saving money. Answer the questions with the names in the list.

Emily	Brody	Maria	Philip	Suki
-------	-------	-------	--------	------

Which caller has a tip for saving money...?

- 1 at meal times
- 2 at the supermarket
- 3 for vacations
- 4 at home
- 5 on all kinds of purchases

b Listen again and answer the questions.

According to the callers, ...?

- 1 at what temperature should your thermostat be set
- 2 what should you take to work to eat
- 3 where should you put your small change
- 4 how should you pay for everything you buy
- 5 when shouldn't you do your food shopping

c Listen again with the audioscript on p.73 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

6 READING

a Read the article once. Choose the sentence that best summarizes the results of the research.

- A If everyone in the country has more money as a result of economic development, then we're all happier.
- B It takes a long time to get used to being rich, so you don't notice if you feel any happier.
- C Money makes us happier if we are richer than those around us, but not if we all have a similar amount of wealth.

b Read the article again and match the missing sentences A–F to the blanks 1–5. There is one sentence you do not need to use.

- A "People's aspirations tend to rise as their incomes rise, so rather quickly they start to think of a lot of additional things that they need to buy. So they end up no happier than they were before."
- B Or they are more likely to hold jobs in which people defer to them.
- C The apparent contradiction is that people don't seem to be any happier now than they were then despite their enrichment through economic growth, but that people who are richer at any one time are happier on average than people who are poorer.
- D They think it's important to try to make everyone as happy as they possibly can be.
- E Increase the total amount of happiness, which means enabling people to have better human relationships."
- F Happiness academics do accept that richer people are, by and large, happier than their poorer neighbors.

c Look at the highlighted expressions and try to work out their meaning. Check in your dictionary.

Does money make you happy?

The unhappy answer to whether or not your happiness expands in line with your wealth is "yes, but—no, but." It seems it does if your riches rise relative to that of the Joneses, but not if you all rise together. "What we actually care about is our income compared with other people," says Lord Layard, one of the founders of "happiness studies." "But if over time everybody is becoming richer, then people don't on average feel any better than they did before."

Lord Layard bases the conclusion on studies and surveys that have been conducted over the past half a century or so in the world's richer countries. What the studies reveal is a paradox. ¹ _____

We like to look out at the neighbors' driveway and see a smaller car. This is partly because aspirations rise with incomes. "You rather quickly get adapted to more money so you don't get the pleasure out of it that you expected to get," explains Derek Bok, a former president of Harvard University and author of The Politics of Happiness. ² _____

³ _____ But they are not even certain that it is the money that does it. "Happier people on the whole tend to be richer, but we're not quite sure why that is so," says Mr. Bok. "It may not be the money. It may be that richer people command more respect or they have the freedom to do more things. ⁴ _____ Or they have more autonomy in what they do. So it doesn't always follow that giving more money if you don't change those other things is really going to improve their happiness."

So if money is not all it is cracked up to be, then what should people and governments do? For starters, believes Lord Layard, a break-neck chase after economic growth is misplaced. "This competition to get richer than other people; it can't be achieved at the level of society," he says. "What we should do is have a positive sum. ⁵ _____

Rather than going for high growth, smoother growth might produce more happiness by producing less disruption and the uncertainty that comes with the ups and down of the economy, according to Lord Layard. "I certainly think that the relief of poverty is an incredibly important objective, but it shouldn't be done at any cost. We shouldn't just go for economic development even if it leads to the complete fragmentation of society...and a decline in happiness."

Glossary

The Joneses from the idiom "keep up with the Joneses," which means to try and have all the possessions and social achievements that your friends and neighbors have.

1 LOOKING AT LANGUAGE

Match a word in A to a word in B to make compound nouns. Then complete the sentences.

A age blood breathing college life stress support text

B exercises group levels messages network pressure saver students

- My stress levels always go through the roof at exam time.
- The flu can affect anyone, regardless of which _____ they're in.
- The doctor has given me some medicine because my _____ is too high.
- You need your _____ around you to help you through challenging times.
- Which is cheaper, sending _____ or making phone calls?
- Pregnant women are encouraged to do _____ to prepare for the birth of their child.
- A cell phone can be a _____ if you're involved in an accident and need help.
- Some _____ suffer badly from stress, particularly at exam time.

2 READING

Read the article. Choose the right answers.

- Students at Seton Hall...
 - are not allowed to receive visitors.
 - can attend a special program designed to reduce stress.
 - are allowed to bring their pets to class.
- The remarkable thing about William Wynne's dog was...
 - it survived for many years on the battlefield.
 - it brightened the atmosphere in the hospital.
 - it made friends with all of the hospital staff.
- Therapy Dogs International...
 - ensures that animals used for visits are properly trained.
 - works mainly with German shepherd dogs.
 - raises funds to purchase dogs to use in the organization.
- The article describes dog therapy as a "win-win situation" because...
 - it never fails to work on humans.
 - the handlers benefit as much as the patients.
 - both the patients and the dogs benefit from it.
- In general, how do students feel about the therapy dogs?
 - They are nervous about touching them.
 - They are eager for them to arrive.
 - They are confident that the dogs will help them.

De-stressing with pet's house

Visitors to Seton Hall University, New Jersey, may be forgiven for thinking they have turned up at the wrong place. Instead of encountering students rushing off to lectures or studying diligently in the library, they will see large numbers of them milling around in a hall in the company of several pets. But these are no ordinary canines. They are therapy pets, brought in by the Counseling and Psychology Services Department of the university to de-stress students. And by the looks on the students' faces, the therapy seems to be working.

The first recorded instance of a pet having an impact on our mood occurred during World War II. A soldier, William Wynne, had come across a stray pet on the battlefield that he befriended and named Smoky. Later, when Wynne was admitted to the hospital suffering from a tropical disease, his friends took Smoky to visit him. Not only did the animal cheer Wynne up, but it became a big hit with all of the other wounded soldiers on the ward. Noting the positive effect that Smoky had on the men, the doctors allowed the pet to continue doing rounds and sleep on Wynne's bed. Thus Smoky became the first therapy pet, although the term had not yet been coined.

It wasn't until some 30 years later that the concept of therapy pets really took off. In the mid-1970s, nurse Elaine Smith noticed how well patients responded to a golden retriever brought into hospital by a regular visitor. She decided that there should be more pets like this in places of healing and so in 1976, she founded Therapy Pets International, an organization that trained pets to visit institutions. The first TDI visit took place that year, when five German shepherds and a collie accompanied their handlers to a therapy session in New Jersey. The day was a complete success and since then, TDI has grown to include over 24,000 registered teams of pets and their handlers.

So how is it that these animals can lead to such a marked improvement in our moods? Research has shown that being around pets affects various chemicals released by the brain. The amount of the feel-good chemicals, oxytocin and dopamine, increases while the level of stress-inducing substances like cortisol goes down. These variations result in a lowering of the blood pressure, a relief of stress, and an improvement in the mood. The pets experience similar chemical changes as well, and so it's a win-win situation.

The lift in spirits is certainly evident among the students of Seton Hall and other universities with a similar program. The students generally reach out and touch the animals as soon as the team from TDI gets through the door. Test-weary faces begin to relax as their worries fade away, and soon everyone is smiling. Of course, the therapy dogs are not able to determine the final grades awarded to the students, but the experience is bound to make the revision process much more bearable.

G verb + object + infinitive or gerund V compound adjectives P main stress

1 LEXIS IN CONTEXT How to survive...

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.56.
Then complete the sentences.

- If you don't do your share of the housework, we'll have to stop giving you an allowance.
- Everybody was shocked beyond b _____ at the devastation caused by the hurricane.
- If you feel that you're going to lose your c _____ during an argument, it's best to leave the room.
- Please h _____ in your key card at the front desk when you depart.
- My new job is really st _____ me out. There's too much to do and nobody to help.
- I don't save a lot of money, but I manage to sq _____ away a small amount every month.
- Many medicines should not be taken on an empty st _____.
- Why do you always go into "child m _____" whenever we visit your parents? It's the only time you behave in a really immature way!

2 GRAMMAR

verb + object + infinitive or gerund

a Circle the right answer.

- My boss recommended...for the position of supervisor.
a me applying b) me to apply c me apply
- Gina's psychologist advised...her routine.
a her not change b her not changing c her not to change
- Please will you let...the news!
a me watch b that I watch c me to watch
- Do you remember...you when you were sick?
a us to visit b us visit c us visiting
- She waited...before calling her mother.
a for him leaving b for him to leave c him to leave
- They don't allow...in the reservoir.
a you to swim b that you swim c you swimming
- We'd like...this gift on behalf of all of us.
a you to accept b you accept c you accepting
- The doctor kept...for over an hour.
a me wait b me waiting c me to wait

- b Complete the sentences with a pronoun and the verb in parentheses. Use an infinitive, a base form, or a gerund.

- My father-in-law wasn't feeling well so I persuaded him to seek medical help. (seek)
- A bad experience in Maria's youth taught _____ lies. (not tell)
- We don't advise _____ with children under 12, though you are welcome to bring teenagers. (come)
- They're late with the pizzas. We planned for _____ here during half-time. (get)
- I know you're very good with children, but I can't imagine _____ as an elementary school teacher. (work)
- A special British Airways course helped _____ his fear of flying. (overcome)
- My friends didn't mind _____ for my drinks last night because they know I'm broke. (not pay)
- Our visitors are on their way so we'd better hurry home. I'd hate for _____ while we were out. (arrive)

3 VOCABULARY compound adjectives

a Complete the compound adjectives.

- Doctors advise patients with a heart condition not to participate in high-risk activities.
- She's terribly self-_____ about her new haircut; she thinks it's too short.
- Barbara often goes to thrift shops to look for second-_____ clothes.
- Last-_____ vacations tend to be much cheaper than advance bookings.
- Our next-door neighbor is a narrow-_____ old man who refuses to listen to new ideas.

b Match a word in A to a word in B to make compound adjectives. Then complete the sentences.

A dead eco feel ground hands high high labor life low

B breaking changing cost end free friendly good heel pitched saving

- I'm not used to wearing high - heel shoes, so I'm going to buy some flat ones.
- It's a _____ - _____ job - there's no chance he'll ever be promoted.
- Dogs can hear really _____ - _____ sounds.
- It's a _____ - _____ movie that makes you realize that life is worth living.
- Taking a gap year was a _____ - _____ decision for my nephew.
- We booked with a _____ - _____ airline because the flights were much cheaper.
- Scientists are using _____ technology to develop a new treatment for cancer.
- Washing machines are one of the greatest _____ - _____ devices in the home.
- They insist on only using _____ - _____ cleaning products so as not to harm the environment.
- Is it legal to use a _____ - _____ phone when you're driving?

4 PRONUNCIATION main stress

a Underline the main stress in the compound adjectives.

- | | |
|----------------------|---------------------|
| 1 air- con di tioned | 6 na rrrow- min ded |
| 2 high- risk | 7 se cond hand |
| 3 home made | 8 self- con scious |
| 4 last- mi nute | 9 well- be haved |
| 5 long- di stance | 10 worn- out |

b 6.1 Listen and check. Then practice saying the words.

5 LISTENING

a 6.2 Listen to a man suggesting some ten-minute activities to try. Write S for summer and W for winter next to the activities.

- Go for a walk _____
- Learn a new language _____
- Make a new salad every day _____
- Ride a bike for ten minutes _____
- Doodle _____
- Write a blog _____

b Listen again and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).

- Ten minutes of vigorous exercise will make you feel more anxious.
 - A walk in the morning helps you start your day in the right way.
 - There are enough salad recipes to be able to eat a different one every day for about a month.
 - Doodling does not require you to use your imagination.
 - According to the man, it's fun to write about something you have very strong feelings or beliefs about.
 - The language app only offers a very limited number of languages.
 - The app provides a series of games for a fixed price.
- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.74 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

6 READING

a Read the article once and check (✓) the best summary.

- Habits are impossible to change, so there's no point in trying.
- If you want to change a habit, you first have to understand what causes it.
- All habits require the same amount of time to change them.

b Five sentences have been removed from the article. Read it again and match the sentences A–G to the blanks 1–5. There are two sentences you do not need to use.

- A Habits are meant to be difficult to change.
B It can sometimes be helpful if we imagine that we are someone else.
C This sounds obvious, but countless efforts at habit change ignore its implications.
D Therefore, he reasoned – using the logic we've come to expect from self-help – the same must be true of all big changes.
E So what we really want, it seems, is to stop wanting.
F Bither way, it's clear that when you are trying to persuade, how you do it can matter as much as the content.
G Individuals ranged widely – some took 18 days, others 245 – and some habits, unsurprisingly, were harder than others to make stick.

c Look at the highlighted adverbs in the text. What do you think they mean? Check in your dictionary. Then use them to complete the sentences.

- 1 He was found guilty because his crimes could not _____ be blamed on his state of mind.
- 2 They stared _____ out of the window watching the rain pour down.
- 3 She's traveled _____ in Australia, so she has a good understanding of the lifestyle and culture.
- 4 The manager isn't at his desk – _____ he's in a meeting.
- 5 The system is _____ unfair: the minority has too much to eat while the majority is left to starve.
- 6 The writer's latest novel is _____ her finest work to date; there is no doubt about it.

CHANGING HABITS:

HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE?

Everyone knows that it takes 28 days to develop a new habit, or perhaps 21, or 18, depending on who you ask; anyway, the point is that it's a specific number, which makes it sound scientific and thus indisputably true. The person who is probably responsible for this idea is Maxwell Maltz, the plastic surgeon who wrote the 1960 bestseller Psycho-Cybernetics. He claimed to have observed that amputees took an average of only 21 days to adjust to the loss of a limb. ¹ _____. And therefore it must take 21 days to change a habit, maybe, perhaps!

This is, of course, ridiculous, as a new study by the University College London psychologist Phillippa Lally and her colleagues helps confirm. On average, her subjects, who were trying to take up new habits such as eating fruit daily or going jogging, took a depressing 66 days before reporting that the behavior had become automatic. ² _____. One especially silly implication of the 28- or 21-day rule is that it is just as easy to start eating a few more apples as it is to start finding five hours a week to study Chinese.

Self-help culture supports the fiction of the 28-day rule, presumably because it makes changing habits sound plausibly difficult enough, but basically easy. The first problem with this is simple: changing habits is hard. Our brains are designed to take short cuts, in order to make as many behaviors as possible automatic. "What would be the point," asks the psychologist Ian Newby-Clark, "of having a habit that didn't free up your mind to deal with more pressing matters?" ³ _____

The subtler problem is that we tend to think about habit change wrongly. We get trapped in a paradox. We want to, say, stop watching so much TV, but on the other hand, demonstrably, we also want to watch lots of TV – after all, we keep doing it. ⁴ _____

The way round this, says Newby-Clark and others, is to see that habits are responses to needs. ⁵ _____. If you eat badly, you might resolve to start eating well, but if you're eating burgers and ice cream to feel comforted, relaxed, and happy, trying to replace them with broccoli and carrot juice is like dealing with a leaky bathroom tap by repainting the kitchen. What's required isn't a better diet, but an alternative way to feel comforted and relaxed. "The chains of habit are too weak to be felt until they are too strong to be broken," Dr. Johnson observed gloomily, but maybe by looking at the problem differently we can still, Houdini-like, slip out of them.

6B

Can't give it up

Cell phones are so convenient that they're an inconvenience.
Haruki Murakami, Japanese author

G conditional sentences V phones and technology; adjectives + prepositions P /æ/ and /ʌ/

1 VOCABULARY phones and technology

a Complete the words.

- I need to make a call. Can I borrow your phone?
- Is there an outlet? I need to ch_____ my phone.
- I'll be at home so call me on the l_____.
- I can't get a s_____ here, can you? There's really bad coverage.
- I'll g_____ you a call this evening when I'm home.
- She conducts most of her meetings over the phone so her line is often b_____.
- Please leave a message after the t_____.
- Can you repeat that? The r_____ isn't very good here.
- I have six m_____ calls from Jake. I hope nothing's happened to him.

b Circle the correct particle.

- I've forgotten my password, so I can't log _____.
 a in b out c up
- The price for a good laptop usually tops _____ at $4,000.
a in b on c out
- We were cut _____ when the train went through a tunnel.
a down b off c out
- You can never get _____ after ten, so call early.
a in b on c through
- How can I free _____ some space on this flash drive?
a up b out c off
- Her secretary won't put _____ any calls if she's busy.
a across b through c along
- She didn't want to talk to him so she hung _____.
a off b out c up
- Scroll _____ the page to find the answer.
a down b on c in

- The battery has run _____, so I can't use my phone.
a off b out c over
- Can you speak _____? It's very loud in here.
a in b out c up

c Circle the correct word.

- A cookie / virus is a file that is capable of causing damage to your computer.
- Wi-fi* / Broadband is a technology that uses radio waves to allow you to connect to the internet.
- A keypad / keyboard is the set of numbers usually found on a phone.
- Streaming* / Downloading does not allow you to save any data on your computer.
- A password / passcode is the set of numbers that unlocks your phone, for example.
- An update / A pop-up is a piece of free software that is sent to users to fix or improve a computer program.
- Your contacts / settings is where your friends' numbers can be found.
- A screen / touch screen is one that can be controlled with a pen or a finger.

2 LEXIS IN CONTEXT A beginner's guide to divorcing your phone

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.61. Then complete the sentences.

- You're always so busy! How do you cope _____ with all the demands from your job and your family?
- It makes me c _____ with embarrassment every time I look at that old photo of myself. My hair looks awful.
- My sister has a m _____ whenever she can't check her social media on her phone.
- I always keep snacks at h _____ when my grandchildren visit. They always seem to be hungry!
- Jennifer drives me crazy. All she does is sit in bed, flicking t _____ social media all day long.
- If you don't take your medicine as the doctor ordered, you may take a t _____ for the worse instead of feeling better.

3 PRONUNCIATION /æ/ and /ʌ/

a 6.3 Listen and circle the word you hear.

- | | | | |
|----------|--------------|-----------|--------|
| 1 a bag | b bug | 6 a ban | b bun |
| 2 a sank | b sunk | 7 a cap | b cup |
| 3 a hat | b hut | 8 a drag | b drug |
| 4 a slam | b slum | 9 a fan | b fun |
| 5 a rat | b rut | 10 a lamp | b lump |

b Practice saying both words in each pair.

4 GRAMMAR conditional sentences a Complete the sentences with a suitable form of the verb in parentheses.

- If Alex didn't have such a demanding job, he wouldn't get so stressed. (have)
- You _____ to use your cell phone unless you charge the battery first. (not be able)
- I wouldn't have woken you up if you _____. (not snore)
- If you _____ to class yesterday, you won't know about the next exam. (not come)
- _____ you _____ expensive clothes more often if you could afford it? (buy)
- We'd be starving by now if we _____ something before we left home. (not eat)
- Lily _____ us by now if she wasn't having a good time. (call)
- We _____ the bank so much money now if we hadn't applied for such a big mortgage. (not owe)

b Rewrite the sentences using the bold word.

- I'll lend you some money if you pay me back. long I'll lend you some money as long as you pay me back.
- We didn't know you were at home, otherwise we would have dropped by. had
_____,
we would have dropped by.
- What would you do if you missed your flight? supposing
_____?
- I'm not going away with my parents this year, even if they don't like it. whether I'm not going away with my parents this year,
_____.
- You can borrow my bike if you look after it. provided
_____, you can borrow it.
- We'll have to get a new sofa, whether we can afford it or not. even We'll have to get a new sofa, _____.

- If Sarah finishes the report by the weekend, she can take Monday off. condition
Sarah can take Monday off _____.
- We said the children could stay up if they didn't make too much noise. as
We said the children could stay up _____.

5 VOCABULARY adjectives + prepositions

Match the sentence halves and write the missing preposition in the blank.

- | | |
|---|--------------------------|
| 1 His parents are very proud | e |
| 2 Many people are fed up | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 3 New Yorkers are generally helpful | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 4 Full-time housewives may be dependent | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 5 My sister is obsessed | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 6 They said they were open | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 7 Maybe the younger staff can come up | <input type="checkbox"/> |
- _____ the idea of negotiating the contract.
 - _____ fashion magazines and buys two or three a week.
 - _____ some new ideas to make the office run more smoothly.
 - _____ tourists.
 - of his achievements at college.
 - _____ their spouses financially.
 - _____ the depressing stories in the news recently.

6 LISTENING

a 6.4 Listen to five people talking about obsessions. What are they obsessed with or addicted to?

- | | |
|---------|---------|
| 1 _____ | 4 _____ |
| 2 _____ | 5 _____ |
| 3 _____ | |

b Listen again and answer with the number of the speaker.

Who...?

- says that they would be even more obsessed if it weren't for their family
 - doesn't really think that they are obsessive
 - wasn't aware of the damage an obsession could cause
 - doesn't think that the obsession serves any purpose
 - says that the obsession started because of a family member
- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.74 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

7 READING

a Match the apps to the functions. Then read the article once to check the answers.

- | | |
|---------------|----------------------|
| 1 ■ Venmo | a getting a taxi |
| 2 ■ Instagram | b finding a video |
| 3 ■ Tinder | c making payments |
| 4 ■ Uber | d sending messages |
| 5 ■ Waze | e sharing photos |
| 6 ■ WhatsApp | f getting directions |

Six apps we couldn't live without

A few years ago, the most popular apps were casually addictive games that provided us with entertainment during our daily commute. Now there is a whole new generation of them that are influencing our offline life more and more each day. Here is a list of six of the apps we couldn't possibly live without today.

A Venmo Venmo is a free app that allows you to exchange payments with people you know via your smartphone, linking to your Facebook friends and email contacts, as well as your bank. People can request payments from you through the app that you can either approve or decline. You can also build up a pile of cash in your Venmo account, so that next time you head out to dinner with friends, it's easy to split the check or pay someone back.

B Instagram When it comes to sharing photos through our phones, most people prefer Instagram, the app bought by Facebook for $1 billion in late 2012. With 1 billion monthly active users sharing 100 million photos a day, Instagram has added a feature that gives users more control over who sees their photos. Instead of posting a photo to your entire network, you can send it to between one and 15 people, preventing strangers from viewing your pics without your knowledge.

C Tinder This matchmaking app lets users trawl through photos of other singles on their smartphone, swiping the ones they like to the right and those they don't to the left. If two people swipe each other to the right, Tinder notifies them of their "match". Tinder is reportedly used by more than one percent of the population in some countries and it has been suggested that the kids of the future will ask their parents which app they met in.

b Read the article again and choose the correct answer from the apps A–F. The apps may be chosen more than once.

Which app...?

- 1 ■ has caused a conflict with an existing business
- 2 ■ offers a service created using content from its users
- 3 ■ has a component that helps protect a user's privacy
- 4 ■ sends users a message when two things coincide
- 5 ■ gives friends or family an opportunity to ask you for a sum of money
- 6 ■ doesn't require you to register with a username
- 7 ■ appeals to users because it makes international communication cheaper
- 8 ■ only works in cities
- 9 ■ requires users to categorize images
- 10 ■ necessitates the involvement of an external organization
- 11 ■ can facilitate your daily commute
- 12 ■ allows users to select who can see their activity

c Look at the highlighted verbs and match them to the definitions below. Write the verbs in the base form.

- 1 search through a large amount of information _____
- 2 follow the movements of something _____
- 3 make something change direction _____
- 4 cause to work together _____
- 5 divide _____
- 6 move the fingers across a touch screen _____
- 7 upload something onto a web page _____
- 8 refuse _____

D Uber Uber is a ride-hailing app that finds a driver within your area and, assuming you're in a metropolis, can often send them to your doorstep within minutes. It was named tech company of the year in 2013 because of the changes it was likely to bring to our lives. Since then, however, transportation authorities have accused the company of operating an illegal taxi service, and legal action has been threatened.

E Waze This was the first app to successfully build up an enormous databank of maps and traffic reports through crowdsourcing. Waze has succeeded in creating a highly accurate navigation service by tracking the GPS coordinates of its users. It also diverts them away from traffic jams when enough of them report in that they're stuck in a jam.

F WhatsApp WhatsApp was the first of the messaging apps to offer a free texting service that synched with your cell number and address book so that you didn't have to register with a username. Founded in 2009, it now has 1.5 billion active users. The app's main advantage is that it can be used to avoid expensive texting charges when communicating with friends and colleagues overseas.

G permission, obligation, and necessity

V word formation: prefixes

P intonation and linking in exclamations

1 PRONUNCIATION

intonation and linking in exclamations

- a 7.1 Listen and check (✓) the phrases where the words are linked with a /w/ sound.
- | | |
|------------------|-------------------|
| 1 How awful! ✓ | 5 How ridiculous! |
| 2 How fantastic! | 6 How unkind! |
| 3 How exciting! | 7 How cool! |
| 4 How wonderful! | 8 How weird! |

- b Practice saying the exclamations, copying the rhythm and intonation.

- c Draw a line between the words that are linked.

- What an absolute disaster!
- What a tragic end!
- What a nice surprise!
- What a sad ending!
- What an awful thing to happen!
- What a horrible story!
- What a beautiful day!

- d 7.2 Listen and check. Practice saying the exclamations, copying the rhythm and intonation.

2 VOCABULARY word formation: prefixes

- a Complete the sentences with a word from the list with a negative prefix.

competent continued hospitable literate official personal ~~practical~~ rational

- High-heeled shoes are impractical for walking long distances.
- The climate on that island is so _____ that nothing can live there.
- Adults who were _____ used to sign their name with an X.
- He's very upset, so his behavior may be _____.
- I refuse to go that restaurant again because the staff is completely _____.
- I can't get new parts for my car because they've _____ that model.
- I hate big hotel chains because they are so _____.
- Rumor has it that she's going to resign, but the reports are _____.

- b Add the prefixes from the list to the bold words and make any other necessary changes to complete the sentences.

anti de ill mis out over pre re under up

- I completely misunderstood the instructions, and I answered two questions instead of one. understand
- Many countries have passed _____ laws because of the rise in tobacco-related illnesses. smoke
- We'll never go to back to that hotel. They tried to _____ us on our bill by $60. charge
- I _____ my Facebook status yesterday, but no one has commented on it. date
- Since many people are unable to attend today's meeting, it has been _____ for next Tuesday. schedule
- My boss's negative attitude to everything is very _____ for the staff. motivate
- The other team completely _____ us and we lost 6-0. play
- My mother's hair became _____ gray when she was only 35. mature
- He lost a lot of money because of the _____ investments he made. advise
- The organizers _____ how many people would attend, so there weren't enough chairs. estimate

3 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

It's health and safety gone mad!

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.69. Then complete the sentences with the past simple forms of the verbs.

banned beep calm cite confiscate grimace impose interfere limp reinforce

- 1 They banned teenagers from wearing hoodies in the shopping mall because they couldn't be identified.
- 2 My grandmother _____ into the room, supporting herself on her cane.
- 3 We went to the town hall to protest when the council _____ the new parking restrictions.
- 4 The teacher _____ my cell phone because I was playing with it in class.
- 5 She _____ her heavy workload as the reason for her resignation.
- 6 The recent loss to Italy _____ my belief that England will not qualify for the next World Cup.
- 7 When we first moved in, our neighbor's Wi-fi _____ with ours.
- 8 The player _____ in pain when the doctor touched his swollen ankle.
- 9 The new road design _____ the traffic by giving pedestrians and cyclists priority.
- 10 There was very little damage because the smoke detector _____ as soon as the fire started.

4 GRAMMAR

permission, obligation, and necessity

- a ~~Cross out~~ the modal verb that is NOT possible in the sentences.

- 1 We need to / We've got to / ~~We can~~ check out before 12, or the hotel will charge us for another night.
- 2 When we were children, we couldn't / shouldn't / weren't allowed to stay out late.
- 3 I should have / must have / ought to have packed some warmer clothes – I'm freezing!
- 4 You must not / aren't supposed to / don't have to walk dogs on this beach, but many people do.
- 5 Some of my friends couldn't / needn't / weren't able to attend our wedding because it was held abroad.
- 6 I must not / needn't / don't have to study tonight because my exams are over.
- 7 We ought to / We're allowed to / We'd better check on your mother this weekend. She hasn't been well.
- 8 We didn't need to / didn't have to / couldn't ring the doorbell because the door was open.
- 9 You can / should / ought to see a doctor about that cough.

- b Rewrite the sentences using the bold words.

- 1 It is compulsory for motorcyclists to wear a helmet. to
You have to wear a helmet on a motorcycle.
- 2 We regret buying such a big house. shouldn't
We _____ such a big house.
- 3 I couldn't wear jeans to work in my previous job. wasn't
I _____ jeans to work in my previous job.
- 4 Our teacher says we should always speak English in class, but not all of us do. are
We _____ in class, but not all of us do.
- 5 Don't be late. The class always starts on time. better
You _____ late. The class always starts on time.
- 6 We're going on vacation so we can't come to your wedding. won't
We _____ to your wedding because we're going on vacation.
- 7 The best thing to do would be to apply for a transfer to a different department. to
You really _____ for a transfer to a different department.
- 8 We took sandwiches, but they weren't necessary. taken
We _____ sandwiches.
- 9 You can't use cell phones in this train car. It _____ cell phones in this train car.

5 LISTENING

- a  7.3 Listen to an interview with Iris Dunham, graduate of a Waldorf School. In general, does she regard her education as a positive experience, a negative experience, or both positive and negative?
- b Listen again and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).
- 1 Waldorf Schools focus on the needs of the child rather than imparting information.
 - 2 Iris was not required to take any exams while she was at school.
 - 3 Today, she would not be permitted to travel to school in the way that she did in the past.
 - 4 She has very fond memories of her early school years because she was free to do what she wanted.
 - 5 She considers that she learned more about art at her school than she would have at any other.
 - 6 She regards the elementary stage of her education as much more effective than the high school stage.
- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.75 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

6 READING

- a Read the article and match the headings A–F with the stories 1–4. There are two headings you do not need to use.

- A Forbidden flowers
- B Too close to the ground
- C The end of candy
- D No celebrating
- E No more experiments
- F Putting your foot in it

- b Complete the article with a, b, or c.

- 1 a but b or c neither
- 2 a therefore b as c although
- 3 a However
b Actually
c Otherwise
- 4 a According to b As regards
c Despite
- 5 a must b can't c couldn't
- 6 a definitely
b continually c unlikely
- 7 a don't b do c didn't
- 8 a So b Besides
c Though

- c Look at the highlighted words and expressions and match them to the synonyms below.

- 1 careful

- 2 showing the opposite

- 3 a set of laws

- 4 in use

- 5 who has a position of power

Debunking health and safety myths

Lawmakers often pass legislation aimed at keeping the population safe. While many of the rules and regulations currently in effect have indeed been issued by well-meaning lawmakers, a number of myths abound. Here are some of the worst of them.

1 ____

Each year we hear of companies banning employees from decorating their offices for holidays like Valentine's Day for "health and safety" reasons, ¹ ____ requiring the work to be done by a "qualified" person. Such rules are rarely issued by governmental lawmakers, ² ____ it would make sense for managers to provide staff with step ladders to hang up decorations rather than expecting them to balance on wheelie chairs.

2 ____

Many years ago, a town briefly took down its hanging baskets over fears that old lamp posts would collapse. This was an excessively cautious reaction to a low risk. ³ ____, after quick checks, the hanging baskets were promptly replaced and have been on lamp posts in the town every year since. ⁴ ____ this, the story continues to be repeated and the danger is that someone in authority will believe it and take action.

3 ____

The idea that park benches ⁵ ____ be replaced because they are about 3 inches too low seems to have originated from a decision by one particular park manager; it has no basis in health and safety law at all. There are no such bench height requirements and inspectors will ⁶ ____ not be sent around measuring the benches at any point in the near future.

4 ____

Despite recent reports to the contrary, health and safety law does not ban staff from wearing sandals or flip-flops at work. It must be said, however, that slips, trips, and falls ⁷ ____ account for about 30 percent of all workplace accidents. ⁸ ____, if you work somewhere where the floor can't be kept dry or clean, then wearing shoes that fit well and have a good grip would be a better choice than flip-flops.

It is not hard to understand modern art.
If it hangs on a wall it's a painting, and if you can walk around it, it's a sculpture.
Tom Stoppard, British playwright

G verbs of the senses V art; color idioms P -ure

1 GRAMMAR verbs of the senses

a Complete the sentences with a suitable form of a verb from the list.

hear	look	not feel	not sound
see	seem	smell	taste

- I was told this was duck, but it tastes like chicken.
- We _____ your family last weekend – do we have to go again so soon?
- Rob, I _____ just _____ that you're leaving the company. Is it true?
- Urgh! It _____ as if someone burned popcorn in the microwave.
- Can we turn the heat on? It _____ very warm in here.
- When my son was born, he _____ exactly like my father.
- You _____ very well. Do you have a sore throat?
- The salesperson _____ to be ignoring us. Let's go somewhere else.

b Rewrite the sentences using the bold words.

- I don't think those players are very athletic. look
Those players don't look very athletic.
- Look! That waiter just dropped a tray full of glasses. see Did you _____ a tray full of glasses?
- It looks as if that man has lost something. seems
That man _____ something.
- I don't think that noise is a police siren. sound
That noise _____ a police siren.
- My cousin Rachel is the spitting image of my aunt. exactly
My cousin Rachel _____ my aunt.
- The baby was crying. John went to pick her up. heard
John _____, so he went to pick her up.
- We appear to be heading in the wrong direction. as
It _____ heading in the wrong direction.
- I can hear someone upstairs. like
It _____ there's someone upstairs.
- It smells like something's burning. smell
I _____ burning.

2 PRONUNCIATION -ure

a Circle the word in which -ure is pronounced differently.

- capture pleasure secure
- endure measure picture
- allure culture future
- impure nature obscure
- leisure sculpture sure
- furniture immature temperature

b 7.4 Listen and check. Practice saying the words.

3 VOCABULARY art

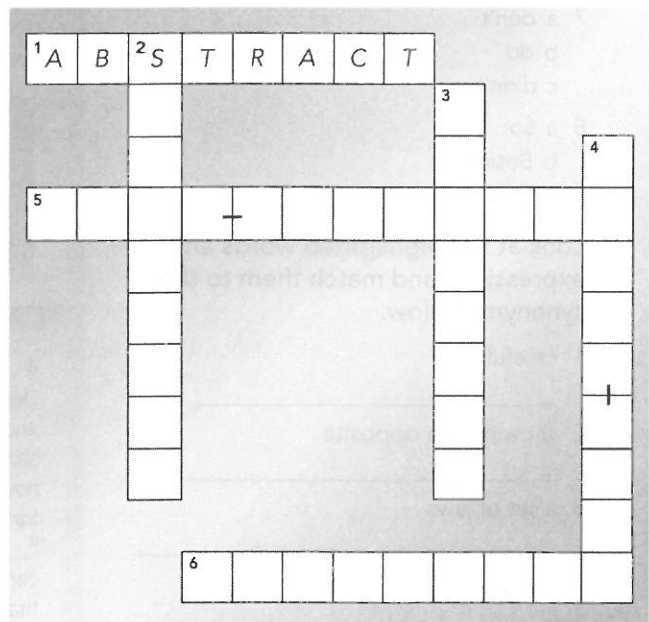

Complete the crossword.

Clues across →

- a painting that expresses the artist's ideas of people or things and is not a realistic representation
- a painting of an artist by the artist him / herself
- a painting of a view of the countryside

Clues down ↓

- a figure or object made from wood, stone, etc.
- a painting of a person
- a painting of flowers or fruit arranged on a table

4 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

The Secret of The Forest

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.73. Then complete the time expression verbs.

- 1 The gallery is currently being refurbished, but the work is due to finish by the end of the year.
- 2 The exhibition opens in a c _____ of hours, so let's have lunch and then come back.
- 3 They married in 2005, and about a year l _____ they had their first child.
- 4 Fortunately, the thief was caught w _____ days of the robbery, when he tried to sell the stolen paintings to another gallery.
- 5 Rhythm and blues music didn't become popular u _____ the Fifties.
- 6 The performer was able to memorize a pack of playing cards in just a f _____ minutes. It was really amazing to watch.

5 VOCABULARY color idioms

Complete the sentences with a color idiom containing the word in bold.

- 1 The new multi-story parking garage is an expensive white elephant; nobody uses it. white
- 2 The artist's comment had nothing to do with the real interpretation of the picture; it was a _____ red
- 3 Nobody knew that she was thinking of leaving, so her resignation came from _____ blue
- 4 Some people see politics _____, but most situations aren't that simple. black
- 5 The taxation of online companies is a _____, because it isn't clear where the money should be paid. gray
- 6 You have to deal with a lot of _____ if you want to set up your own business, but there are lots of experts to help you. red
- 7 He was arrested for buying and selling stolen goods on the _____. black
- 8 I don't really like her paintings at all, but I told her a _____ so as not to hurt her feelings. She's quite sensitive! white

6 LISTENING

- a 7.5 Listen to a radio program about Vladimir Tretchikoff's painting The Chinese Girl. Who did better as a result of the painting, the artist or the model?
 - 1 How old was Monika Pon-su-san when she modeled for the painting?
 - 2 Where exactly was Monika when she met Tretchikoff?
 - 3 Had she heard of him before? Why?
 - 4 What is the difference between the gown Monika was wearing and the one in the painting?
 - 5 What did Monika think about while Tretchikoff was painting her?
 - 6 How much did Tretchikoff pay Monika for modeling for him?
 - 7 What didn't she like about the painting?
 - 8 What happened to Monika after her encounter with Tretchikoff?
 - 9 How did Monika feel when she heard the price the painting fetched at auction?
- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.75 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

7 READING

a Read the article once and check (✓) the best title.

- 1 The life and works of Henri Matisse
- 2 Five stars for Matisse's cut-outs
- 3 Art award for gallery

b Five paragraphs have been removed from the article. Read it again and match A–F to the blanks 1–5. There is one paragraph you do not need to use.

- A For the cut-outs were never planned, as such. Matisse developed them late in life not as an end in itself, but as a working method for trying out different compositional and color arrangements for the illustrations to his book Jazz (1943–46). As he realized the importance of what he had done, the cut-outs evolved into a new art form.
- B In the process, new compositions were created. The works that now give us so much pleasure are a step removed from the ones that Matisse made.
- C What makes the exhibition outstanding is that the curators have placed Matisse's creative process at its heart. Starting with the works of art as they exist today, they go back in time to look at the methods and materials he used at each stage in their transformation from the raw materials of paint, paper, and scissors to the dazzling result before us.
- D Today, when we look at Oceania, the Sea (1946) Matisse's representation of a silent, silvery underwater world teeming with unconventional sharks and jellyfish, coral and starfish, we marvel at the elegance of white shapes placed on a soft beige-colored canvas edged with lapping waves. But can you imagine if those shapes moved ever so slightly as we passed in front of them?
- E Matisse had long been interested in the theme of the artist's studio and the decorative interior. But an even more direct forerunner of the astonishing rooms we see in photographs of his studio in Nice in the early 1950s is Harmony in Red, a painting of 1908 now in the Hermitage.
- F The use of pins meant that the bits of paper could be moved or rotated as the artist wished. In one of the larger cut-outs, for example, conservation scientists have counted as many as 1,000 pin pricks, indicating that Matisse must have drastically altered the composition as he worked.

c Look at the highlighted verbs and try to figure out their meaning. Check in your dictionary.

Tate Modern must know that with "Matisse: the Cut-Outs" they have a winner. I guarantee that this exhibition of the color-saturated works Henri Matisse made by cutting out shapes from pre-painted sheets of paper during the last 17 years of his life will be among the most popular ever held in the UK.

1 ____ The joy of the cut-outs is their simplicity. They are made out of modest materials using basic techniques, and in them Matisse reduces art to the essentials of color, shape, and pattern. Yet precisely because they offer us instant visual gratification, it is easy to forget how innovative they actually are.

2 ____ The process starts by cutting out shapes from sheets of paper that have already been painted in colors chosen by the artist. These cut-out shapes are then pinned (but not glued) to a support, which might be a sheet of paper, a wall, or a canvas. 3 ____

Because the shapes of palm leaves, mermaids, parrots, and coral reefs were not fixed permanently to a flat surface, the cut-outs are much more physical than mediums such as painting and collage. It changes your understanding to learn that in their original form they might flutter slightly in a breeze, gaining a sense of movement.

4 ____ Matisse could only use pins during the first phases of his work. Of necessity, the next step had to be to glue the paper shapes to the support in order to preserve it. For purely practical reasons, then, Matisse had the cut-out shapes taken off the wall, traced, and glued onto canvas.

5 ____ So congratulations are in order for the curators of Tate Modern. Their beautifully realized exhibition changes our understanding of what Matisse achieved in the cut-outs. From now on we'll see them not simply as delightful arrangements of shapes and colors, but as works of art that represent the grand finale of an artistic genius.

1 LOOKING AT LANGUAGE get

Complete the get expressions with the words in the list.

age kind mood number ~~published~~ way work

- 1 Roald Dahl got his first children's book published in 1943.
- 2 I was taking a photo of the view when somebody got in the _____.
- 3 You might get the printer to _____ better if you clean it.
- 4 You get a different _____ of look if you use pastel colors.
- 5 If you like him, why don't you just get his _____ and give him a call?
- 6 I hope to have saved enough money by the time I get to retirement _____.
- 7 We put on some music to get in the _____ for the party.

2 READING

a Read the article and answer the questions.

- 1 Why has the art world taken an interest in Anna and Elena Balbusso?
- 2 At which point in their lives did they go their separate ways?
- 3 Why did they decide to start working together again?
- 4 What is special about the works published by the Folio Society?
- 5 What is the function of a "handmaid" in the novel The Handmaid's Tale?
- 6 What appealed to Anna and Elena most about the novel?
- 7 What are the most striking features of their illustrations for the novel?
- 8 Which prize did their illustration Pregnant win?

b Underline five words or phrases you don't know. Use your dictionary to look up their meaning and pronunciation.

Anna+Elena=Balbusso

In the solitude of the studio, the lone artist hunches over a canvas to add the final brush strokes to a portrait. Or at least that is how these professionals are commonly perceived. Yet a pair of Italian sisters has recently debunked this myth by producing a series of strikingly beautiful pictures as a team. It may help that illustrators Anna and Elena Balbusso are identical twins, and the fact that they are able to create such perfect works as a duo has the art world talking.

The sisters began drawing together as children, when they would get a hold of pencils and colored markers and cover sheets of squared notebook paper with pictures. They drew their way through primary school and after secondary school, they were lucky enough to both attend a special high school that was dedicated to art: the Istituto Statale d'Arte in their hometown, Udine. After both gained their diplomas, they went on to specialize in painting and art history at the Academy of Fine Arts of Brera in Milan.

At this point in their careers, the sisters decided to branch out on their own, and spent the summers working separately as graphic designers with studios and advertising agencies in Milan. Upon graduation, they had intended to continue this path but a crisis in advertising and graphics meant that there was little work available. Consequently, they decided to return to the medium of their youth – drawing – and independently began to visit publishing houses in Milan. Soon, however, the editors began to comment on how confusing it was to first receive one sister with her portfolio and then an hour later the other. To avoid the confusion, the sisters created a single identity and since 1998, they have been working together under the signature Anna+Elena=Balbusso.

During the years of their partnership, the sisters have been rewarded with a number of commissions, including several from the prestigious Folio Society, a privately owned publisher that produces special hardback editions of classic fiction and non-fiction books illustrated by professional artists. Undoubtedly one of their greatest works to date has been their award-winning illustrations of Margaret Atwood's classic novel The Handmaid's Tale. Set in the future in the fictional Republic of Gilead, where women have lost all of their rights and are only valued for their ability to reproduce, the story explores the fate of Offred, a "handmaid" employed by a military commander and his wife to bear children for them.

The two sisters were the perfect choice for this particular book, not only because of their talent, but also because their own story is reflected in the main character's struggle to find and maintain her own identity in a circle dominated by men. To create the right atmosphere, they chose a futuristic tone with accentuated perspectives and strong light. They used few colors, with a prevalence of red, black, and white. The result was a series of haunting images that emphasize the alienation of the main character and reflect the regimented society in which she lives. The Balbusso sisters' picture Pregnant from the series was chosen by the Society of Illustrators as the best illustration of 2012 and awarded a gold medal. Which only goes to show that in the world of art, sometimes two heads can be better than one.

G gerunds and infinitives V health and medicine; similes P /ə/

1 VOCABULARY health and medicine

a Complete the puzzle to discover the hidden word.

- 1 A strip of cloth used for tying around the injured part of a person's body to protect or support it.
- 2 Become unconscious when not enough blood is going to your brain.
- 3 A special photograph that shows bones or organs in the body.
- 4 A doctor who is trained to perform operations.
- 5 The layer of tissue that covers the body.
- 6 A common illness affecting the nose and throat that makes you cough and sneeze.
- 7 A sudden serious illness when a blood vessel in the brain bursts or is blocked, which can cause death or the loss of the ability to move or to speak clearly.
- 8 A purple mark that appears on the skin if you fall or are hit by something.
- 9 A medical condition of the chest that makes breathing difficult.

Hidden word: _____

b Complete the words.

- 1 Peter's doctor sent him to a heart spcialist to find out what was causing the pain in his chest.
- 2 I didn't dry my hands before unplugging my phone charger, so I got an e _____ sh _____.
- 3 I got a bl _____ on my little toe when I wore my new sneakers.
- 4 My sister hasn't had seafood since she had an a _____ r _____ after eating some shrimp on vacation one time.
- 5 I thought I had a cold, but when I got a temperature, I realized it must be the fl _____.
- 6 The doctor prescribed a _____ to clear up my throat infection.
- 7 Matt had eight st _____ in his eyebrow when he cut it playing baseball.
- 8 My grandfather was told to take it easy after he had his first h _____ a _____.
- 9 My son must be allergic to eggs because he breaks out in a r _____ every time he eats them.
- 10 Alex is in bed with a nasty bout of f _____ p _____ after eating some spoiled mayonnaise.

2 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

What doctors won't do...

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.76. Then complete the sentences.

- 1 When it comes to living longer, not everyone would agree that the advantages outweigh the disadvantages.
- 2 My reluctance to use Botox has n _____ to do with the cost; it's the fact that it's a highly poisonous substance that worries me.
- 3 People underestimate the r _____ of self-medicating; you could be taking some pills with harmful side-effects while the real problem is getting worse.
- 4 It makes a doctor's h _____ sink when whole families make one appointment during which they all expect to be seen.
- 5 Don't take my w _____ for it – read this article. It says that honey and lemon is the best cure for a cough.

3 GRAMMAR gerunds and infinitives a Complete the sentences with the correct gerund or infinitive form of the verbs in the list.

become complain forget learn photograph program set up sniff take wear

- 1 Ryan apologized for having forgotten my name the day before.
- 2 My parents never record TV shows because they don't know how _____ their DVD player to record in advance.
- 3 You seem _____ a lot. Do you have a cold?
- 4 Many celebrities say they are fed up with _____ every time they leave the house.
- 5 It's no good _____ about your back. Why don't you make an appointment to see the doctor?
- 6 What was the last animal _____ extinct?
- 7 I know Eve wanted _____ a new outfit to the wedding last week, but she couldn't afford one.
- 8 There's no point in _____ antibiotics if you have a virus.
- 9 A couple I know had a plan _____ their own business, but it fell through when they split up.
- 10 _____ several languages before, I'm finding my new language class very easy.

b Complete the sentences with three words. Use the correct gerund or infinitive form of the verbs in parentheses.

- 1 I'd thoroughly recommend this resort to families with young children. There is plenty for them to do. (do)
- 2 We hope _____ off the mortgage on our house by the time we retire. (pay)
- 3 I would love _____ my paternal grandfather, but he died before I was born. (meet)
- 4 Our vacation in the French Riviera was kind of a disappointment because it wasn't warm _____ in the sea. (swim)
- 5 How frustrating for them _____ the game in the last minute! They must have felt horrible. (lose)
- 6 It is very common for employees _____ when their company is doing badly. (downsize)
- 7 A friend of mine is hoping _____ for a TV cooking show. (choose)
- 8 Most children enjoy _____ the zoo by their parents. (take)
- 9 _____ book first really helped me to understand the plot in the movie. (read)
- 10 There's _____ in our town in the evenings – not even a restaurant. (go)
- 11 There's _____ your sister to the wedding. We know she won't come. (invite)

4 LEXIS IN CONTEXT Medical advice

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.79. Complete the sentences with the correct form of make or do.

- 1 I can't make up my mind whether to have surgery to correct my eyesight or not.
- 2 Adam's wife is the one who _____ the decisions in their relationship.
- 3 Can using herbal remedies _____ you any harm?
- 4 If everybody recycled their household waste, it would really _____ a difference.
- 5 Doctors say that a brisk walk _____ you good if you spend most of the day sitting down.
- 6 He _____ the recommended warm-up exercises, but he still managed to injure himself.
- 7 _____ friends is easier when you're young because you're usually surrounded by your peers.

5 VOCABULARY similes

Complete the sentences with a verb or adjective.

- 1 We bought a new laser printer. It works like a dream.
- 2 My brother is as _____ as a mule. He refuses to stop the car and ask for directions.
- 3 What's wrong? You're as _____ as a sheet!
- 4 My new dog is as _____ as gold. It never bites or chews the furniture.
- 5 Your sister sings _____ an angel. Her voice is so sweet and clear.
- 6 I dropped my knife and as _____ as a flash the waiter brought me a new one.
- 7 I usually _____ like a log, but yesterday I had a really bad night.
- 8 Alice is as _____ as a rail. I don't know how she manages it considering how much she eats!
- 9 Our neighbor always has the TV on really loud. He's as _____ as a post.
- 10 The waiter's walked straight past us several times. He must be as _____ as a bat.

6 PRONUNCIATION /ə/

a 8.1 Listen to the sentences and circle the unstressed words with the /ə/ sound.

- 1 The treatment cost a lot more than we'd thought.
- 2 The surgeon arrived as soon as the patient was ready.
- 3 It was too late for a doctor, so we went to the emergency room.
- 4 The specialist suggested I went on a diet for a while.
- 5 I'm allergic to shrimp, so I never eat them.

b Look at the stressed words in a and underline any syllables with the /ə/ sound.

c Practice saying the sentences.

7 READING

- a Read the article once. Which phrase do you think is missing from the title?
- 1 If all else fails, try homeopathy
 - 2 Homeopathy kills
 - 3 Steer clear of homeopathy

say scientists

Homeopathy, the alternative therapy created in 1796 by Samuel Hahnemann, and now widely used all over the world, is based on the belief that the body can be stimulated to heal itself. A central principle of the "treatment" is that "like cures like" – in other words, a substance that causes certain symptoms can also help to remove those symptoms. Medicines used in homeopathy are created by heavily diluting in water the substance in question and subsequently shaking the liquid vigorously. They can then be made into tablets and pills. Practitioners believe that the more a substance is diluted in this way, the greater its power to treat symptoms.

However, in a new study, a working committee of medical experts at Australia's National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC) has claimed that homeopathic medicines are only as effective as placebos at treating illnesses. Their research, involving the analysis of numerous reports from homeopathy interest groups and the public, concluded that there is no reliable evidence that homeopathy works. Moreover, researchers uncovered no fewer than 68 ailments that homeopathic remedies had failed to treat, including asthma, sleep disturbances, colds and flu, burns, and arthritis.

As a result of the findings, the NHMRC is urging health workers to inform their patients to be wary of anecdotal evidence that appears to support the effectiveness of homeopathic medicine. "It is not possible to tell whether a health treatment is effective or not simply by considering the experience of one individual or the beliefs of a health practitioner," says the report. Experts believe that most illnesses said to have been cured by homeopathy would be cured by the body on its own without taking the medicine. Apparently, many illnesses are short-lived by their very nature which often leads to people believing that it is the homeopathy that cures them.

A more serious matter is highlighted by Professor John Dwyer of the University of New South Wales. As an immunologist, he is concerned about the homeopathic vaccinations on offer for diseases such as HIV, tuberculosis, and malaria, none of which he considers effective. According to Professor Dwyer, the concept that homeopathic vaccinations are just as good as traditional vaccinations is a delusion, and those who believe it are failing to protect themselves and their children.

- b Read the article again and choose the best answers.
- 1 According to the article, homeopathic medicines are...
 - a prepared in the same way
 - b made up of many ingredients
 - c suitable for a wide range of symptoms
 - d available only in liquid form
 - 2 The Australian study reveals that homeopathy is...
 - a extremely popular with the public
 - b helpful in the case of respiratory infections
 - c ineffective in treating many illnesses
 - d only of interest to certain groups of people
 - 3 People tend to believe in homeopathy because of...
 - a ads displayed in health centers
 - b positive feedback from a small number of people
 - c advice they get from the medical profession
 - d the results of research into alternative therapies
 - 4 In Professor John Dwyer's view, homeopathic vaccinations are...
 - a not worth bothering with
 - b often harmful
 - c ridiculously expensive
 - d better than nothing
- c Look at the highlighted words and phrases connected with health and medicine and try to figure out what they mean. Check in your dictionary.

8 LISTENING

- a 8.2 Listen to a radio program about American teenager, Ashlyn Blocker. What are the symptoms of her medical condition and what is its cause?
- b Listen again and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).
- 1 Ashlyn's condition isn't life-threatening.
 - 2 She sometimes hurts herself when she is making a meal.
 - 3 When she was born, her behavior wasn't normal.
 - 4 Doctors diagnosed her condition when she was around two years old.
 - 5 The staff at her school weren't very co-operative.
 - 6 When she was a child, her parents managed to prevent her from hurting herself.
 - 7 Publicity has helped her cause immensely.
 - 8 Her condition has been caused by an alteration in more than one of her genes.
- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.76 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

1 VOCABULARY travel and tourism

a Complete the verbs.

- 1 During her trip to Kenya, Becky went on a safari.
- 2 We had to c our vacation when my husband lost his job – we just couldn't afford it.
- 3 We're going to the mountains for the weekend to g away from it all.
- 4 They're going to p their honeymoon until the bride's mother has had her operation.
- 5 I prefer to w around the sites on my own rather than listening to a tour guide.
- 6 We decided to e our stay by two nights because we were having such a good time.
- 7 They s off early to avoid the traffic.
- 8 We're broke this year, so we're going to g camping instead of staying in a hotel.
- 9 As soon as we'd checked into the hotel, we hurried downtown to h the stores.
- 10 If you're feeling tired, maybe you should take a few weeks off to r your batteries.
- 11 The best thing about going abroad is being able to s the local cuisine.
- 12 For me, the point of a vacation is to ch out and forget about work for a while.
- 13 You need to spend at least a week in Mexico City to really s up the atmosphere.

b Replace the bold words and phrases with the words and phrases in the list.

breathtaking dull lively off the beaten track overcrowded overrated picturesque remote spoiled tacky ~~touristy~~ unspoiled

- 1 The town is full of hotels and stores; it's too designed to attract visitors for me. touristy
- 2 Some of our coastal areas have been totally changed for the worse by over-development. _____
- 3 There's no Wi-fi signal because the town is very far from places where other people live. _____
- 4 Don't bother going into that store; all of the souvenirs are very cheap and badly made. _____
- 5 There are some beaches in the north that are beautiful because they have not been changed.

- 6 Our vacation was really boring last year – nothing interesting happened. _____
- 7 Singapore is a vibrant island, famous for its food and great shopping. _____
- 8 I think the Seaview Hotel is not nearly as good as the reviews said – we were very disappointed. _____
- 9 Torremolinos in southern Spain is no longer the old-fashioned, pretty little fishing village it was in the 1950s. _____
- 10 We rarely go to the beach in August because it's always too full of people. _____
- 11 When we eventually reached the top of the mountain, the view was absolutely spectacular. _____
- 12 We wanted to rent a quiet cabin away from where people usually go. _____

2 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

Are you a tourist or a traveler?

Can you remember the phrasal verbs from the article on Student Book p.81? Choose the right answer.

- 1 I'm...going to the beach for vacation. Let's do something else this year.
a sick about b sick of c sick with
- 2 We packed our suitcases two days before our flight to Tokyo so that we wouldn't have to...at the last minute.
a rush around b rush out c rush into
- 3 There's a big sale at Macy's. Let's go today so we don't...on any great bargains!
a miss out b miss for c miss over
- 4 Jane...her principals on being environmentally aware when she bought a huge pickup truck instead of a small electric car.
a sold on b sold off c sold out
- 5 Let's not...going to the beach this weekend until we check the weather forecast.
a rule out of b rule out c rule over
- 6 You've been all over the world! What's left on your bucket list of places to...? a check up b check into c check off
- 7 Rob doesn't...fancy cars or houses. He just enjoys the simple things in life.
a care in b care to c care about

3 GRAMMAR

expressing future plans and arrangements

- a Circle the correct form. Check (✓) if both are possible.
- 1 From now on, I'm going to save / about to save my money instead of spending it all on clothes.
 - 2 Our plane takes off / is taking off in three quarters of an hour.
 - 3 The bus is to leave / is going to leave soon. I'd better get on and get a seat.
 - 4 Do you eat / Will you be eating in the hotel restaurant tonight, sir?
 - 5 My nephew is due to start / is starting college in August.
 - 6 I won't be driving / I'm not to drive to work next week because my car will be at the garage.
 - 7 The neighbors have invited us over tonight because they're having / going to have a party.
 - 8 The President and her family are to visit / are going to visit Brazil, Chile, and Peru next month.
 - 9 Sorry, but I'm about to go / I go into a meeting. Can I call you back in half an hour?
- b Complete the second sentence so that it means the same as the first using the bold words.
- 1 Anna intends to have an early night tonight. is Anna is going to have an early night tonight.
 - 2 We expect the flight to land in about ten minutes. due
The flight _____ in about ten minutes.
 - 3 May I ask who is picking me up from the train station? be
Who _____ from the train station?
 - 4 The managing director is going to retire soon. about
The managing director _____.
 - 5 I'm catching the 12:15 bus to Chicago tomorrow. at My bus to Chicago _____ 12:15 tomorrow.
 - 6 The play is going to start very soon. about
The play _____.
 - 7 I have arranged to take part in a half-marathon next Saturday. taking
I _____ in a half-marathon next Saturday.
 - 8 They are going to hold the presidential election on November 6th. to
The presidential election _____ on November 6th.

4 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

Christmas getaway crippled by storms

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.82. Then complete the sentences.

- 1 The plane looked as if it was going to land, but then it shot back up in the air.
- 2 The captain said the lights would be turned back on when we had gained sufficient h_____.
- 3 It was very stormy when we flew to Denver, so the flight was b_____.
- 4 After such a long delay, the passengers were r_____ when they boarded the plane at last.
- 5 We flew into thick cloud as we were a_____ Chicago O'Hare.
- 6 The plane c_____ the airport until the pilot was given permission to land.
- 7 My parents are o_____ to Greece tomorrow and are really excited.
- 8 We were advised to keep our seat belts fastened in case we hit some t_____.
- 9 The flight arrived so late that we faced the d_____ of whether to spend the night in the airport or pay for a taxi to our hotel.
- 10 The gale-force w_____ on the coast caused serious damage last night.

5 PRONUNCIATION homophones

8.3 Listen to the sentences and circle the right spelling of the words you hear in the sentence.

- | | | | |
|--|----------|-------------|----------|
| 1 <input checked="" type="radio"/> a board | b bored | 6 a brake | b break |
| 2 a caught | b cot | 7 a sight | b site |
| 3 a fair | b fare | 8 a peace | b piece |
| 4 a peer | b pier | 9 a suite | b sweet |
| 5 a wait | b weight | 10 a cereal | b serial |

6 READING

- a Read the article once and check (✓) the best summary.
- 1 Career breaks to travel are usually amazing experiences, but you may put your job at risk.
 - 2 Career breaks to travel sound like a good idea, but are often not worth it.
 - 3 Most people who take career breaks to travel do not regret their decision.

The truth about taking a career break to travel

They say that travel broadens the mind, an adage that implies that the more we see of the world, the better. Yet once we get a foot on the career ladder, most of us put this idea in the back of our minds. ¹ _____ But does taking a break to travel really have such a negative effect on your career?

Diving enthusiast Russ Brooks found that it did not. When he was 36, Russ took a career break of 11 months, which took him to 16 different countries. ² _____ "The break showed that I was an independent thinker and willing to take risks to succeed," he says. "Nothing like a few stories of traveling in the developing world to show you can cope with anyone and any situation." Contrary to what our society says, Russ was indeed employable.

Not only was Russ successful in his job hunt, but the break helped him to get his career back on the right track. "My time away gave me time to unplug and recharge, see the world in an incredibly different light," he says. "It allowed me the time to step back and think about what was truly important to me. When I returned, I was inspired not to settle until I had found work that matched my core values." ³ _____

Far from having a negative impact on your career, taking a break to travel can actually increase your prospects when presented in the right way. Heather Baker, an HR professional in Chicago, advises on how to best explain the time away. "Think about this from the employer's point of view. ⁴ _____ Include it on your résumé and share the details of when and why you took the break, as well as the result. If you are enthusiastic and positive about the experience, your passion will shine through and excite your potential employers as well."

The main reason why travel improves a person's job prospects is that it can help them stand out in a crowd. ⁵ _____ Mitchel Samuelson was surprised by his interview experiences after the six months he spent traveling. "All the companies I interviewed with, the first topic we discussed was my career break and traveling, as it was either a common interest or they were envious and/or interested in where I'd gone."

To sum up, then, it appears that the consequences of taking a career break to travel are nothing but positive. These breaks often provide people with better opportunities on their return, and on top of that, they can lead to more clarity and job satisfaction. ⁶ _____ So, now that you know that traveling will not destroy your career, you can start planning your next career break. Bon voyage!

- b Read the article again and match the missing sentences A–H to the blanks 1–6. There are two sentences you do not need to use.

- A On his return, it only took him three or four months to find employment.
- B As a side benefit, it allows you to see the world before you retire.
- C Long-term travel emphasizes a person's uniqueness and lets them be noticed – in a good way.
- D Most people cite fear of change, financial concerns, and lack of stability as excuses not to quit their job and head out to see the world.
- E In many cases they don't know what they want, so they stay.
- F After his sense of community was re-energized during his career break, Russ came back to become the CEO of a social impact media company.
- G We all fantasize about it: quitting our jobs, hopping on a plane, and heading out to see the world.
- H They want to know your career path and how this career break fits into that.

- c Look at the highlighted words and phrases and try to figure out their meaning. Check in your dictionary.

7 LISTENING

- a 8.4 Listen to Moira, who lives in the US, describing a disastrous trip. How long did it take her to get home? Check (✓) the right answer.

- 1 eight hours
- 2 twelve hours
- 3 fourteen hours
- 4 three days

- b Listen again and answer the questions.

- 1 What was unusual about the weather that day?
- 2 How far is Moira's home from her office?
- 3 Who offered to give Moira a ride home?
- 4 Why had so many drivers parked at the side of the road?
- 5 What were some of the people walking along the road wearing?
- 6 What problems did they have between 5:30 and 6:45 a.m.?
- 7 Where did Moira tell the driver to drop her off?
- 8 Where did Moira walk to avoid falling over?
- 9 How did Moira get down the hill leading to her house?
- 10 What time was it when Moira eventually got home?

- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.77 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

1 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

In defense of not liking animals

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.87. Then complete the sentences with a verb or adjective from the list.

adores averse care content live skeptical

- My classmate says she loves animals, but she's not averse to eating them!
- My aunt _____ cats; she has six of them.
- I am _____ to have a cat in the house, so long as it doesn't scratch the furniture.
- Unfortunately there are people who _____ very little about how farm animals are treated.
- At first I was _____ about eating tofu, but now I've decided that I really like it.
- My son wants a turtle. I can _____ with that, as long as he agrees to clean the tank every week.

2 VOCABULARY animal matters

a Complete the puzzle to discover the hidden word.

- A young sheep.
- The noise made by a mouse.
- The noise made by a horse.
- The hard outer part of a snail.
- A young hen.
- Young cows.
- The place where a canary is kept.
- The sharp curved nails on the end of a lion's paw.

Hidden word: _____

b Circle the word that is different. What animal do the other three words describe?

- foal hooves roar stable horse
- bark horns kennel puppy _____
- fur nest twitter wings _____
- beak kitten meow paws _____
- fins grunt tail tank _____
- grunt hooves tail twitter _____

c Complete the sentences.

- In some countries, veal calves are kept in inhumane conditions in wooden crates where they cannot turn around.
- Zoos today obtain animals br_____ in c_____, instead of catching them in the wild.
- When the cosmetics testing laboratory opened, animal r_____ a_____ gathered outside the building to protest.
- In many countries, rabbits and deer are h_____ for sp_____.
- Orangutans are one of the most en_____ sp_____ in the world.
- The World Wildlife Fund is a ch_____ that aims to pr_____ animals and the en_____.
- Coyotes l_____ in the w_____ in many parts of North America.
- In the past, animals were sometimes tr_____ cr_____ in circuses.

3 GRAMMAR ellipsis

a Match the sentence halves. Check (✓) the sentences where you don't need to repeat they in a-i.

- | | |
|--|-------------------------------------|
| 1 They tried the soup, but | <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |
| 2 The men were whistling while | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 3 They'll have to get a visa before | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 4 The neighbors were green with envy when | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 5 They hurried to the gate and | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 6 The kids were moaning because | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 7 They chatted for a while, and then | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 8 They only realized the painting was a fake after | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 9 My parents either have lunch at home or | <input type="checkbox"/> |

- a they saw our beautiful new car.
- b they had bought it.
- c they turned off the light and went to sleep.
- d they worked.
- e they can travel there.
- f ~~they didn't like it.~~
- g they boarded the plane.
- h they eat out.
- i they didn't want to do their homework.

b Circle the correct modal or auxiliary verb.

- 1 Dan hasn't been camping before, but his friends do / have / were.
- 2 My brother said he wasn't coming on vacation with us this year, but I think he was / might / does.
- 3 Very few people on my street recycle their trash, but we always are / will / do.
- 4 I know you haven't apologized yet, but I really think you did / should / have.
- 5 Everyone said I'd win the prize, but I knew I wouldn't / haven't / didn't.
- 6 They thought they'd be able to come to our wedding but, in fact, they wouldn't / couldn't / shouldn't.
- 7 Jessica gives the impression of being very confident, but actually she can't / isn't / wasn't.
- 8 Most people weren't paying attention, but Andy did / was / has.
- 9 My best friend said she'd come dancing with me tonight, but now she says she wouldn't / hadn't / won't.

c Complete the mini-dialogues with a suitable word

- 1 A Will we be going away in August as usual?
B I imagine so. Unless something comes up.
- 2 A I suppose we should get started on our work.
B I guess _____. The deadline is in two days.
- 3 A Will you be joining us for dinner on Sunday?
B We'd like _____, but we can't.
- 4 A Do you think you'll get a pay raise this year?
B I suspect _____. We lost a lot of money last year.
- 5 A Will your parents be at home this evening?
B I assume _____. They don't usually go out.
- 6 A Why did you buy that hideous green hat?
B My friend persuaded me _____.
- 7 A Can I have a refund for this coat, please?
B I'm afraid _____. We don't give refunds for items bought on sale.
- 8 A Did you report the incident to the police?
B No, our lawyer advised us not _____.

4 PRONUNCIATION

auxiliary verbs and to

- a Read the dialogue and underline the auxiliaries or to when you think they are stressed.

- A Do you know where you're going on vacation yet?
B No, I don't. I'd love to go on a safari, but my sister doesn't want to.
A She doesn't like animals, does she?
B She does like animals – she has three cats. But she doesn't want to go on a safari.
A Where does she want to go, then? Doesn't she want to see lions in the wild? I'd love to.
B So would I. And so would my classmate. But she really doesn't like camping. Neither do I if I'm being honest.

- b 9.1 Listen and check. Practice the dialogue.

5 LISTENING

- a 9.2 Listen to five people talking about how they are similar to their pets. Match the speakers to five of the animals in the box.

cat	dog	goldfish	horse
lizard	mouse	parrot	rabbit

- 1 Speaker 1 _____
- 2 Speaker 2 _____
- 3 Speaker 3 _____
- 4 Speaker 4 _____
- 5 Speaker 5 _____

- b Listen again and answer the questions. Write the number of the speaker.

Which speaker...?

- A says that they and their pet have developed simultaneously
 - B likes the way their pet behaves towards another person
 - C believes that having a pet has changed them
 - D thinks that pets' personalities change according to the owners they have had
 - E admits they have gestures that they picked up from their pet
- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.77 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

6 READING

- a Read the article once. Which of these benefits of having a pet are NOT mentioned in the text?
- 1 They oblige their owners to exercise.
 - 2 They protect their owners from burglars.
 - 3 They help owners get over the death of a partner.
 - 4 They can help elderly owners who are disabled.
 - 5 They motivate their owners to look after themselves.
 - 6 They provide an opportunity to make friends.
- b Five sentences have been removed from the article. Read it again and match the sentences A–F to the blanks 1–5. There is one sentence you do not need to use.

- A Among 200 subjects, she found that symptoms of distress including uncontrolled tearfulness and feelings of hopelessness and helplessness were all lowered among pet owners.
- B There are strong economic reasons for us as a society to do our best to encourage old people to keep pets.
- C The benefits of animal companionship for older people are now well documented; it is the practicalities that often prove the stumbling block.
- D Self-care is often tied in with pet care, which is especially important for those who live alone.”
- E His name is Ollie, he came to them after the death of his 81-year-old owner and they already “love him to pieces.”
- F We have no way of knowing whether animals are actually sympathetic, but they respond to changes in behavior and body language in a way that gives comfort.”

- c Look at the highlighted words and phrases. What do you think they mean? Check in your dictionary.

You're never too old to have a pet

When Anthony and Jacqueline Rich's Yorkshire terrier Monty died last November at the age of 14, the couple, who are in their sixties and have had dogs for four decades of married life, were devastated. Today there is another Yorkie at their home in Looe, Cornwall.

¹ ____ It is a simple enough equation — bereaved owner plus bereaved pet equals comfort and new joy for both parties — but one that could hold the key to much human and animal happiness.

² ____ This month Dr. June McNicholas, a health psychologist and senior research fellow at Warwick University, will embark on a study which aims to identify those factors that may prevent the elderly from keeping pets and which suggests possible solutions.

“Old people with pets are generally more active and alert,” she says. “Obviously, walking a dog is good exercise and can also be a way of preserving social contacts or making new friendships, but even just getting up and down to see to the cat or going to the shops for food is better than nothing. Research has also found that those who have animals tend to keep their homes warmer in winter and to feed themselves more regularly.” ³ ____

In an earlier project McNicholas studied the role of animals in helping people widowed after long marriages. ⁴ ____

McNicholas says, “In the early stages the animal was a continuing link with the loved one. The bereaved often want to talk about the person they've lost, but other people don't, so instead they talk to the dog, which responds to the name. One woman told me, ‘When I want to talk, I talk to my daughter; when I need to cry, I cry with my dog.’” ⁵ ____ So in a way it doesn't matter whether it is real, it feels real.

G nouns: compound and possessive forms

V preparing food

P words with silent syllables

1 VOCABULARY preparing food

a Circle the correct answers.

- 1 Have you ever tried baked / melted / scrambled figs with gorgonzola cheese?
- 2 We always make cheese on toast with boiled / chopped / sliced bread.
- 3 She only wanted a snack for lunch, so she had a barbecued / poached / toasted bagel.
- 4 Sprinkle a little chopped / roasted / sliced parsley over the potatoes before serving.
- 5 I'll have apple pie with baked / stewed / whipped cream for dessert.
- 6 We're having mashed / melted / scrambled eggs for breakfast.
- 7 You'll need some grated / ground / stuffed beef if you're making spaghetti bolognese for dinner.
- 8 He really loves having deep-fried / poached / whipped onion rings for an appetizer.
- 9 My favorite seafood dish is steamed / mashed / toasted mussels.
- 10 They're both trying to lose weight, so they ordered grilled / ground / peeled fish.

b Write the names of the kitchen equipment in the picture.

- | | |
|-----------------|----------|
| 1 kettle | 6 _____ |
| 2 _____ | 7 _____ |
| 3 _____ | 8 _____ |
| 4 _____ | 9 _____ |
| 5 _____ | 10 _____ |

2 PRONUNCIATION

words with silent syllables

a Cross-out the vowels that are not pronounced in the words.

- | | |
|---------------|---------------|
| 1 interesting | 5 temperature |
| 2 comfortable | 6 chocolate |
| 3 business | 7 vegetables |
| 4 different | |

b 9.3 Listen and check. Practice saying the words.

3 LEXIS IN CONTEXT How to eat out

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.91. Then complete the words and phrases.

chew fiddly ~~fuss~~ gobble stuff

- 1 I hate going for dinner with Linda; she's always making a fuss about something.
- 2 Most of the things I cook are very simple; I can't be bothered with dishes that are very _____.
- 3 I have no idea what to order; there's far too much _____ on the menu.
- 4 My teenage sons are usually starving, so they _____ up their food in a matter of seconds.
- 5 My dog eats so quickly, I swear she doesn't actually _____.

4 GRAMMAR nouns: compound and possessive forms a Right (✓) or wrong (X)? Correct any mistakes in the highlighted phrases.

- I opened the front door because I thought I'd heard the doorbell ring. ✓
- Matt put his sunglasses in the handbag of his sister. X his friend's handbag
- We're going to spend two weeks at my parents' cabin in the mountains. _____
- Amir is the son of the neighbor you met yesterday. _____
- My mother is hopeless at buying men's clothes, so my father always buys his own. _____
- Please remember to put your bowl of cereal in the dishwasher after breakfast. _____
- She's a language teacher at a high school.
- What happened at the story's end? _____
- The supermarket has stopped giving away free bags of plastic. _____
- We went over to Heather's last night. _____

b Complete the sentences with a word from A and a word from B. Add 's, s', or ' where necessary.

A alarm animal bread Fiona and Charles fitness guest husband vegetable women

B cages car clock clothes drawer house knife magazines trainer

- They found a cheap guest house where they could spend the night.
- Sarah doesn't know much about current affairs because she only reads _____ for fashion tips and celebrity news.
- Please can you put the carrots and beans in the _____ in the refrigerator?
- _____ was seriously damaged in the crash.
- My brother went to work at a local gym as a _____.
- Lily is fed up with finding her _____ all over their bedroom floor. She's going to talk to him about it later.
- Don't use the _____ to cut meat.
- In most zoos, the _____ aren't as small as they used to be.
- My _____ didn't go off, so I was late for work.

5 LEXIS IN CONTEXT Well-known faces reveal their ultimate comfort food

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.93. Then complete the sentences.

- Candy _____ is sweet food made of sugar (or chocolate) that is often eaten between meals.
- Ch _____ are small green or red peppers that are used in cooking to give a hot taste to food.
- B _____ and gravy is a favorite breakfast food in the American South.
- M _____ is a rather ugly fish that is said to taste like lobster.
- O _____ are large flat shellfish.

6 LISTENING

- a 9.4 Listen to three people describing cooking disasters. Were any of them able to eat what they cooked?
- b Listen again and complete the chart.

1 Who were they cooking for?
Speaker 1	Speaker 2	Speaker 3
2 What were they making?
Speaker 1	Speaker 2	Speaker 3
3 What went wrong?
Speaker 1	Speaker 2	Speaker 3
4 What happened in the end?
Speaker 1	Speaker 2	Speaker 3

- c Listen again with the audioscript on p.78 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

7 READING

a Read the article once and check (✓) the best alternative heading.

- 1 Where to buy convenience food in the US
- 2 The health benefits of frozen food
- 3 From frozen food to meal kits
- 4 Sourcing the perfect vegetables for freezing

b Read the article again and choose a, b, c, or d.

- 1 In the first paragraph, the writer explains that...
 - a small startups can't compete with big food brands.
 - b Americans eat less frozen food nowadays.
 - c frozen food made a big impact on what Americans prepared and served.
 - d Americans aren't interested in meal kits.
- 2 In the second paragraph, the writer points out that in the 1940s...
 - a Most Americans were buying frozen food.
 - b only a small group of wealthy Americans were buying frozen food.
 - c the demand for food like pickles was decreasing.
 - d the technology for freezing seafood hadn't been invented yet.
- 3 According to the writer, by the early 1950s big American food companies had...
 - a changed their frozen-food ad campaigns.
 - b decided to market frozen food as a luxury item.
 - c increased the price of frozen food.
 - d begun to leave the frozen food market to small food companies.
- 4 In the fifth paragraph, the writer explains that...
 - a farmers and big food companies came up with new ways to handle frozen food.
 - b it was difficult to enforce safe food handling rules.
 - c moving frozen food from one place to another became easier and less dangerous.
 - d the US government recommended using dry ice to keep food cold.
- 5 According to the writer, around 1955 big food brands...
 - a thought all their customers lived in apartments.
 - b thought their customers were working-class families.
 - c thought their customer base had changed greatly.
 - d began doing market research.
- 6 The writer concludes that big food companies today...
 - a realize that Americans are no longer interested in frozen food.
 - b think their next new market could be meal kits.
 - c plan to expand into the luxury frozen food market.
 - d avoid selling packaged frozen food with fancy sauces.

c Look at the highlighted words and phrases and try to work out their meaning. Check in your dictionary.

The Evolution of Convenience Food in America

Meal kits, currently a niche product sold by startups like Blue Apron, could be hitting the bigtime, with big-name food companies like Tyson and Campbell Soup now entering the market. If that signals a change in the way Americans cook and eat, it's nothing compared with the way frozen food disrupted meals in the mid-twentieth century, as Shane Hamilton explained in a 2003 paper.

The story of frozen foods starts with the familiar Birds Eye brand. Back in the 1920s, Hamilton writes, Clarence Birdseye figured out a quick-freeze method to preserve seafood, vegetables, and fruit on an industrial scale. But until the late 1940s, Birds Eye and its competitors sold frozen foods only to a limited set of high-end consumers. In 1946, Fortune magazine reported that consumers were buying more tons of pickles and sauerkraut than of all frozen foods combined.

That changed fast. In the 1940s, railcar and truck trailer makers constructed mechanically refrigerated transportation, replacing unreliable dry ice. After the end of World War II, demand rose too, thanks to growing family incomes and increasing workforce participation by women.

Hamilton writes that, in the late 40s, Birds Eye was still selling frozen food as a luxury good: A 1949 Life magazine ad, featuring a woman in elegant satin, declared the company's frozen spinach "grander than the grandest spinach." But new, smaller operators began taking a different tack. Quality Frozen of San Francisco sold frozen "B grade" food in plain red-and-white packaging with the low price marked in large type. Big companies fought back with advertising campaigns promising healthy, cheap, and easy food. By 1951, Birds Eye was selling its spinach as "oh, so easy on Mom—and her pocketbook."

Transporting frozen food also became more reliable and safer in the 1950s, thanks largely to collaboration between the industry and government regulators to develop and enforce standards for handling frozen goods.

The market for frozen food grew fast. Minute Maid was a particular success story. Using a new method of freezing concentrated orange juice that the US Department of Agriculture had invented, it went from $3 million in sales in 1948 to $29 million three years later.

And yet, Hamilton writes, for years the industry assumed its customers were white, middle-class, stay-at-home mothers. Only when companies began doing market research in the mid-50s did they realize they had a much wider customer base. For instance, many working-class black families who lived in Harlem apartments without freezers bought frozen foods on a daily basis, cooking them immediately.

By the 1960s, companies were targeting specific demographics, including Jews, African-Americans, teenagers, and working women. They also returned to the luxury market, selling vegetables packaged with fancy sauces and whole pre-cooked meals.

Today, of course, those kinds of packaged meals are just what many customers are trying to avoid by buying meal kits that let them cook quick meals "from scratch." And big food companies are hoping that will mean another new market for them.

1 LOOKING AT LANGUAGE

informal and vague language bit going like pretty so something there went whatever whole

Complete the informal and vague language in the sentences with the words in the list.

- We usually have a quick lunch: a salad or a sandwich or whatever.
- Ants can be a b_____ of a pain when you're camping.
- I opened a bar of chocolate last night and my husband ate the wh_____ thing!
- I was l_____, "Please don't let that be mine!" when the waiter brought our meals.
- I'm pr_____ sure that I've never eaten an insect.
- Cattle farming will probably die out in the next hundred or s_____ years.
- Matt w_____, "What is that?" when he saw dim sum for the first time.
- There are lots of people out th_____ who don't know the meaning of a balanced diet.
- My kids are always g_____, "I don't like this. Can I have that?"
- There are s_____ like 4,500 species of cockroaches in the world.

2 READING

a Read the article and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).

- Camren fed his mealworm dinner to canaries.
- He was disgusted by the idea of eating insects until fairly recently.
- He mixes the insects with everyday ingredients.
- All of the dishes he's tried on the diet have been a hit.
- He used the same supplier as many zoos to get the insects he needed for his diet.
- He is not expecting a quick change in attitudes.

- Underline five words or phrases you don't know. Use your dictionary to look up their meaning and pronunciation.

Anyone for a bug-burger?

US student Camren Brantley-Rios is clearing away the dinner dishes. Nothing unusual, you might think, until you find out what he has just eaten. On tonight's menu was fried rice with mealworms – the larva stage of an insect that is usually fed to canaries. What Camren did was to season the mealworms with soy sauce and add them to the rice he was frying. Apparently, the concoction tasted pretty good.

Camren hasn't always had such a strange diet. In fact, he used to be one of the many Americans who find the idea of eating grubs and insects quite repulsive. That is, until he realized how much damage consuming traditional meats is doing to the environment. It has been discovered that keeping livestock, such as cattle, causes unacceptably high emissions of greenhouse gases, such as methane and ammonia. At the same time, insects consume fewer resources than cows to produce a similar amount of protein: there are 19 grams of protein in 100 grams of meat, while the same weight of grasshoppers contains 13 grams. Seeing that the current meat industry is unsustainable, Camren decided to try out what could be the food of the future: a bug diet. Since then, 30 days have passed, and Camren has been eating insects three times a day: for breakfast, lunch, and dinner.

Mealworms are just one of the species he's been ingesting. Together with waxworms and crickets, these form the bulk of his diet. Everyday meals include scrambled eggs with waxworms, bug-burgers with cheese, and creole crickets, a dish with an extra-spicy sauce. Every so often, he tries to incorporate something different into his cooking – with varying degrees of success. He got a pleasant surprise as a result of sautéing orange-spotted cockroaches with herbs, mushrooms, and onions, but was unable to finish the dish he had prepared with silkworm pupae because of its unpleasant smell.

According to the UN Food and Agriculture Organization, more than two billion people worldwide include insects in their regular diet, but this does not mean they are readily available for purchasing in the US. For this reason, Camren has had to turn to the internet to find his ingredients. The insects he procures have been fed on an organic diet, and he only buys species he knows are safe to eat. One of his main suppliers is a farm that supplies zoos with bugs to feed to reptiles. Once Camren has placed an order, the insects are sent to him by post.

Camren is fully aware that one person eating insects won't have a real environmental impact and that it would take millions of people following his example to make a difference. Right now, however, this is unlikely as there is not much pressure for Americans to eat bugs because of the finer meats still available, albeit at a cost. What Camren hopes is that eating insects will become a little more marketable in the future, so that people will slowly come around to the idea. Meanwhile, his experiment is having an unexpected effect on the people around him, as some of his friends are asking him to cook for them. Perhaps in the not-so-distant future, we may all be having bug-burgers for dinner.

Remember, remember always, that all of us, and you and I especially, are descended from immigrants and revolutionists.
Franklin D. Roosevelt, American president

G adding emphasis (2): cleft sentences

V words that are often confused

P intonation in cleft sentences

1 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

Interview with David and Emma Illsley

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.9:7. Then complete the sentences with idioms and phrasal verbs.

- I've always had a hankering to live by the ocean, so we've been looking at properties on the coast.
- We r_____ out the possibility of going to China because it was too expensive.
- She turned her b_____ on her parents when they needed her, claiming that she was too busy to help.
- Treating his injuries was one thing, but getting him to walk again was a bigger h_____.
- My father let me have his old car for next to n_____.
- If you need some consumer d_____, go to the Adirondack Mountains in upstate New York; you won't see a store for miles.
- As we were walking through downtown Los Angeles we st_____ the cutest little coffee shop.
- My niece had a b_____ during her first year of college; it was one big party.

2 GRAMMAR adding emphasis (2): cleft sentences

a Match the sentence halves.

- | | |
|--------------------------------------|----------|
| 1 It was the shellfish | h |
| 2 All I want | ■ |
| 3 The reason why you weren't invited | ■ |
| 4 What happened | ■ |
| 5 All I did | ■ |
| 6 The day I moved into my new house | ■ |
| 7 What happens | ■ |
| 8 The thing I admire most about him | ■ |

- a was say what I thought.
 b was when I first met Miranda.
 c is that you order and pay at the cash register, and then we bring the food to your table.
 d is a little sympathy.
 e is his determination to enjoy life.
 f was that we took the wrong turn off the freeway.
 g is that you'd said you'd be away.
~~h that made everybody sick.~~

b Rewrite the sentences to give them extra emphasis, starting with the word(s) given.

- She just wanted to apologize.
All she wanted was to apologize _____.
- I spoke to the assistant manager, not the manager.
The person _____.
- I didn't buy the bag because it was too expensive.
The reason _____.
- Her grandmother taught her how to bake bread.
It _____.
- Jane shut the door with her keys still inside.
What happened _____.
- I need a good, long rest.
What _____.
- I was impressed by how quickly she learned Chinese.
The thing _____.
- My parents live in a very picturesque town.
The town _____.

3 PRONUNCIATION

intonation in cleft sentences

a 10.1 Listen and write the sentences.

- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____

b Practice saying the sentences.

4 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

Why I became a U.S. Citizen

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.99. Then complete the sentences with the formal words.

apparent consistent creative outlet filed in jinx notify ~~prior~~ reciting reflect on took

- 1 Mira didn't attend my wedding because she'd made prior plans to travel to Peru.
- 2 The college will officially _____ me about my acceptance into the environmental studies program in March.
- 3 My favorite part of the documentary was when the children were _____ the ABCs and singing nursery rhymes.
- 4 It was _____ by his huge smile that Marc's basketball team had won the game.
- 5 If I were more _____ about getting eight hours of sleep at night, I wouldn't be so tired all the time.
- 6 The students quietly _____ to the classroom and took their seats.
- 7 A _____ like taking photos or knitting, can distract you from stress and anxiety.
- 8 I sent my son to his room to _____ his rude behavior towards his siblings.
- 9 Fiona waited to tell us about her promotion; she didn't want to _____ it before it was announced by management.
- 10 The President _____ an oath to uphold the Constitution of the United States.

5 VOCABULARY

words that are often confused

a Circle the correct word.

- 1 The company is going to advertise / announce the vacancy in the local newspaper.
- 2 The next time my brother asks me for a loan, I'm going to refuse / deny.
- 3 Monica feels dizzy, so she's gone to lie / lay down for a while.
- 4 I suppose I'll get married one day, but right now I'm not ready to make a compromise / commitment.
- 5 Some people say that gas is more economic / economical than electricity, but I'm not so sure.
- 6 We were delighted with our suit / suite – it had a balcony with a hot tub.
- 7 Let's eat out tonight. I'm starving and, beside / besides, I don't feel like cooking.
- 8 The actress is actually / currently dating her bodyguard after her marriage broke up last year.
- 9 He was extremely ashamed / embarrassed when his pants ripped as he sat down.

- 10 Global warming affects / effects the world's weather in many ways.

b Complete the sentences with the words you didn't circle in a.

- 1 The managing director is going to announce his retirement at the next board meeting.
- 2 We sat on the grass _____ the river and had a picnic on Saturday – it was idyllic!
- 3 People are very concerned about the _____ situation in this country.
- 4 Doctors recommend mothers to _____ their babies on their backs when they put them to bed.
- 5 You should be _____ of yourself for being so rude to my friends.
- 6 Being overweight can have serious long-term _____ on your health.
- 7 It's miserable weather, but I don't think you need an umbrella because it isn't _____ raining.
- 8 It's a formal dinner, so all the men will be wearing a _____.
- 9 I wanted to go to the movies and my sister wanted to stay at home; we finally reached a _____ and watched Netflix instead.
- 10 You can't _____ you've had one of my chocolates – there were three in the box and now there are only two!

6 LISTENING

a  10.2 Listen to a radio program about a book. In general, does the story have a sad or a happy ending?

b Listen again and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).

- 1 Nazneen hadn't met Chanu before she joined him in England.
- 2 Nazneen's new husband doesn't live up to her expectations.
- 3 Nazneen rebels from the start against her new life in London.
- 4 Nazneen's feelings for her husband remain the same throughout the novel.
- 5 Nazneen's sister, Hasina, chose her own husband.
- 6 Nazneen doesn't make any friends while she is in London.
- 7 Nazneen's outlook on life changes as the novel progresses.
- 8 It is Nazneen's lover, Karim, who teaches her how to speak English.

c Listen again with the audioscript on p.78 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

The Joy Luck Club is the story of four Chinese mothers and their first-generation Chinese-American daughters; two generations of women struggling to come to terms with their cultural identity. Here Lindo Jong, one of the mothers, talks about her daughter, Waverley.

7 READING

- a Read an extract from The Joy Luck Club by Amy Tan. Choose the sentence that best describes Lindo Jong's feelings about her daughter.
- 1 She is proud that her daughter can blend in with Chinese culture.
 - 2 She regrets not being able to instill Chinese values in her daughter.
 - 3 She is disappointed that her daughter does not take advantage of opportunities.
- b Read the extract again and choose a, b, c, or d.
- 1 Lindo thinks her daughter will not be mistaken for a native-born Chinese mainly because of the way she...
 - a speaks
 - b looks
 - c smiles
 - d dresses
 - 2 Lindo's daughter...
 - a now wishes she had learned Chinese
 - b never behaved like a Chinese person
 - c has forgotten all the Chinese she ever knew
 - d became less Chinese as she grew older
 - 3 What Lindo most likes about the American way of life is that...
 - a you don't have to accept your fate
 - b education is free for everyone
 - c you can choose your religion
 - d other people always help you
 - 4 Which of these is not an aspect of Chinese character, according to Lindo?
 - a hiding your real feelings
 - b doing what your parents tell you to do
 - c showing off
 - d being aware of your strengths
 - 5 Lindo gives the example of the chewing gum to show that...
 - a her daughter was stupid as a child
 - b American habits were very easily acquired by her daughter
 - c the American way of life is inferior to the Chinese
 - d young people don't pay attention to adults
- c Look at the highlighted verbs in the extract. What do you think they mean? Check in your dictionary.

LINDO JONG

Double Face

My daughter wanted to go to China for her second honeymoon, but now she is afraid.

"What if I blend in so well they think I'm one of them?" Waverley asked me. "What if they don't let me come back to the United States?"

"When you go to China," I told her, "you don't even need to open your mouth. They already know you are an outsider."

"What are you talking about?" she asked. My daughter likes to speak back. She likes to question what I say.

"Aii-ya," I said. "Even if you put on their clothes, even if you take off your makeup and hide your fancy jewelry, they know. They know just watching you walk, the way you carry your face. They know you do not belong."

My daughter did not look pleased when I told her this, that she didn't look Chinese. She had a sour American look on her face. Oh, maybe ten years ago, she would have clapped her hands – hurray! – as if this were good news. But now she wants to be Chinese, it is so fashionable. And I know it is too late. All those years I tried to teach her! She followed my Chinese ways only until she learned to walk out the door by herself and go to school. So now the only Chinese words she can say are sh-sh, houche, chr fan and gwan deng schweijyau. How can she talk to people with those words only? Pee-pee, choo-choo train, eat, close light sleep. How can she think she can blend in? Only her skin and her hair are Chinese. Inside – she is all American-made.

It's my fault she is this way. I wanted my children to have the best combination: American circumstances and Chinese character. How could I know these two things do not mix?

I taught her how American circumstances work. If you are born poor here, it's no lasting shame. You are first in line for a scholarship. If the roof crashes on your head, no need to cry over this bad luck. You can sue anybody, make the landlord fix it. You do not have to sit like a Buddha under a tree letting pigeons drop their dirty business on your head. You can buy an umbrella. Or go inside a Catholic church. In America, nobody says you have to keep the circumstances somebody else gives you.

She learned these things, but I couldn't teach her about Chinese character. How to obey parents and listen to your mother's mind. How not to show your own thoughts, to put your feelings behind your face, so you can take advantage of hidden opportunities. Why easy things are not worth pursuing. How to know your own worth and polish it, never flashing it around like a cheap ring. Why Chinese thinking is best.

No, this kind of thinking didn't stick to her. She was too busy chewing gum, blowing bubbles bigger than her cheeks. Only that kind of thinking stuck.

"Finish your coffee," I told her yesterday. "Don't throw your blessings away."

"Don't be so old-fashioned," she told me, finishing her coffee down the sink. "I'm my own person."

And I think, How can she be her own person? When did I give her up?

1 LEXIS IN CONTEXT

Battle of the workouts

Look at the Lexis in Context on Student Book p.101. Then complete the words connected with the body and exercise.

- The swimmer filled her lungs with air before she dived into the pool.
- I've started doing s _____ -u _____ every morning to strengthen my stomach muscles.
- Cyclists usually have very muscular th _____.
- Some experts now say that just three minutes of v _____ exercise a week is enough to improve your fitness.
- She went to see a doctor about a chronic pain in the lower area of her sp _____.
- My brother is in tr _____ to participate in next year's Boston Marathon.
- After taking up yoga, she noticed she had more fl _____ in her joints.
- The trainer makes the players do ten p _____ -u _____ if they miss soccer practice.
- You should warm up and st _____ your muscles before playing sports.
- Many people focus on their arms and legs in the gym, but I try to strengthen my tr _____ as well.

2 VOCABULARY

word building: adjectives, nouns, and verbs

Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in parentheses.

- She added some flour to thicken the sauce. (thick)
- My son is now the same _____ as me! (high)
- The construction workers need to _____ the ground before they can build the new parking garage. (flat)
- The sleeves of my new jacket are too long. Can you _____ them for me? (short)
- My grandmother can't walk very far – she has no _____ in her legs. (strong)
- Check the _____ before diving in. (deep)
- Working so hard for so long _____ his health and he ended up getting very sick. (weak)
- This mascara promises to _____ your eyelashes, but I'm not sure I believe it. (long)
- We measured the _____ of the space before buying a new cupboard. (wide)

3 GRAMMAR relative clauses

- a Circle the correct answers. One, two, or three of the answers may be correct. (— = no relative pronoun)
- The referee showed a red card to the players that / who / — had been fighting.
 - This is the room that / where / which the players get changed.
 - He only scored two goals last season, both that / of which / which were penalties.
 - She's the model which / who / whose husband plays basketball for the NBA.
 - The surface where / which / — Spanish tennis players like best is clay.
 - We lost the final 3-2, that / which / — was a shame.
 - That's the game that / which / — I saw live at their stadium.
 - Our coach doesn't know that / what / which is wrong with our best player.
 - My sister, that / who / — once played basketball for UCLA, has recently applied to law school.
 - The woman who / whom / to whom he dedicated the goal is his new girlfriend.
- b Join the sentences using a relative pronoun if necessary and the right punctuation if it is a non-defining relative clause.
- A friend gave us the tickets. He couldn't go to the game.
The friend who gave us the tickets couldn't go to the game.
 - My cousin is a cross-country runner. He has been given a scholarship by a top-ranked university.
My cousin _____.
 - A foot of snow fell last night. This means that the game will probably be canceled.
A foot _____.
 - Our team has two goalkeepers. Neither of them can play next weekend.
Our team _____.
 - I've only had these sneakers for a week. They've already broken in.
These sneakers _____.
 - We spoke to an attendant. He directed us to our seats.
We _____.
 - I bought a new racket for my son. It wasn't very expensive.
The racket _____.
 - The showers are very rarely cleaned. Many of them do not work properly.
The showers _____.

4 PRONUNCIATION homographs

a Match the phonetics to the sentences.

1 b /kən'tent/

a /'kɒntent/

- a The problem with your essay is not the style, but the content.
b The problem with my parents is that they're never content with anything I do.

2 /yus/

/yuz/

- a They've prohibited the use of chemical weapons.
b They use uranium to produce nuclear energy.

3 /klouz/

/klous/

- a Can you close the window, please? I'm cold.
b Can you move up? You're sitting too close to me.

4 /ter/

/tɪr/

- a I cried in pain and wiped away a tear.
b I would never tear a page out of a library book.

5 /mɑː'nʌt/

/'mɪnət/

- a I'm still hungry. That restaurant serves minute servings of food.
b Let's wait outside. The restaurant will be open in a minute.

6 /ʌp'set/

/'ʌpsɛt/

- a Steve really upset me last night. He shouldn't have said that.
b The last Super Bowl was a real upset. No one expected them to win.

7 /waʊnd/

/wʊnd/

- a She cleaned his wound and wrapped a bandage around it.
b She wound the string into a ball to use it later.

b 10.3 Listen and check. Practice saying the sentences.

5 LISTENING

a 10.4 Listen to a radio program about children and sports. Why are doctors seeing more sports-related injuries in young teens and adolescents?

b Listen again and complete the summary.

Dr. Allston Stubbs an orthopedist in North Carolina, says he's seen an increase in sports overuse injuries. He says this is happening because young kids are playing sports before their ¹_____ have fully developed. While some people believe it's ²_____ to enroll young children in sports programs, others think kids should focus on general play instead of specific sports ³_____. Coach Andy Mauer encourages his young rowers to develop a team ⁴_____ or cheer before actually practicing skills on the water. Some tips for parents thinking about enrolling their children in team sports include: staying away from ⁵_____ because it can be stressful for young children, signing your children up for different sports throughout the year to avoid ⁶_____, letting your kids have some ⁷_____ from sports, and not worrying about your children ⁸_____ if they don't play sports at a young age.

c Listen again with the audioscript on p.79 and try to guess the meaning of any words that you don't know. Then check in your dictionary.

6 READING

a Read the article once. According to Michael Mosley, which of the following is most likely to keep a person healthy?

- 1 Going on a strict diet.
- 2 Short periods of exercise.
- 3 Cycling for an hour.
- 4 Going to the gym.

b Six sentences and paragraphs have been removed from the article. Read it again and match A–G to the blanks 1–6. There is one sentence or paragraph you do not need to use.

- A So that's the problem with exercising at the gym. You walk briskly on the treadmill for 30 minutes (200 calories). You then have a congratulatory muffin. You've burned 200 calories and consumed 500. It doesn't compute.
- B I'm still unconvinced that a mere three minutes' vigorous exercise a week can control our fitness, predict our future health, and prevent common diseases, but Mosley has no doubts.
- C So, if diets tend not to work, what about exercise? Surely regular visits to a gym – 20 minutes on the bike or running machine, two or three times a week – will do the trick?
- D The 54-year-old graduated in Philosophy, Politics and Economics from Oxford University and spent a couple of years in banking, following, one assumes, in the footsteps of his banker father. He, though, changed direction.
- E I order tea for both of us first and then begin my questioning. I start by asking Mosley to what extent a change in eating habits can improve one's health.
- F Mosley explains that he keeps moving by getting up and walking around every hour when he's working at his desk. He cycles a mile and a half to the station every day, building a minute of HIT into his trip, and takes the stairs instead of the lift.
- G "Scientists are looking at what's required for good health. And it's inactivity that causes the problems of fat around the organs and the metabolic problems that lead to diabetes. The average person sits for 12 to 14 hours a day."

c Look at the highlighted words and phrases. What do you think they mean? Check in your dictionary.

The truth about exercise?

I am comfortably seated by the fire in the tearoom of Brown's Hotel in London when a bundle of energy comes to a halt at my side. Enter Michael Mosley, the BBC's most valuable communicator of complex scientific ideas. We're here to discuss his latest theory: that three minutes of vigorous exercise a week is enough to keep you healthy; and that, generally speaking, exercise contributes very little to weight loss.

¹ ____ He launches into an explanation of why diets generally fail. "It's not that people are weak-willed. It's pretty easy to lose weight quickly on a strict diet, but then the body conspires against you. Fear of starvation is a basic instinct. As you lose weight, your metabolic rate slows. Your body encourages you to conserve calories by moving less. The brain tells the nerve cells in your intestine that you're hungry. Thus, 95 percent of diets fail."

² ____ "Not so. We grossly underestimate the amount of time you need to burn calories. If you cycle steadily for an hour, you'll burn 500 calories. That's one muffin. You'd have to cycle from Nottingham to Leeds – 78 miles – to burn a pound of fat, and one experiment in the US showed that even thinking about exercise triggers the hormonal response that makes you want to eat."

³ ____ Putting weight loss aside, can just three minutes of exercise a week really be as useful as three hours on the treadmill? The answer lies, it seems, in the acronym HIT. It stands for High-Intensity Interval Training, and research suggests that this short-burst approach is highly effective.

⁴ ____ "But if we move around, we activate a protein which takes fat out of the bloodstream and transfers it to the muscles, where it can be burned."

⁵ ____ "What studies are showing is that keeping active is the answer to many problems," he says. The HIT approach, combined with gentler exercise such as walking from room to room, will do the trick.

⁶ ____ Mosley isn't at all worried about the damaging impact this research could have on the gym and dieting industries. He heads off to the station at a smart pace. I pay the bill and catch a cab. Must do better!

Listening

1.2

Speaker 1 Speaking from my own personal situation, I love the fact that I have a brother. Um, it provided, he provided me with a lot of fun when, when we were growing up um, and um now having, having two kids myself I'm very happy that they, they've got each other to look after. And, uh, I think as you go through life and your own parents get older, um and you know, you will one day have to look after them, I think that with a, with a sibling would be a lot easier.

Speaker 2 I'm an only child, and someone said to me, "Oh, that must be so much better to be an only child because you get all your parents' attention and you don't have to share it with your brothers and sisters," and to an extent I kind of agree because um, you, it's wonderful to have all that attention from your parents. But, it can, you can end up becoming, sort of spoiled and um used to having this attention, so when you have to go to school or you have to interact with other people, if you don't get the attention that you've been used to, you can react in a, in a really spoiled way without, sort of, meaning to.

Speaker 3 I've got two children and although they fight all the time and they, you know, all this sort of thing, I think, I often when they are fighting try and look at the positives of it and think, well, I suppose it's a good thing that they are sort of, you know, learning to do all those things within a safe family environment, which I suppose if you are, I mean, if you are an only child, perhaps then it has to be at school or, you know, it's like practicing.

Speaker 4 I'd hate to have been an only child, I mean I had three brothers and sisters, and I think only, the girl next door was an only child and she was under so much pressure from her parents to succeed and all their hopes were focused on this one girl...I thought, I wouldn't want all that pressure on me.

1.5

1 Well, one job I've always dreamed about is being a travel writer, I mean, basically because I like traveling and I like going around the world and I'd like to have an excuse to do it and someone to pay me to do it if possible, um, and I think I would be pretty good at it because, well, I'm pretty sociable and I like to think I can write and uh, I'm good at living out of a suitcase and living cheap, um and it seems to be a wonderful way of seeing the world. I mean, I don't actually know anybody who does it, but I've always kind of envied people like the late Anthony Bourdain who had a television show that took him all around the world and he seemed to have such a wonderful time.

But I have occasionally had to read travel books and some of them are amazing and some you definitely get the impression that they've been sent there by their publisher to do a travel book about Patagonia or whatever it is and nothing much has happened, but they still have to write the book. So, you get kind of a boring book sometimes, and I guess that might be a drawback that you'd feel you had to write a book even if you'd nothing to say.

2 Well, what I'd really hate to do is any kind of job on a production line, any kind of real drudge work where there's really no, kind of, mental input at all, but you're just repeating the same task again and again and again and I think that would probably drive me insane.

I have done something kind of like it. When I was about 18, I worked in a plastics factory to earn some money for a couple of months and I remember I went in, in the dark and I came out in the dark, because it was winter, so I never saw the light of day, it was about a ten-hour day, paid almost nothing, we had half an hour for lunch and the noise of the machines was so loud that you could, you could shout at the top of your lungs and the person next to you couldn't hear you, and the smell of plastics filled the air and it was absolutely disgusting. The only, the only advantage was that it was so loud that you could actually sing at the top of your lungs and nobody could hear, so I spent a lot of my day singing to myself, which, which I really enjoyed.

2.2

Interviewer Do you find it easier to understand native or non-native speakers of English?

Yiming For me, non-native speakers of English are easier to understand when it comes to direct instructions. They would usually use plain language and basic words. And I find it easier to grab a sense of what to do. But they would probably have an accent ... and have pauses while talking, and they would probably mumble also and which would make their, um, instructions, uh, hard to understand. Uh, native English speakers, on the other hand, are of course fluent in English. Uh they are a lot better in oral presentation. Uh, they would speak faster usually, and I feel better when communicating with native speakers about indirect feelings and complex tasks. As far as the idiomatic expression or cultural reference, I don't think the difference um, between native speakers and non-native speakers is caused by their individual um experience, but by the environment in which they grow up in. Or the environment where they learn English, um, and I don't think non-native speakers um that I've met would use um the heavily localized terms, and in that sense I don't think it's comparable to say whether um native speakers or non-native speakers are the same.

Interviewer How do you feel about having your English corrected?

Yiming I would love to have my English corrected. Although I've been learning English for years, my pronunciation and grammar are still not as good as native English speakers. And also, I always consider myself an English learner and I'm happy to have my English corrected by my native English speaker friends. And sometimes when native English speakers from different places correct me, say the spelling of a word uh say the word "color", I find it really interesting and am amazed by this inclusive language of English being spoken worldwide. It accepts many different ways of spelling for the same word.

Interviewer Do you have any funny or embarrassing stories related to misunderstanding someone?

Yiming Yes. Once on a geology fieldtrip, a friend of mine said, "Something smells funky." Um, based on the pronunciation of the word solely, I thought the word meant ah something related to "funny," which is not actually a taste or a smell, so I got very confused on what kind of smell this word actually means and then I asked my friends about this word "funky" and it turned out that "funky" isn't a particular smell but rather an arbitrary word to describe something abstract, like something is "off." And I remember my friends to trying to raise examples to help me feel what "funky" means, but nobody was actually able to define the word "funky" in plain words, yeah.

Interviewer Is there anything you still find difficult about English?

Yiming Like just now, abstract and arbitrary...I still find it hard to tell the difference. Maybe I just mixed up the spelling and the meaning of the word, yeah. Um my pronunciations definitely need to be corrected very often. I definitely need more vocabulary uh for daily use and I think uh for the slang that refers to facts or things that happened decades ago I find them really hard to follow because I didn't experience that and didn't learn that when I was growing up with English, yeah.

Interviewer Do you find it easier to understand native or non-native speakers of English?

Cristina Well, it all depends where they come from. I suppose it's more or less the same. Some non-natives are more difficult than others if you're not used to the accent. For instance, I used to find some Japanese and Chinese speakers difficult to understand, but then because of work I went to the Far East lots of times and then it became OK. Natives, again it all depends. I was taught RP and one assumes that everybody speaks that, and of course I had friends from lots of parts of Britain who did not speak RP. In fact, it is a pretty rare thing these days. So we have a good friend from, from Glasgow and it was always embarrassing for me because I could not understand most of what he was saying. I still don't.

Interviewer How do you feel about having your English corrected?

Cristina I don't mind. My children used to love correcting me. They still say I speak very funny English, but usually adults in this country do not correct you. I would like to be corrected.

Interviewer Do you have any funny or embarrassing stories related to misunderstanding someone?

Cristina Um yes, misunderstanding and being misunderstood. Several! Some I don't think I would like to tell you about, but I'll tell you one. I was a student at the University of Michigan in the United States and my phonetics professor was very handsome and therefore I did extremely well, not in all subjects, but it was worth studying that one. But I remember my first tutorial when he said "See you later" and I thought, "Hmm, interesting. Where?" And in class he said, I'd asked a question and he'd said, "Interesting question" so I thought, Great! He thinks I'm clever, and maybe he thinks I'm interesting to meet somewhere else, but I couldn't understand how I was going to find out where or when. I luckily didn't ask. It would have been very embarrassing.

Interviewer Is there anything you still find difficult about English?

Cristina Yes, I think there are things that have especially to do with cultural aspects. I used to find when my children were little that I didn't know the same nursery rhymes that you know here. I didn't know the actions, and I still don't know lots of things. It's, I don't know, to give an example, say I had learned American English, but I still didn't know who the Simpsons were.

2.4

Speaker 1 My earliest memory is from when I was about three years old and I was at home with my mom and I was playing with my red plastic vacuum cleaner, which I really liked as a toy when I was little. Um, it might have seemed a bit dull, but I really enjoyed playing with it.

Speaker 2 My earliest memory is of, uh, living in Malta when I was young and looking out of the window to see, um, the grapevine and the veranda outside my bedroom window, uh, having been destroyed by a whirlwind that had just gone through the, gone through the garden of the house. It hadn't touched the house itself just taken out the veranda and the grapevine.

Speaker 3 My earliest memory is my first day of school when I was about five because I was really nervous and I forgot to tell the other people my name so people were kind of confused.

Speaker 4 My earliest memory is probably at the local airport, but um I've got a feeling that it's a memory of looking at a photograph of myself in a stroller at the local airport. So it's hard to distinguish whether that's a real memory or a perceived one.

Speaker 5 Um, my earliest memory is walking on a beach with my family collecting shells. I somehow remember finding a piece of blue glass that had been worn smooth by the waves. When I showed it to my mom, she told me to keep it because it was such a pretty color.

3.2

Speaker 1 My best friend kept insisting that I meet up with a cute, single male friend of hers. Finally, I gave in and we went on a date. My friend was right: he really was cute and single. But he was totally obsessed with my friend – all he did was talk about her. I finally made an excuse to go home early after he asked me if I thought my friend was happy with her boyfriend!

Speaker 2 I was on my first date with this smart, successful woman, and we went to a nice restaurant. The waiter was bringing our drinks to us when one of the other waiters asked him a question. As he turned around, he spilled our drinks all over me – I was drenched from head to toe. Other than that, the date went really well. We got married after six months and now, fifteen years later, we still laugh about our first date.

Speaker 3 This is one of my more memorable dates, but for quite the wrong reason. What we did was this: he took me for a loooooong drive in his truck – I had absolutely no idea where we were. Then he stopped at a gas station and bought me an ice cream. And then he drove me back home again. That was it. As you can imagine, I didn't bother to find out what would happen the second time around.

Speaker 4 My most memorable first date was at a fast food restaurant. I'd been trying to get together with this girl for weeks, but our schedules just didn't coincide. So when I was going out for a burger one evening, I just texted her and asked her to come. Amazingly, she did, and we ended up talking about everything from work to family. We've been together for eight months now, and she often pulls my leg about it.

Speaker 5 When my current boyfriend asked me out, we went out for dinner and then back to my place for coffee. At some point he got down on his knees, like he was going to propose, or something – he got me really worried. Then he got a soda tab out of his pocket – you know, the rings that come off of the top of a drink can – and he said, "Will you be my girlfriend?" After that, we couldn't stop laughing.

3.5

Speaker 1 My favorite historical movie has to be Apollo 13, starring Tom Hanks. It tells the story of the Apollo 13 US space mission in 1970 ... and ah ... to the moon and all the mechanical malfunctions that happened during the trip. The movie focuses on three astronauts who have to fix the space ship mid-mission just to survive. The movie is definitely suspenseful. The ending is the best – I always cry when the astronauts make it back to Earth successfully.

Speaker 2 I think my favorite historical movie is Ben Affleck's thriller Argo. The movie tells the story of the rescue of six American diplomats in Iran when relations between the two countries were starting to break down in the late 1970s. It's got to be one of the most exciting movies I've ever seen – I spent the whole time sitting on the edge of my seat. Some of the events may be a bit exaggerated, but it's a true story all the same.

Speaker 3 The Last Emperor has got to be my favorite historical movie – it's based on the autobiography of the last emperor of China, Puyi, who died in 1967. Puyi grew up in the Forbidden City in Beijing, and the movie's director Bernardo Bertolucci was lucky enough to get permission to film inside this magnificent palace in Beijing. Visually, the movie is absolutely stunning, and not surprisingly it won nine Oscars.

Speaker 4 I thoroughly enjoyed the historical movie Invictus when it came out. It, um, relates the events that occurred in South Africa before and during the 1995 Rugby World Cup and it stars two great actors: Morgan Freeman as Nelson Mandela – the President of South Africa at the time, and Matt Damon as captain of the rugby team. Both men play their parts brilliantly: at first they're somewhat mistrustful of each other, and then they become friends. That's why I like the movie so much.

Speaker 5 This movie isn't particularly well-known, uh, but it's definitely my favorite historical movie. It's a drama called Agora, and it's based on the life of a Greek philosopher named Hypatia, who lived in Roman Egypt in the fourth century. Hypatia was also a mathematician and an astronomer and she taught at a school in Alexandria. Hypatia is admired by many, including myself, for giving her life trying to protect the library of Alexandria when it was attacked.

④ 4.2

Our composer of the week this week is Aberdeen-born percussionist Evelyn Glennie. She studied at the Royal Academy of Music. In a career spanning more than 20 years, she has performed with almost all of the world's leading orchestras, playing up to 60 different percussion instruments, from the xylophone to the timpani. In that time, she has won over 80 international music awards, including two Grammys. Outside of classical music, she has achieved crossover success in the worlds of pop and rock, having recorded with artists such as Sting and Bjork as well as composing and performing a number of soundtracks for movies and television.

Glennie began studying music at the age of 12, by which time she was profoundly deaf. However, she has never been deterred by her loss of hearing and doesn't see it as an obstacle to composing and performing music. In fact, she is frustrated by the fact that despite all her achievements as a musician, it's her deafness that always makes the headlines. As she writes on her website in her essay about hearing, "If you are standing by the road and a large truck goes by you, do you hear or feel the vibration? The answer is both. For some reason we tend to make a distinction between hearing a sound and feeling a vibration. In reality they are the same thing." She goes on to point out that this distinction doesn't exist in all languages. For example, in Italian, the verb "sentire" means "to hear" while the same verb in the reflexive form means "to feel."

In concert and in the studio, Glennie performs barefoot in order to feel the sounds of her instruments vibrating through the floor, and the title of her best-selling autobiography is Good Vibrations. But let's get on to the music. Glennie released her first album in...

④ 4.5

Host If you're a regular movie-goer, you may have noticed the long list of movies that have been shown recently that are based on books. Yet it can't be easy to turn literature into film successfully. Today we're going to take a look at the subject of movie adaptations and we've invited movie buff Lindsey into the studio to share her views with us. Hello, Lindsey.

Lindsey Hi, there.

Host Lindsey, what is it that makes a good movie adaptation?

Lindsey Basically, it's finding the right balance between telling the original story while at the same time adding something new to it. If there are too many changes to the plot, the fans will get upset, but if the movie is too faithful to the original, they'll go away wondering why they bothered to see it in the first place.

Host Are you suggesting that the movie adaptation doesn't have to be 100% faithful to the book?

Lindsey It isn't really a question of being faithful to the book; it's more a question of capturing the spirit of the original story. A good screenplay writer is one who understands the material and is able to pick out the themes, characters, and scenes that are most important. After that, it's a question of timing – deciding how much or how little emphasis to place on each of these things.

Host Apart from the balance and the timing, is there anything else that contributes to a good movie adaptation?

Lindsey Well, once you've got the screenplay right, you obviously have to find the right actors for all the different roles. Casting is fundamental when it comes to movie adaptations, since readers will already have an idea in their minds of what the characters are like.

Host Lindsey, now that we've established what makes a good movie adaptation, can you give us an example?

Lindsey Um, actually, I can give you more: the three movies that make up The Lord of the Rings series. All of them have an exceptional cast including renowned actors such as Elijah Wood, Ian McKellen, Liv Tyler, and Cate Blanchett. And the makers have been faithful to the J.R.R. Tolkien novels; at times parts of the original narrative are read over the images that appear on the screen. At the same time, the timing is impeccable as the movie focuses on what is truly important in the story. But the key to the movie's success is Peter Jackson's use of special effects, some of which had never been seen in film before.

Host What kind of special effects?

Lindsey Take, for example, the character of Gollum, a creature created almost entirely by computer-generated images. You believe he's really there next to the real actors on the screen.

Host That's very true. How about giving us an example of a bad movie adaptation, Lindsey?

Lindsey Again, I'm going to give you three movies: The Hunger Games series. The movies are hugely popular and have won several different awards. I think the casting is certainly excellent, and Jennifer Lawrence is superb as the central character, Katniss Everdeen. But I feel that the filmmakers have been a little too faithful to the books. Each movie tells the story in the exact order that it happens in the original, which, to me, makes the plot seem flat. There is little use of timing, so the key scenes aren't given enough emphasis. On top of this, I don't think there's really anything new for the readers – even the color and flamboyance of the Capitol comes as no surprise because it is depicted just as it is in the book, which I found disappointing.

Host That's a shame because all three of the books were excellent. Lindsey Wallace, thank you for joining us today.

Lindsey My pleasure.

5.3

Host Time flies, as the saying goes, and it's true. Gone are the lazy days of childhood when summer vacation seemed to crawl by – once you become an adult, the weeks pass by in a whirl of activity. An American neuroscientist has recently published a paper exploring this phenomenon. Our science expert, Stephanie, is here with us to explain the theory. Stephanie, why does time seem to go so slowly when we're children and so fast when we grow up?

Stephanie First of all, it's important to understand how we perceive time. Essentially, our brains take in a whole lot of information from our senses and organize it in a way that makes sense to us before we ever perceive it. When we receive lots of new information, it takes our brains a while to process it all. The longer this processing takes, the longer that period of time feels. Conversely, if your brain doesn't have to process lots of new information, time seems to go much faster.

Host Well how does that explain why our perception of time changes as we get older?

Stephanie When we're younger, most of the information we receive is brand new – and there's lots of it. The new information takes longer to process, which is why time seems to pass more slowly. Whereas when we're older, the world is much more familiar to us, so there is less new information to process. It doesn't take long to process anything that's new, which explains why time seems to pass more quickly.

Host Uh-uh. Stephanie, is there anything we can do to slow time down?

Stephanie The good news is that there is, yes. The first thing you can do is to keep learning. If you're constantly reading, trying new activities or taking courses to learn new skills, you'll be feeding your brain with lots of new information that will make time pass more slowly.

Host That sounds easy. What else?

Stephanie The second thing you can do is to visit new places. A new environment can send a mass of information rushing to your brain: smells, sounds, people, colors, textures. Your brain has to interpret all of this, which will give it plenty of work to do.

Host I suppose meeting new people might help as well?

Stephanie That's right. Meeting new people is a good workout for our brains because it takes a lot of time and effort to process and understand details about them.

Host Hmm. Is there anything else we can do, Stephanie?

Stephanie Yes, being spontaneous can help a lot. Surprises are like new activities: they make us pay attention and heighten our senses.

Host Well, so, now you know. All you have to do if you want to slow down time is to follow Stephanie's advice. Stephanie Carter, thank you for joining us.

Stephanie My pleasure.

5.5

Host Hello and welcome to the show. Today we're looking at different ways of saving money, and we're asking you, the listeners, to call in with any ideas you've experimented with. The number you need to call is 1-800-555-2720 and the lines are already open. And it looks as if we have a caller on line 1. Can you tell us your name, please?

Caller 1 Yes, I'm Maria.

Host Hello, Maria. What's your money-saving idea, please?

Caller 1 Well, when I noticed that my energy bill kept creeping up and up, I decided to turn down the thermostat on my heater. Instead of setting it at 72°, I turned it down to 65°, and it's made a big difference. I pay about $25 less on my heat bill than I did before, and if I feel cold, I put an extra sweater on.

Host That sounds like a great idea, Maria. Most of us have our heat on too high, so it makes sense to turn it down to pay less – and save energy at the same time. OK, thanks Maria. There's another caller on line 2 – Philip, is that right?

Caller 2 Yes, it is.

Host What do you do to save money, Philip?

Caller 2 Um, I always take a packed lunch to work. We have a small kitchen on my floor with a microwave, so we can bring our food in a plastic box and heat it up. I usually take what's left from dinner the night before, but if there isn't anything hot, I make a salad. It's definitely a lot cheaper than having to pay for a meal every day.

Host Thanks for that, Philip. Yeah, taking a packed lunch is an excellent way of saving money when you need to have lunch at work. OK, our next caller is Emily. How do you try to save money, Emily?

Caller 3 Um, yeah, um, a couple of years ago, I decided to start putting all my change in a coin jar at the end of the day. I have one of those big coffee cans, so it takes a long time to fill it up. It's my way of saving up to go away in the summer – I wouldn't be able to afford it, otherwise.

Host Those coffee cans are great for saving money in, aren't they, Emily? Back to line 2 for our next caller. What's your name, please?

Caller 4 Brody.

Host Brody, tell us your money-saving idea.

Caller 4 Well, it might sound radical, but I cut up all of my credit cards last year. Now, I only use cash. Paying in cash really makes you think about how much you're spending – if you use a credit card, you tend to lose control, to some extent. It's worked for me, anyway, and I've cut my spending by about 20%.

Host Brody, that's certainly the bravest solution we've had so far. OK, we have time for one more call, Suki on line 1. What's your money-saving idea?

Caller 5 Um, it might sound weird, but I've found that it's a really bad idea to go shopping on an empty stomach. When I'm hungry, I end up buying lots of snacks on impulse – it's such a waste of money. So now I do my shopping right after I've eaten some food and I don't spend half as much.

Host That makes sense, Suki, thank you for calling. Well, I hope that the rest of our listeners have found those ideas useful. And now it's time for the news...

6.2

I found The School of Life's presentation about small pleasures extremely encouraging, so much so that it motivated me to think up some small-scale ten-minute activities for you all to try. Here are just a few of them.

Summer is just around the corner, so let's start with things you can do outside. First of all, do some vigorous exercise that you enjoy like running, riding your bike, or even jumping rope. Just two ten-minute sessions a day – once in the morning and once in the evening – will make you happy and decrease your anxiety. So make the most of those longer days and get out there!

If you don't enjoy vigorous exercise, you could try walking to work for a month. If that isn't possible, you could walk to public transportation or get up early every day and walk around the block for ten minutes. Walking is a great way to start the day and you'll soon discover that fresh air is your friend.

Apart from physical activity, summer is a great time to look at what you eat. Why not make a new salad every day? It's possible to quickly make at least 30 different salads, and there are some marvelous recipes out there.

This challenge has the added bonus of being a health kick as well.

So much for the summer months; what about when it starts to cool off and you have to stay indoors? One thing you could do is doodle – draw pictures or designs on paper. All you need is a pencil or pen, and some paper. Start by drawing small shapes and lines. As you move your pen or pencil over the paper, your doodle will turn into a distinct picture. Doodling is fun, simple, and creative, and it can be done in ten minutes or less!

If you prefer writing to drawing, you could start your own blog. Pick something you're really passionate about and start blogging about it for ten minutes a day. It's fun, free, and so much more satisfying than scrolling through Twitter or Instagram!

Another ten-minute activity for the winter months is to learn a new language. There's another app that provides a fun, game-like way to learn languages such as French, German, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Turkish, Chinese, Japanese, or Korean – for free.

These are just a few ideas for you to try, but the possibilities are endless. All you need to do is pick an activity, carve out ten minutes in your day, and get started. I'm sure you won't regret it!

6.4

Speaker 1 What's the question? Do I have any obsessions? Well, I don't consider them obsessions, but I do have a habit of organizing myself in ways that other people might consider obsessive. I've walked into a friend's apartment where I was staying for a week or two, and immediately alphabetized their collection of CDs or DVDs of maybe a hundred or so because if I was going to be there, and I needed to find a piece of music, it just means...it was a lot easier to find it when it's alphabetized.

Speaker 2 Yeah, this started sometime last year. I was surfing the web to discover something about my youngest child's skin problem, when I found this amazing parenting website. Soon I found I couldn't go a day without logging on. Um, I started spending all evening "chatting" with my new online friends instead of spending time with my kids and my husband. It never crossed my mind that it could be addictive, but now I feel edgy and tense if I can't access my computer.

Speaker 3 Well, I do. I have a complete obsession about cleaning, and it's awful, it's the bane of my life, it's absolutely awful. I cannot relax until everything is absolutely, you know, um, clean and neat. I've had to let it go a little because my wife's very laid-back and I just haven't been allowed to be as obsessed as I have been in the past, and of course having children stops Vladimir Tretchikoff. Now, Tretchikoff's most famous painting The Chinese Girl was recently sold for almost $1.3 million at auction in London. Our art expert is in the studio with us to tell us about the woman who modeled for the picture, Monika Pon-su-san. Louise, was Monika a professional model?

Louise No, not at all. She was a young Chinese girl, working in her uncle's laundry in Cape Town, South Africa. She was only 17 at the time, and when she met Tretchikoff, she had never modeled before.

Host How did the two meet?

Louise Tretchikoff had heard of Monika's beauty from a friend, so he went to the laundry to see her himself. According to Monika, she was serving a customer when he came in, and while he was waiting, he couldn't take his eyes off of her. Once they were alone, he introduced himself and asked if he could paint her.

Host That must have come as a surprise to Monika. Did she actually know who he was?

Louise Yes, she did, in fact. By chance, she had read about him in a newspaper the Saturday before, so she knew who he was.

Host Louise, let's talk about the painting itself. Is Monika wearing her own clothes?

Louise No. Apparently, Tretchikoff gave her one of his wife's silk gowns to put on. But the real gown wasn't yellow like the one in the painting; it was blue.

Host What about Monika's expression in the picture? Why is she looking so serious?

Louise Monika says that as Tretchikoff was painting her, she was thinking about the traumas he had experienced in his life. He was imprisoned several times during the war, and at one point he lost contact with his wife and his daughter.

Host But the story has a happy ending, because his family was reunited in Cape Town, right?

Louise That's right. It was fortunate that they all ended up in the same place.

Host Louise, did Tretchikoff pay Monika for modeling for him?

Louise Yes, he did. He gave her just over six South African pounds. That's the equivalent of around $165 today.

Host That doesn't seem much. Did she at least like the painting?

Louise No, she was shocked by the green face. She says she thought that she looked like a monster. And she didn't think much of the title, either: The Chinese Girl. She was expecting something a little more exotic.

Host And what happened to her afterwards? Did she ever model again?

Louise No, she never posed for another painting. She got married and went to Johannesburg, where she had five children before splitting up with her husband. After that, she had to go back to work to try and make ends meet, but the family never had much money.

Host In contrast to Tretchikoff, who went on to make a fortune. Louise, did Monika manage to attend the auction of the painting?

Louise No, she didn't; she missed it. She was incredibly disappointed about that, but apparently she jumped up and down in excitement when she heard that the painting had fetched nearly $1.3 million.

Host Yes, that price is hardly surprising when you consider that the painting is one of the most popular prints ever made. Louise, thank you for joining us today.

Louise You're welcome.

8.2

Host Hello and welcome to the program. Today, we're looking at extraordinary medical conditions, and our first story concerns a young American girl named Ashlyn Blocker. Janice, tell us about Ashlyn.

Janice Ashlyn Blocker has an extremely rare condition which means that she doesn't feel pain. Now, you might think that this would be a good thing, but in fact, it can result in serious injury – or even death. To give you an example, Ashlyn can't feel extreme temperatures. So, if she drops a spoon in boiling water while she's cooking, she simply puts her hand in the water to retrieve the spoon. She doesn't realize that she has burned herself until she sees that her fingers are red and swollen. This kind of thing happens to her almost daily.

Host I see the problem. So, when did Ashlyn's parents notice that something wasn't quite right?

Janice Well, um, as a baby, Ashlyn hardly ever cried, which is most unusual, and then when she was six months old, she didn't seem to notice when she had a serious cut on her eye. At first, the specialist thought that she had no feeling in the eye, and so he sent her to the hospital for tests. Eighteen months later, the doctors gave Ashlyn's parents their diagnosis: she had "congenital insensitivity to pain."

Host Wow. What did her parents do then?

Janice Well, they didn't know what to do, so they just did their best to keep Ashlyn safe. They got rid of all their furniture with sharp corners and installed the softest carpet they could find. At school, teachers watched her all the time. One person was assigned to make sure that she was OK on the playground, and the nurse always checked her over before she went back to class. But even then, accidents happened, uh, like the time she broke her ankle and ran around on it for two days before her parents noticed.

Host Oh, how awful! Janice, how common is Ashlyn's condition?

Janice When it was first diagnosed, the doctors said that Ashlyn was the only person they had ever encountered who had it. Because the condition was so rare, there was very little on the internet. So, Ashlyn's parents decided to go public to see if they could find anyone else like their daughter. First, they contacted their local newspaper, and then the story was published nationally. Their story appeared in magazines, uh, on the, on the internet, and Ashlyn was interviewed on TV. All the media attention finally put the family in touch with scientists who could help them understand what was happening to Ashlyn.

Host What is it that causes the condition?

Janice It's a genetic disorder. Usually when we touch something hot or sharp, the nerves on the skin send electric signals to the brain, causing us to react. But in Ashlyn's case, there is a mutation in one of her genes. This alteration prevents communication between the nerves and the brain and so the electric signals are never produced.

Host Ashlyn sounds like a remarkable young woman, Janice; thank you for sharing her story with us. And now let's move on to someone else with an extraordinary medical condition...

8.4

Usually when it snows in Atlanta, the temperature hovers around freezing, and nothing much ever happens 'cos the snow falls, but then the temperature goes up and everything melts and that's the end of it. But this time – oh my word! I mean it started snowing at about noon and immediately, really quickly the temperature dropped to -4, which is very unusual. I was in my office, which is up on the 51st floor, and I was getting kind of worried and I looked out on the streets and saw that nothing and no one was moving in any direction. And I live in a suburb, in Marietta, about 25 miles from the office in downtown Atlanta. So, anyway at 5:30, two people, two of my co-workers who live near me told me to hurry up and ride with them, so off we went.

Eight hours later, we had literally gone three miles, just three miles, and all along the side of the freeway people had parked because they were either too tired to go any further, or they had run out of gas. Several times we actually moved out of our lane, only to find that what had stopped the car in front of us from moving was that the driver had fallen asleep at the wheel! I honestly didn't think we'd ever get home. I mean if we'd only gone three miles in eight hours, we might not be home for three days!

Anyway, as the night wore on, I saw more and more people walking along the side of the freeway, and some of them were in high heels and thin jackets, and by this time it was, gosh, about -9. I have no idea where they were going because they were miles from anywhere.

Around 5:30 in the morning, like 12 hours after we'd left, we made it to the top of a hill, and all the way up the hill there were cars slipping and sliding, and huge trucks parked four or five parallel with the drivers sleeping, and people parked who were out of gas. It was just a thin stream of cars that was able to make it to the top of the hill, somehow sort of managing to get around all the cars that were slipping and sliding and crashing into each other. So fortunately, we made it through, but we were going incredibly slowly.

And then, to our absolute amazement, the traffic thinned out and we were able to move a bit quicker. But we still had a problem. We were able to move, but we were on a thick sheet of ice, so every vehicle on the road was a potential weapon to all the others. We had to keep our fingers crossed and drive slowly and hope no one would hit us. This continued for about 12 miles, at which point we had to go up a long hill at our exit. We had learned that hills were what did everybody in, what made them either crash or give up, and at our exit there were wrecks and empty cars and trucks everywhere, but we made it through and turned onto the road that leads to my house. It was just weird, really spooky, driving along that road for four miles at 6:45 in the morning without seeing a car or a person in any direction. I told the people I was with to drop me off on the main road because where I live is very hilly and I knew if they tried to get near the house, they'd never get away, so they let me out. But all I had on my feet was a pair of flat shoes, and I fell over seven times in quick succession until I realized that if I wanted to stop falling, I would have to walk the mile to my house in the deeper snow, on the side of the road. So up and down all those hills in my thin flat shoes I trudged through the snow and when I got near our house, I had to sit and slide down the hill! That was the only way I could get down there. I tell you I didn't know whether to laugh or cry. So, finally I stumbled in the door just as the sun was coming up at 7:30 in the morning, so it had taken me 14 hours! It really was something I'll never forget as long as I live.

9.2

Speaker 1 Well, we're both vegan, so that's a positive thing we have in common. But I think Garfield definitely makes me less active than I used to be. He lives inside the house instead of outside in the yard, and I love having him around. Although he's pretty big, he can still hop up onto the sofa, and likes to lie on my lap eating carrot sticks. He usually ends up falling asleep, and he's so warm and soft, and I hate to disturb him, even when I have things to do.

Speaker 2 I've had Philphil since she was a kitten, and we have one thing in common: we both enjoy harassing my husband. Philphil bites my husband's toes and attacks him on my behalf, constantly bothering him when he's trying to do something. In that sense, she's exactly like me – she shares my sense of humor. We both like to snuggle up at night as well. I can get very cold at night, and Philphil sleeps on the bed to keep me warm.

Speaker 3 People tell me that I'm eccentric, just like my pet, Molly. I suppose if enough people say it, then it might be true. I'm sure I've picked up some of her traits: the way I talk sometimes and bob my head, but I wouldn't say that I twittered. She has several traits that I can see in myself: Molly loves people, and at times she's kind of a show-off, just like me. And she has a great sense of humor.

Speaker 4 I've had Crosby for about eight years now – he's quite a rare breed, a Dandie Dinmont terrier. Oh, and yes, I think we look alike. We've also developed the same personality over the years: I'm becoming a bit more bad-tempered, and so is he, although he doesn't often bark. We both like our own space, and neither of us is as tolerant as we used to be. When it comes to food, I enjoy mine as much as he does, although I'm a bit fussier.

Speaker 5 I keep reptiles, and I've noticed that their personalities change to become more like mine. I've had bearded dragons calmly sitting and watching TV when I do. If you have lots of energy, they pick up on that, and if you're afraid, they are, too. They tend to reflect whoever has brought them up. If they've had a stressed owner, then they can be very stressed, they can behave like absolute lunatics. But generally, because I'm calm, they tend to calm down themselves.

9.4

Speaker 1 Just after I left drama school, I was making dinner for my boyfriend and another guy who we were working with in the theater, and I was going to make spaghetti Bolognese, and I wanted some green peppers. And I didn't realize that there was a difference between green peppers and green chili peppers, and so I made the spaghetti bolognese, and I couldn't quite understand why my, underneath my nails was burning so terribly, but I just kept washing my hands and ignored it. And then we sat down to eat and Jeff, the friend who'd come, took one mouthful of the spaghetti bolognese before either of us did and fell out of his chair onto the floor. And I ended up throwing the whole thing into the trash; it was the most horrendous experience ever.

Speaker 2 Sure...one particular one when I'd just bought a new oven, and I'd invited some friends over and I was going to roast a piece of meat, and I put it in my new oven, and turned it on and left it for an hour to cook. And when I opened the oven door, I realized that I'd put the broiler on, not the oven, so that the top of the meat was completely charred, and underneath it was completely raw, so the meal was completely ruined. So I had to call for takeout.

Speaker 3 Well, it didn't really involve cooking as such, but it was certainly a bad preparing-food experience. My family, we went to Italy, and everybody in my family enjoyed the antipasti, the bruschetta, so I thought when I came home that I would re-invent this, you know it's very simple, basically it's little pieces of bread with tomato sauce on top and garlic. And I'd asked an Italian waiter and my Italian isn't very good, so I thought that I'd interpreted well what he'd said. However, you're supposed to rub the garlic on the bread, the sort of slightly toasted bread, just a little on one side. However, I went crazy and was rubbing for a minute on both sides of the bread, and I put the tomato sauce on and handed it to my family, and they all spat it out, it was inedible. I think we threw it away.

10.2

Host Hello and welcome to the show. There are many stories about immigrants coming to new countries and today we're going to look at some of the best. Our starting point is a novel by the Bangladeshi-born British writer Monica Ali. It's called Brick Lane, and here's Jenny Trench to tell us about it.

Jenny Hello there. Brick Lane tells the story of Nazneen, a Bangladeshi woman, who is sent to England at the age of 18 to enter into an arranged marriage. Her husband is Chanu, a middle-aged civil servant, who is also a Bangladeshi immigrant. Nazneen has been told that Chanu is a successful man, because this is how her father and his peers regard Bangladeshis who have left the country to make a new life for themselves abroad. But Chanu is not a success. He lives in a relatively poor area of London called Tower Hamlets and his apartment is not only full of ugly furniture, but is also in need of repair. Nazneen is confused by her new husband and her new surroundings, and to make things worse, she's forbidden from leaving the house. At first, she accepts her fate and settles into the traditional role of wife and mother, while still an outsider in London.

Host Jenny, apart from Nazneen, tell us about the other characters in the story.

Jenny Well, I've already mentioned Chanu, Nazneen's husband. He is full of endless plans to become successful, but he's incapable of realizing any of them. At first, Nazneen has a strong aversion to him, but as time goes by, they gradually begin to accept one another. Then, there are the two daughters, Shanana and Bibi. Shanana battles constantly with her father, mainly because she prefers British culture, while Bibi longs for stability. Nazneen's sister Hasina appears often in the story in the many letters she sends, describing her troubled life back in Bangladesh. Hasina's fate is quite the opposite to Nazneen's as she eloped to make a love marriage and then ran away when her husband began beating her. Razia, Nazneen's unconventional friend, who shaves her head and wears European clothes, often visits Nazneen for a chat. And of course, there is Karim, the good-looking young man who is Nazneen's lover for a time.

Host Of course. What did you like most about the story, Jenny?

Jenny The thing I liked most was the way we see Nazneen begin to take control of her life. Nazneen was taught from birth to accept her fate, and this is what she does on her arrival in England. As time passes, however, she begins to question the role of fate. One day, she leaves the house to explore the neighborhood and comes across Brick Lane itself, a street which is the very heart of London's Bangladeshi community. As her daughters grow, she learns English from them, which allows her to function in the world outside her home. Her life opens up more when she starts taking in sewing to earn some extra money and she meets Karim. But Brick Lane is not a love story. It's about Nazneen's development as a person. In the closing pages, we find a much more confident Nazneen. We are aware that her troubles are not over, but we know that she's much better-equipped to cope with them than she was when she first arrived in London.

Host Thank you, Jenny Trench. So that was Monica Ali's novel, Brick Lane. And now onto our next book...

10.4

Host A question that many parents ask themselves is when they should introduce their children to playing a sport. If Dr. Allston Stubbs, an orthopedist at Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center, in Winston-Salem, North Carolina is to be believed, the answer is: the longer you can wait to enroll your child in a sports program, the better. Dr. Stubbs says he's seen a significant increase in overuse injuries from sports among adolescents and preteens.

Dr. Stubbs Kids are coming in with major shoulder, knee, and hip problems, including pulled or torn ACLs (strong bands of tissue that connect bones). And it's in large part due to the fact that kids are starting sports at a very young age when their bones are still developing.

Host The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention report that each year, approximately 3.5 million kids aged 14 and younger undergo some kind of medical treatment for sports overuse injuries. While some parents and coaches believe that enrolling young kids in sports programs has benefits, many experts disagree, preferring that kids focus on general movement and play, rather than specific sports skills. Coach Andy Mauer agrees.

Coach I had a group of young rowers uh that I coached recently and I found myself spending a lot of time on the land before we went out on the water uh just doing things like developing a team dance or a cheer, and then we would talk about rowing and I would go over a skill on the land and they were all in a good mood, and then we would go out on the water and practice that skill, and they made a lot of improvements without it being onerous.

Host Here are a few tips if you're thinking about signing your child up for a sport.

Stay away from competition: it can be stressful for children and drive them away from sports. The focus should be on fun at this point in their young lives.

Be well-rounded: sign your children up for different kinds of sports throughout the year like swimming in the fall, volleyball in the winter, and rowing in the spring, to avoid injuries and boredom.

Take time off: Kids don't always need to be involved in sports. It's OK to let your kids have some down time.

Finally, don't feel pressure: Your child won't miss out if they aren't signed up for spring swimming or fall soccer. Brooke de Lenche, author of "Home Team Advantage: The Critical Role of Mothers in Youth Sports" concurs.

Brooke Studies have shown that kids who take sports and exercise classes as preschoolers are no more likely to be involved in high school sports than kids who don't.

Host Here's the deal: If you and your child enjoy arriving at the soccer field at 8:30 in the morning, go for it! If not, there's no need to worry about it!

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

198 Madison Avenue
New York, NY 10016 USA

Great Clarendon Street, Oxford, OX2 6DP, United Kingdom

Oxford University Press is a department of the University of Oxford.
It furthers the University's objective of excellence in research, scholarship, and education by publishing worldwide. Oxford is a registered trade mark of Oxford University Press in the UK and in certain other countries

© Oxford University Press 2021

The moral rights of the author have been asserted

First published in 2021

2025 2024 2023 2022 2021

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

No unauthorized photocopying

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, without the prior permission in writing of Oxford University Press, or as expressly permitted by law, by licence or under terms agreed with the appropriate reprographics rights organization. Enquiries concerning reproduction outside the scope of the above should be sent to the ELT Rights Department, Oxford University Press, at the address above

You must not circulate this work in any other form and you must impose this same condition on any acquirer

Links to third party websites are provided by Oxford in good faith and for information only. Oxford disclaims any responsibility for the materials contained in any third party website referenced in this work

ISBN: 978 0 19 490714 9

Printed in China

This book is printed on paper from certified and well-managed sources

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Back cover photograph: Oxford University Press building/David Fisher

The authors would like to thank all the teachers and students around the world whose feedback has helped us to shape American English File.

The authors would also like to thank: all those at Oxford University Press (both in Oxford and around the world) and the design team who have contributed their skills and ideas to producing this course.

Finally very special thanks from Clive to Maria Angeles, Lucia, and Eric, and from Christina to Cristina, for all their support and encouragement. Christina would also like to thank her children Joaquín, Marco, and Kryslia for their constant inspiration.

The authors and publisher are grateful to those who have given permission to reproduce the following extracts and adaptations of copyright material: p. 6 Extract from "Ang Lee: My family values" by Elaine Lipworth, www.theguardian.com, 26 April 2013. Copyright Guardian News and Media Ltd 2013. Reproduced by permission. p. 9 Adapted extract from "Best job in the world" took its toll on tired Briton" by Bonnie Malkin, The Telegraph, 2 January 2010. © Telegraph Media Group Limited 2010. Reproduced by permission. p. 13 Adapted extract from "Does Learning A New Language Give You A New Personality?" by Cody Delistraty, <http://thoughtcatalog.com>, 18 November 2013. © 2015 The Thought & Expression Co. All rights reserved. Reproduced by permission. p. 16 Extract from "Scientists pinpoint age when childhood memories fade" by Richard Gray, www.telegraph.co.uk, 10 January 2014. © Telegraph Media Group Limited 2014. Reproduced by permission. p. 19 Adapted extract from "Revenge Is Sweet" by Lindsay Clydesdale, Daily Record, 25 October 2006. Reproduced by permission of Mirrorpix. p. 29 Adapted extract from "How not to read" by Lionel Shriver, www.theguardian.com, 9 February 2014. Copyright Guardian News and Media Ltd 2014. Reproduced by permission. p. 32 Adapted extract from "Is being late fashionable or rude?" by Robert Rowland Smith, The Sunday Times, 4 September 2011. Reproduced by permission of News UK & Ireland Limited. p. 35 Extract from "Does money make you happy?" by Stephen Evans, www.bbc.co.uk, 6 April 2010. © BBC News Website. Reproduced by permission. p. 39 Adapted extract from "How long does it really take to change a habit?" by Oliver Burkeman, The Guardian, 10 October 2009. Copyright Guardian News and Media Ltd 2009. Reproduced by permission. p. 48 Adapted extract from "Matisse's cut-outs, review: 'a guaranteed winner'" by Richard Dormant, The Telegraph, 15 April 2014. © Telegraph Media Group Limited 2014. Reproduced by permission. p. 52 Adapted extract from "Homeopathy is no better than a placebo, scientists claim" by Kashmira Gander, www.independent.co.uk, 9 April 2014. Reproduced by permission of The Independent. p. 58 Adapted extract from "You're never too old to have a pet, especially if you feel lonely or ill" by Liz Gill, The Times, 2 September 2002. Reproduced by permission of News UK & Ireland Limited. p. 61 Adapted extract from The Evolution of Convenience Food in America by Livia Gershon, December 28, 2016. JSTOR Daily. © 2016 ITHAKA. Reproduced by permission. p. 62 Adapted extract from "The 30-day worm and cricket diet" by Jason Caffrey, www.bbc.co.uk, 28 February 2015. © BBC News Website. Reproduced by permission. p. 65 "Double Face", from The Joy Luck Club by Amy Tan, copyright © 1989 by Amy Tan. Used by permission of Abner Stein and G. Putnam's Sons, an imprint of Penguin Publishing Group, a division of Penguin Random House LLC. p. 68 Adapted extract from "Michael Mosley: 'Three minutes of exercise a week will keep you fit'" by Jenni Murray, Radio Times, 28 February 2012. Reproduced by permission of Barbara Levy Literacy Agency.

Sources: www.pipedown.info, p. 67 Toddler Sports by Patty Onderko, www.parenting.com

Illustrations by: Atsushi Hara c/o Dutch Uncle Agency pp. 4, 5, 12, 33, 43, Anna Hymas c/o New Division Ltd p. 14, Joanna Kerr p. 59, Olivier Latyk c/o Good Illustration Agency pp. 19, 68, Roger Penwill pp. 8, 11, 29, 37, 45, Tim Marrs p. 26

The publisher would like to thank the following for their permission to reproduce photographs: Cover: Hobbit/Shutterstock. Alamy Images pp. 13 (Chinese male/Zhang Bo), 20 (spear/Valentina Chukhlybova), 23 (Terry Deary/Mark Waugh), 28 (The Hunger Games/Cristina Fum), 28 (Lord of the Rings books/CBW), 35 (bank card/Paul Fleet), 35 (powerball ticket/Dzianis Hill), 40 (access denied/Alex Stojanov), 48 (gallery/HelloWorld Images), 48 (Henri Matisse/INTERFOTO), 50 (xray/Elsanth), 61 (peas/NewsCast Online Limited), 62 (insects on plate/Maximilian Weinzierl), 63 (La Conner, Washington/Maria Janicki), © Bridgeman Art Library Ltd/The Tretchikoff Project (Pty) Ltd p. 47, The Chinese Girl c. 1950s (oil on canvas), © Tretchikoff, Vladimir (1913-2006)/Private Collection; Getty Images pp. 5 (girl playing/Jodie Griggs), 9 (Ben Southall/Torsten Blackwood/AFP), 15 (students/Steve Debenport), 21 (Apollo 13/Universal Pictures / Handout), 21 (The Last Emperor/Stanley Bielecki Movie Collection / Contributor), 25 (Evelyn Glennie/Lorne Thomson / Contributor), 29 (Jenny Lewis/Contour), 31 (siblings/hero images), 32 (waiting/Stephen Simpson), 34 (coins/GI/Jamie Grill), 38 (Women with bike/pixdeluxe), 39 (apples/Fred Dimmick), 58 (puppy/Life On White), OUP p. 13, Shutterstock pp. 5 (African children cycling/Sergey Novikov), 6 (Ang Lee/Shutterstock), 10 (take your daughter to work day/Stacey Newman), 16 (birthday party/Creativa Images), 20 (wooden arrow/Andrey Burmakina), 20 (bow and arrows/Christian Weber), 20 (cannon/artkamalov), 20 (Greek helmet/Vartanov Anatoly), 20 (sword/oksana2010), 20 (ancient bronze shield/Tatiana Popova), 23 (Ancient Egyptian artwork/ksana-gribakina), 25 (Evelyn Glennie/Fabio De Paola), 27 (african woman reading book/Mangostar), 28 (Lord of the Rings/New Line/Kobal), 28 (The Hunger Games/Mockingjay Part 1), 35 (lottery ticket/Julie Deshaies), 35 (money/Yuri Kulik), 36 (woman and dog/Zurijeta), 42 (phone/patpichaya), 50 (lemon & honey tea/Teresa Kasprzycka), 52 (pharmacy bottles/Szasz-Fabian Ilka Erika), 55 (hiker/Warren Goldswain), 56 (snail/Eric Isselee), 61 (vegetables/Bloomberg / Contributor), 67 (boy with arm in a sling sitting with a basketball/Suzanne Tucker); The Random House Group Limited: p. 65 Book Cover, Artwork: Imagemore Co., Ltd./Corbis, From The Joy Luck Club by Amy Tan, Published by Vintage, Reprinted by permission of The Random House Group Limited.

Pronunciation chart artwork: by Ellis Nadler

Illustrations by: Anna & Elena Balbusso c/o Shannon Associates (original artwork from The Handmaid's Tale/The Polio Society) p. 49, Atsushi Hara c/o Dutch Uncle Agency pp. 4, 5, 12, 33, 43, Anna Hymas c/o New Division Ltd p. 14, Joanna Kerr p. 59, Olivier Latyk c/o Good Illustration Agency pp. 19, 68, Roger Penwill pp. 8, 11, 29, 37, 45, Tim Marrs p. 26

Designed by: Bryony Clark

Although every effort has been made to trace and contact copyright holders before publication, this has not been possible in some cases. We apologise for any apparent infringement of copyright and, if notified, the publisher will be pleased to rectify any errors and omissions at the earliest possible opportunity.

Oxford University Press is the world's authority on the English language.

As part of the University of Oxford, we are committed to furthering English language learning worldwide.

We continuously bring together our experience, expertise and research to create resources such as this one, helping millions of learners of English to achieve their potential.

American English File gets you talking

Third Edition

90% of teachers who took part in an Oxford Impact study found that American English File improves students' speaking skills.

Use your Workbook to:

- practice Grammar, Vocabulary, and Pronunciation from each lesson.
- practice Reading and Listening for every lesson.
- practice all the language from the Colloquial English lessons.

americanenglishfileonline.com

- downloadable pronunciation audio
- skills practice
- more language practice

FOR STUDENTS

- Student Book with Online Practice
- Multi-Packs with Online Practice
- Workbook
- English File Say It app for pronunciation practice

FOR TEACHERS

- Teacher's Guide with Teacher Resource Center
- Classroom Presentation Tool
- Class DVD
- Class Audio CDs

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

www.oup.com/elt

English Sounds Pronunciation Chart based on an original idea and design by Paul Seligson and Carmen Dolz.

Download Now

ISBN 978-0-19-490714-9

9 780194 907149