Martin What did you do in the summer holidays?

Ryan My family always goes to the beach on holiday. This summer, we went snorkelling.

Beth Wow! That sounds amazing! I'm going to the beach at the weekend.

Ryan You'll have a great time at the beach. One day, I was swimming when I saw a turtle! It was beautiful!

The present simple and continuous; the past simple and continuous

The present simple and present continuous

We use the present simple to talk about habits and things that are always true. We use the present continuous to talk about what we are doing now.

*Bobby always plays in the school football team.
Julia's listening to her new MP3 player.*

The past simple and past continuous

We use the past simple to talk about completed actions in the past. We use the past continuous to talk about an action that went on for some time. We often use the past continuous to describe things that were happening when something else happened.

Past continuous	Past simple
Ryan was swimming	when he saw a turtle.

Past forms

Regular verbs

The past simple form of regular verbs is the same as for the past participle. We add -d or -ed to the base form. When a verb ends in consonant + -y, we change -y to -i then add -ed. When a verb contains one short vowel and ends in a consonant, we double the consonant.

Irregular verbs

The past simple form of irregular verbs is often different from the past participle. We have to remember irregular forms. Look at the list of irregular verbs on page 96.

6 Complete the table of regular and irregular verbs.

Base form	Past simple	Past participle
make	1 made	made
see	saw	2 _____

Suzy Lucky you!

Tommy Good work, Ryan! They're going to put your painting in the art gallery.

Beth Your mum and dad will be so proud.

Be going to and will

Be going to

We use be going to + base form to talk about plans and decisions we made earlier.

We're going to see a play this evening.

We also use be going to + base form to make a prediction based on a situation that is happening now.

Look! Leo's going to win the race!

Will

We use will or won't plus base form to talk about instant decisions or offers

It's raining. I'll take an umbrella.

We also use will or won't + base form to make predictions.

I'll be thirteen next year.

I won't be famous when I grow up.

1 Complete the sentences. Use 'll or won't.

- 1 It 'll be a lovely day tomorrow.

Visit to an art gallery

My class is visiting an art gallery tomorrow to meet a famous artist. We're leaving school at 10 o'clock, and the artist is opening the exhibition at 11 o'clock. Then next Monday, he's coming to the school to look at the paintings we've done. He's giving an art class to some of the students. I'm giving a TV interview about the class to a journalist, and a photographer's taking photos of our paintings. So we'll all be famous!

Present continuous with future meaning

 We usually use the present continuous to talk about something that is happening right now.

We also often use the present continuous to talk about definite future arrangements.

We're having a singing lesson at 4 o'clock.

I'm not doing anything tomorrow night.

Are you leaving tomorrow morning?

8 Complete the sentences. Use the present continuous and the verbs in brackets.

6 At 7 o'clock tomorrow, I _____

Teacher If you finish your work in class, I won't give you any homework.

Ryan We'll play football after school if we don't have any homework!

First conditional

 We use the first conditional to talk about something that will happen if something else happens first.

If it rains, we'll take the bus.

We make the first conditional with an if-clause and a will/won't clause. Form the if-clause with If + present simple. Form the will/won't clause with will/won't + base form.

If you win the competition, we'll celebrate.

We can put the if-clause first or the will/won't clause first. When the if-clause comes first, we add a comma (,). When the will/won't clause comes first, we don't add a comma.

If the weather is good, we'll have a picnic.

We'll have a picnic if the weather is good.

We make first conditional questions and short answers with will/won't + subject + base form + if-clause. We can also use if-clause + will/won't + subject + base form. The meaning is the same.

Will you phone me if you pass the exam?

Yes, I will. / No, I won't.

If you pass the exam, will you phone me?

Yes, I will. / No, I won't.

1 Complete the sentences. Write if or **-.

1 If I get good marks in my exams, - I'll be happy.

2 - I'll drink some orange juice - I'm thirsty.

3 - Chris will come out to play - he finishes his homework.

4 - we move to a hot country, - we'll buy a house with a swimming pool.

5 - Cara and Penny won't win the race - they don't run fast.

6 - I'll go to the concert - you come with me.

7 - it rains tomorrow, - we won't have a picnic.

8 - you eat unhealthy foods, - you won't be very healthy.

2 Complete the first conditional sentences.

- 1 If Ryan wins (win) the competition, he 'll be (be) very happy.
- 2 We _____ (bring) some sun cream if you _____ (bring) some food.
- 3 If Penny _____ (watch) the film, she _____ (be) scared.
- 4 Jess _____ (not get) fit if she _____ (not do) any exercise.
- 5 We _____ (win) if we _____ (score) the winning goal today.
- 6 If you _____ (not have) your trainers, you _____ (not play) on the team today.

3 Write , or - .

- 1 If you take some photos will you show them to me?
- 2 The project work won't take a long time if we work quickly.
- 3 We'll have to wear sun cream if we decide to go to the beach.
- 4 If the waves are big we won't be allowed to swim in the sea.
- 5 I'll get a new mobile phone if the shop is open.
- 6 If it rains he won't walk home.

4 Write first conditional questions and short answers. Keep the words in the same order.

- 1 I / get good results / I / study every day ✓

Will I get good results if I study every day? Yes, you will.

- 2 she / find a nice present / I / give her the money ✓

- 3 we / build a tree house / Dad / help us ✓

- 4 he / play volleyball / he / get home early ✗

- 5 we / see the audience / the stage lights / be on ✗

- 6 everyone / help the planet / they / recycle plastic bags ✓

- 7 you / tell anyone / I / tell you a secret ✗

- 8 it / be cheaper / we / bring our own food ✓

Ready for adventure? Which sport would you do?

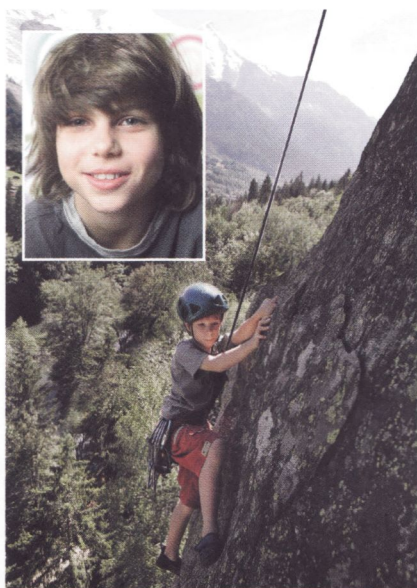

▼ Olly's blog

If I had the chance to do any sport, I'd do paragliding. I'd love to fly! If I had wings, I'd fly really fast, like a bird. If I went paragliding, I'd look down at the earth and take lots of photographs. It would be really exciting!

▼ Tony's blog

If I could do any sport, I'd go rock climbing. It would be amazing if I learnt to climb from the bottom to the top of a cliff.

▼ Carrie's blog

If I had lots of money, I'd buy a big boat and learn to sail. If I did that, then I'd invite all my friends and family to sail round the world. It would be great fun!

Second conditional

We use the second conditional to talk about something that we think might not happen.

If I passed the exam, I'd be very happy. (I don't think I'll pass the exam.)

If she studied harder, she wouldn't fail her exams. (I don't think she'll study harder.)

We make the second conditional with an if-clause and a would/wouldn't-clause. We form the if-clause with if + past simple. We form the would/wouldn't-clause with would/wouldn't + base form.

If you played baseball more often, you'd be healthier.

As with the first conditional, we can put the if-clause first or the would/wouldn't-clause first. When the if-clause comes first, we add a comma. When the would/wouldn't-clause comes first, we don't add a comma.

If she came with us, she'd have a great time. She'd have a great time if she came with us.

We make second conditional questions with would/wouldn't + subject + base form + if-clause or with if-clause + would/wouldn't + subject + base form.

Would I learn English faster if I lived in England for a month? Yes, you would. / No, you wouldn't.

If I lived in England for a month, would I learn English faster? Yes, you would. / No, you wouldn't.

5 Circle the correct answer.

- 1 If I was good at maths, I get / 'd get a good job.
- 2 I'd be / 'm very cold if I lived in Norway.
- 3 Would you be very happy if you won / win the race?
- 4 If you work / you worked in a bank you'd have to be good at maths.
- 5 You'd burn if you don't / didn't use suncream.
- 6 If you wrote / 'd write to her, she'd reply.
- 7 Would there be a lot of snow if I go / went to Sweden in December?
- 8 He would upload the files if he knew / 'd known where they were.
- 9 Mrs Cassidy would have guitar lessons if she had / would have more time.
- 10 I would learn German if I live / lived in Germany.

Mayor Well done, Ryan!

Ryan Thank you.

Mayor Have you won any prizes for your paintings before?

Ryan No, but I've painted pictures since I was four years old.

The present perfect with since, for, already, just, yet and before

Since and for

We use since + a point in time, such as a day, date or time. We use for + a period of time. Phrases with for and since go at the end of a sentence.

I've been at this school for two years.

I've been at this school since 2008.

Already, just, yet and before

We can use the present perfect with already, just, yet and before, to give more information about when something happened.

We use already to talk about something that has happened before we expected it to.

They've already finished their lunch.

We use just to talk about something that has happened very recently.

We use yet in questions and negatives to ask if something that we're waiting for has happened.

Have you tried any of the food yet?

We use before to talk about any time in the past up to now.

I've never been to an art gallery before.

We put already and just before the main verb in a sentence. We put yet and before at the end of a sentence.

Lily Did you win a prize?

Ted No, we didn't win a prize this year, but I had a lot of fun! Maybe we'll win next year!

The past simple and present perfect

We use the past simple to talk about something that started and ended in the past.

I bought some new shoes at the market.

We usually use a time expression with the past simple. For example, yesterday, last and ago with the past simple.

They came back from Cairo yesterday evening.

We use the present perfect to talk about something that happened in the past but which is still important now.

I've borrowed your pen.

When we use the present perfect, we often don't say when the action happened.

She's passed her test.

4 Read the sentences. Is the second statement true or false? Write T or F.

1	Carla's lost her bracelet.	Carla doesn't have her bracelet now.	T

Building a car

Today my class went on a school trip to see how cars are made in a factory.

My first photo shows a car that has been built in the factory. It's been put together by robots and computers and it's been moved along the production line by machines. It hasn't been painted yet but that will be done by machines as well. Today, one thousand cars have been made at this car factory. That's a lot! The good thing is that these cars are more environmentally friendly than old cars.

My second photo shows a finished car that's been tested and has already been sold. It's been lifted onto a lorry so that it can be delivered to its new owner.

The past perfect: affirmative

We use the past perfect to talk about something that happened at an earlier time in the past.
I'd spoken to him before.

We form the past perfect with subject + had + past participle. We often use the short form 'd.
We'd eaten breakfast.

We often use the past perfect with the past simple. Use the past simple to talk about a completed action in the past and the past perfect to talk about something that happened before that.

Past simple

I went to the cinema

Past perfect

because I'd heard the film was very good.

Stonehenge

Stonehenge is a circle of large and very heavy stones in the south of England. It is a very mysterious place. Historians don't know how old Stonehenge is. Some say it was built 5000 years ago.

Archaeologists discovered that the stones used to make Stonehenge hadn't come from the local area. They found that people had transported the stones all the way from the Preseli hills, 250 kilometres away. How did people move these huge stones before they had invented the wheel?

The past perfect: negative and questions

We form the past perfect negative with subject + hadn't + past participle. Remember hadn't = had not.

I hadn't spoken to him before.

We form past perfect questions with had + subject + past participle. We form short answers with had or hadn't.

8 Look at the table. Write the questions and short answers with the past perfect.

	use a compass	go rock climbing	look for treasure	see a shipwreck	meet an explorer
Ryan	X	X	✓	X	✓
Tommy	✓	✓	X	X	X
Martin	X	✓	X	X	✓
Maddy	✓	X	✓	X	X
Beth	X	X	✓	X	✓

Before last summer ...

1 Ryan / use a compass

Had Ryan used a compass? No, he hadn't.

2 Ryan / look for treasure

3 Tommy / look for treasure

4 Martin and Beth / meet an explorer

5 Martin / use a compass

6 Tommy and Martin / go rock climbing

7 Maddy and Beth / look for treasure

8 any of the children / see a shipwreck

9 Look at exercise 8. Write true sentences for yourself. Use the past perfect.

Before last summer ...

1 use a compass _____

2 go rock climbing _____

3 look for treasure _____

4 see a shipwreck _____

5 meet an explorer _____

Martin We're really lucky! If we hadn't decided to go camping, we wouldn't have seen this beautiful horse!

Beth This is such a pretty place. If I'd brought my camera, I would have taken lots of photos.

Maddy It's OK, Beth, I'll take some photos for you.

Third conditional

We use the third conditional to talk about an imagined situation in the past. We imagine that a situation happened in a different way.

If it had rained, we'd have taken the bus. (It didn't rain, so we didn't take the bus.)

We make the third conditional with an if-clause and a would/wouldn't have-clause.

if-clause	would/wouldn't have-clause
if + past perfect	would/wouldn't have + past participle
If you'd arrived earlier,	you'd have met Joe.

We can change the order of the two clauses. When the if-clause comes first, we use a comma. When the would/wouldn't have-clause comes first, we don't use a comma.

If it hadn't been a nice day, we wouldn't have gone to the park.

You'd have met Joe if you'd arrived earlier.

Be careful with the short form 'd. In the example above, you'd arrived means 'you had arrived', and you'd have met means 'you would have met'.

1 Match 1–8 with a–h.

A very active holiday!

It's important to have fun when you go to an activity centre, but you also have to follow the rules to make sure you are safe. If you do these things, you'll have a great time!

- You must listen to your instructor at all times.
- You mustn't pick any plants or flowers. You ought to help protect the environment.
- You mustn't light any fires. You don't have to do any cooking.
- You shouldn't explore by yourself.

Modal verbs

Have to and don't have to

We use have to + base form to talk about something that it is necessary to do. We can also use it in a similar way to must in rules.

You have to follow the rules. (You must follow the rules.)

However, we can't use don't have to in the same way as mustn't. We use don't have to + base form to say that it is not necessary to do something.

You don't have to cook. (You can cook if you want to but it is not necessary.)

You mustn't pick any flowers. (It is not allowed.)

Should, shouldn't, ought to and ought not to

We use should/shouldn't/ought to/ought not to + base form to give advice.

You should stay with your friends.

You ought to stay with your friends. (You should stay with your friends.)

The short form of ought not to is oughtn't to.

Must and mustn't

We use must/mustn't + base form when talking about rules.

Your must listen to your instructor. (It is a rule.)

You mustn't explore on your own. (It is a rule.)

7 Look at the sign. Write sentences with must, mustn't or don't have to.

Flying solo

Have you ever travelled abroad by yourself? Katie Rogers is 12 years old and her grandparents live in New York. Katie flew from London to New York by herself for the first time this year.

'I was a bit nervous about flying by myself. My mum and dad took me to the airport in London and helped me to check in my suitcase.

The flight lasted 9 hours. I sat next to a girl on the plane who was 11 years old and who was also flying to New York by herself, so we had fun. It was a bit scary when the plane landed, but a nice lady helped us off the plane and we found our suitcases ourselves. I had a great time with my grandparents in New York. Flying by yourself isn't scary! It's exciting!

Reflexive pronouns

Personal pronoun	Reflexive pronoun
I	myself
you	yourself
he	himself
she	herself
it	itself
we	ourselves
you	yourselves
they	themselves

We use a reflexive pronoun to talk about the subject of a sentence when we want to emphasize who did the action. The reflexive pronoun usually goes after the object.

I baked the cake myself. (I baked it. No one else did.)

We can use by before the reflexive pronoun to say that we did something without help.

I walked to school by myself. (I walked to school alone. No one was with me.)

We also use a reflexive pronoun after a verb when the subject and the object are the same. We don't use by.

Did Sally hurt herself when she fell?

7 Circle the correct answers.

- I travelled to London by myself / yourself.
- The TV switched itself / himself off.

Question tags

 Question tags are short questions that we use at the end of a statement. We use question tags to say 'Is that right?' or 'Do you agree?'

*It's cold, isn't it?

We form sentences with question tags like this:

affirmative statement + negative tag negative statement + affirmative tag

*You can swim, can't you?

*You can't swim, can you?

We always use a pronoun in the question tag, not a name or a noun. With the verbs be, can, and will we repeat the verb.

*She's very tall, isn't she? You can't swim, can you? Mum will go shopping today, won't she?

With most other verbs, we use do, don't, did, didn't in the question tag.

*You live near here, don't you?

3 Read the questions. Do they ask 'Is that right?' (R) or 'Do you agree' (A)? Write R or A.

- 1 You're French, aren't you? R
- 2 It's warm today, isn't it? _____
- 3 This food isn't very spicy, is it? _____
- 4 Your aunt had a baby last year, didn't she? _____
- 5 Oscar can't swim, can he? _____
- 6 This football match isn't very interesting, is it? _____
- 7 The buses don't stop here, do they? _____
- 8 The film was made in Hungary, wasn't it? _____

4 Circle the correct answers.

- 1 It's very hot today, isn't it / is it?
- 2 You did your homework, didn't you / did you?

Grammar Friends

For 6 – 12 years

The step by step grammar presentations in Grammar Friends introduce form, use and meaning in a way that even young beginner learners can understand and remember. The series is an ideal supplement to any elementary course book series.

- Builds accuracy and confidence: graded written exercises provide practice and reinforcement.
- Puts the focus on grammar: familiar contexts and situations, using basic vocabulary, enable pupils to concentrate on learning grammar.
- Revises and consolidates: regular revision units provide extra practice.
- Interactive practice: the student CD-ROM features additional exercises and tests for even more practice at home or independently at school.
- Photocopiable tests: included in the Teacher's Book, plus answer key.
